The majority of the student body would serve two purposes.

They personally enjoyed listening will concern the proposed new stereo set in the activity room. This way we are able to silence so the faculty can do its part.

Dr. Vaughan, Chancellor for Clinch Valley College will speak at 8 p.m.

Also discussed at this meeting were the following opinions:

- Sandy Watts: I think that it is a good idea.
- Susie Deel: I like it better than Wanda Music. It beats listening to music.
- Dean Henson: Every year we have more deserving scholarship applicants than we can possibly support.
- Henry M. Caudill, author of "Night Comes to the Cucumbertown" has also informed us of the Co-Ed Society this semester. We hope that these problems and many more will be solved.

Dean Henson and several of the students accompanying him on the trip were very pleased that an increasing number of groups have chosen to travel abroad at this time of the year. He has also visited the University of Virginia in Southwest Virginia and the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg.

Dr. Caudill has also taught two classes at the College this year. He is also teaching a night course in oil Monday. February 10, 1964, the

My Amendment To The Honor System Constitution

I propose a number of amendments to the Honor System Constitution of the Eastern Virginia College, which I have recently submitted to the Student Senate. I have been a member of the Student Senate for two years and have served as President of the Honor System Committee during that time.

I believe that the Honor System is one of the most important aspects of our college and that it is necessary to strengthen it in order to maintain the integrity and reputation of Eastern Virginia College.

I propose the following amendments:

1. The amendment will increase the number of students on the Honor System Committee from 15 to 20. This will provide for a more representative cross-section of the student body.

2. The amendment will also increase the number of faculty members on the Committee from 5 to 7. This will ensure that the Committee has the support of the faculty as well.

3. The amendment will change the procedure for electing members of the Honor System Committee. Currently, members are elected by the Student Senate. I propose that members be elected by a vote of the student body, with each member of the Senate having one vote.

4. The amendment will also change the procedure for revoking membership from the Honor System Committee. Currently, a member can be revoked if they have violated the Honor System Constitution. I propose that a member can be revoked if they have been found to have violated the Honor System Constitution or if they have engaged in behavior that is detrimental to the Honor System.

5. The amendment will add a new section to the Constitution that prohibits the use of weapons or large objects on the campus. This will help to prevent violence and other harmful activities on campus.

I believe that these amendments will strengthen the Honor System and make it more effective in maintaining the integrity and reputation of Eastern Virginia College.

First Impression Of Clinch Valley

The factor that impressed me most about Clinch Valley College was the people that the school was composed of.

During my first night at Clinch Valley College, I was captured by the genuine friendliness of the students and faculty. I was struck by their sense of community and their commitment to helping each other.

I was also impressed by the way that the students were able to balance their academic responsibilities with their social lives. I saw that they were able to make the most of their time on campus and to make the most of their education.

All in all, my first impression of Clinch Valley College was that it was a place where people cared about each other and cared about their education. I was impressed by the sense of community that I saw and I believe that this is what makes Clinch Valley College special.

Profile Of Basketball Players

Larry, Larry's our man, that's why. Larry has been a star player for the past three years. He always comes through when we need him.

Jayne, Jayne's our man, that's why. Jayne has been a star player for the past three years. He always comes through when we need him.

Bob, Bob's our man, that's why. Bob has been a star player for the past three years. He always comes through when we need him.

Hats Off To Our Team

No, we're not basketball season. We're the big 60 years old team, and we're not going to let anyone forget it. We're going to play hard, and we're going to win.

We have, and continue to excite fans across the state, every year we come to play hard and we're going to do the same again this year. We're going to give our all to every game, and we're going to win.

Why Not A Full Roster?

Last spring we got together for a meeting at Eastern Virginia College. All the students had their say, and we decided to try charging for admission to our games. We thought it was a good idea, and we're going to try it again this year.

Barry Willard—Entertainer

Clinch Valley is fortunate to have in its midst, a very line entertainer. Barry Willard, a freshman at C.V.C., has already performed for his schoolmates several times at such events as the homecoming, and the Valentine's Dance. Thereafter, he continued to entertain. Barry has always been quite popular among his class-mates; in fact, he is known as the "Entertainer." Upon completion of his two years at Clinch Valley, he plans to attend the University of Virginia for his B.A. Then, he wants to attend law school at the University.

In addition to all this, our fellow student finds time to enjoy classical music and to play chess. Then again, Barry adds: "There's nothing I enjoy more than being with friends.

Merrie England Comes To Life In Art Discussion

"Merrie England", an intriguing original oil painting by a local painter, was the subject of the recent Art Discussion. In a lively discussion, there was a great deal of appreciation of the color, the composition, and the title appropriateness. The painting was shown just as compared with the works of such modern painters as Hals, Rembrandt, and Vermeer.

The next discussion will be held on March 19th and will concern the paintings of Michaelangelo, the great 16th century master known especially for his magnificent sculpture and for his dramatic paintings of the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in Rome. His famous statue, the "Fie-" will soon be brought from Italy to be shown at the New York World's Fair.

The art discussion is held each month on the second Tuesday during the activity period. Anyone is welcome to come and participate in any of its discussions.

U. S. Peace Corps Has Many Opportunities For College Students

Washington, D. C. — A unique and new opportunity to serve overseas as Peace Corps Volunteers now is being offered to experienced secretaries. In the new program, up to 200 volunteers will be assigned to highly responsible positions in overseas Peace Corps offices in more than 40 countries. They will be teaching, living accommodations and other staff members to each country in the Washington, D. C. Peace Corps headquarters.

The Volunteer secretaries will receive their living expenses. Therefore, as an incentive to further Peace Corps service to a virtually unrepre- sented area of the country, the Peace Corps Service Volunteers will receive administrative training in February and March. Peace Corps headquarters, a Volunteer secretary for the staff in Togo will train with the Volunteer medical personnel and fisheries experts who will be assigned to the Peace Corps' new African country.

The idea for the new program stemmed from the need for secretarial volunteers to be used. They are the Peace Corps had to hire secretaries for the overseas assignments. As a result, the Peace Corps had to hire secretaries for the Peace Corps service to a virtually unrepre- sented area of the country.

Applicants for the program should have clerical training and at least two years of working experience. Volunteers with a wide varie- ty of office skills are being sought. These secretaries should also have initiative, dedication and a good deal of common sense.

All Peace Corps Volunteers must be United States citizens. If married, both husband and wife must apply for the Peace Corps and serve together as Volunteers in the same location.
