Dorm Girls Give Christmas Party

Life in our dormitory is usually very quiet, reserved, and peaceful. This year, however, the dormitory was filled with the joyous sounds of Christmas carols. The girls, with the guidance of Mrs. Smith, our dorm supervisor, organized a Christmas party in the dormitory. The atmosphere was filled with the spirit of the season, and everyone had a wonderful time.

1959 Was Warmer Year Than 1958

Gibson Says

The year 1959, in Wise county, was considerably warmer than the year 1958. According to Mr. Gibson, who observed the weather for the U. S. Weather Bureau at Chickl Valley College. Gibson said that the high and low temperatures not only ran about two degrees higher, but the average temperature showed the same tendency, also.

The degree, which are considered as a measure of heating demand, were some 15 percent higher in 1959 than in 1958. On June 30, July 1, August 23, and Aug. 24, the temperature was 8 degrees higher. The high in 1959 was 66, and the low temperature was 60 degrees.

The degree in 1959 was five degrees below zero, but in 1958 it was 25 degrees below zero.

More rain fell in April than in any other month in 1959, Gibson said, and the least in February. During 1958, more rain fell in June than in February, and low in November.

Piling the position as CVC's first "full-bred" business manager is Mr. J. B. Clayton. Formerly of Condon, Mr. Clayton, a U. S. Army and the Merchant Marine, attended the University of Virginia where he majored in business.

THAT TIME AGAIN

Can't be spared the worry that sixty knows to be used as the line of willy old things, the life, and the wisdom. Time does resolve things, be it then be buried. The examination may or may not bring a "moment of truth," but in spite of all the flight that is supposed to be an examination balance on a line of honor. However, if honor is not nothing of importance is lost: failure may be felt on the road toward greater victory, if the line is not over.

The only studying for an examination is what is good for that which merely seems in order, in order to pass the examination. Prove to yourself that you are ready again. An examination of what you know and what you think it is to be an invitation failure, but the worst that can be done is to pass the examination. Another way to look it is failure can give you time really to do the work.

The man who walks the straight path...
The Devil You Say
A book review by Aminadab

"The spirit that I have seen may be a devil; and the devil may present himself in a good shape; yes, and perhaps out of my weakness and my mortification, as he is very potent with such spirits as I am to damme with.

With these words Hamlet questions the appearance of the father's ghost. The problem at this point is to test its statement in order to avoid a trap. The figure of the ghost is a true ghost of a devil in disguise; i.e., someone and in no preconceived way existence of the in the ten who would like to see himself as a true ghosts or deities, and the followers of Satan, the devil. Their battle against man, the apoplexy of victory, man, his action or distraction. To many of us, Hamlet's willingness to consider the possibility of having seen a ghost or devil is shocking. If we ponder the question for long enough we may find ourselves wondering if we have been taken in by the devil's tricks.

The reader may be safely left to reach his own decision. There are, in conclusion, only two matters of further importance. Mr. Lewis implies that there is wide popular acceptance of the idea that the devil is a liar. To make such a statement without proof seems both tasteless and unnecessary. Further, although it may dull suspense, the reviewer is bound to reveal that the young man is finally won over to the Enemy. This defeat, we feel, is due to Wormwood's relative ineptitude, and not to any flaw in the philosophy or social reform program of "Our Father Below." It is, altogether, a formidable opponent. We should aim not only to be some of these human creatures!
