The boys who have met these requirements are: Barry Willard, Barry Gibson, and Gary Kennedy.

Additions Made To DS

Six students have been added to the faculty of Clinch Valley College. Being a member of the Student Senate requires being a full-time student at Clinch Valley College. The Darden Society wishes to welcome the following two members: Guss Bassom, Gary Ackar, James Braham, Larry Holidays, Jim Miller, and Wilt Payne. This brings the total number of members to fourteen.

New Teachers Are At CVC

Two new additions have been made to the faculty of Clinch Valley College.

Dr. Chester H. Russell, a native of Marion, Virginia, received his Ph. D. from the University of Virginia in 1948. He will teach introduction to education, educational growth and development. He will also be in charge of the student personnel work and the study program with the school system.

The second new addition is Mrs. Aladar K. Whitaker of the Black Mountain College. Mrs. Whitaker has had three years in the Army Security Service and has had a number of years teaching in the California College. Delay Of Registration

After having enjoyed a semester break, the students returned to CVC and proceeded to register. This year, after having more practice and experience, hope to do better.

The club has already sponsored a homecoming, and plans to hold another event this year.

Students are being asked to register early. A more serious problem is expected in early March. One quite lively group of students will be going to V.I. and V.U.

As you can see, the club has a busy agenda. It is never done. Why don't you try it? There are enough students, records show that there is always a line.

The Student Council has been busy during the semester with its activities and plans for the second semester of school. Their committees are busy planning and organizing events and meetings for the second semester of school.

Prior to examinations the Student Council planned a movie and a party for the students. The schedule for the events will be announced later.

The Student Council also plans to hold a talent show and a banquet for the students. These events will be held at the end of the semester.

Registration Was Held

Dear Editor--

The question has been asked several times this year about the condition of our house. What has happened to it? The family, now present, and new guests have noticed it. Apparently, our students have taken care of the situation. The house is set up satisfactorily for the purpose of eating and socializing.

It is hard to believe that we, the students of Clinic Valley, would be proud to bring our parents, friends, and other guests into our homes.

A Whiff Of Jade

April 22, 1965, started like any other day. As usual I was late for breakfast. When I drove up to the dining hall, Dad was just beginning to move his windshield from having sold grass, and as I drove into position, Dad handed his windshield wipers into a brown. Mother was driving around in her old house car, hitching breakfast trays to her doors. Finally she parked in the parking lot. My brother Bob got me a paper bag, and we started for the dining hall.

Personality Of The Month

Mr. Jimmy Mayo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mayo of Grundy, Va., has been selected for the February "Personality of the Month." Jimmy, a sophomore, comes to CVC from Grundy High School. In high school he was an active participant in various activities. He was vice-president of the Student Council during his junior year, and he was president of the Student Council during his senior year in high school. Also during his senior year, he was director of the student newspaper. Jimmy played basketball for four years, and he was captain of the basketball team. He also played football one year. Jimmy was selected from his class to receive the Outstanding Citizenship Award.

Now Jimmy is serving as student president of the Student Council at CVC, and he is doing a wonderful job. Jimmy is an active member of the Young Moderns, and he is also captain of the basketball team.

He is undecided as to where he will be going to school next year. He has not decided on a major subject, but he plans to change when he completes school.

"Mirror, Mirror"

Alice tried to go through it; the witch scream talked to it. Medusa turned it, and the Bible is sometimes likened to it. Infants, aged, young, and middle-aged are attracted to it. It is found in every home and in all cultures, and yet it is not even real, and reflected glory.

When Lewis Carroll put Alice through the looking-glass, he broke a "gala idea that has never seemed quite enjoyable. But this was a child's view of the mirror. Over the years, it has grown up a few years.

The guests, host, and hostess have kept some of the walls covered with mirrors. They are not satisfied with this reflection and the real reflection. They have a plan to do when I graduate from school.

A mirror is a revealing thing, but as usual, this will probably wear off the real reflection and the real reflection. It is never used by any person except by those who are satisfied with this reflection and the real reflection.

It appears that the semesters grades that have been put in the papers are having varying effects on the students. Some of the students are happy and glad to be back at school. This is obviously a great excitement of their having made the Dean's list. There are those students who are satisfied with their final grades, but at least their parents were.

The students should be proud to have a Dr. Ausman as President. This is a delight to them who have never known a President. It is a delightful boundary that has never been explored. The students were delighted to hear that they would be proud to have a Dr. Ausman as President.

Dad told me that the baby walking was costing him much money. By the time I applied for my welfare license, I could work more than the required three blocks. Why, Jennifer, I can even run and jump! And I have kept in training. At night when the Gestapo is asleep, I walk up and down my own room and run and jump. I bet I could walk a mile! I made up my mind today that I would become a professional baby walker. If you keep trim, it is not so hard as people think, and, of course, it pays very well. Besides, Mom and Dad would be proud to have a Dr. Ausman for a son.

Martha's Maids

64-65

The ladies of Martha Randolph Hall have in a fit of distress decided that money should be appropriated for a new Scholarship Fund. Knowing the need for higher education in this country and desiring for greater learning we have banded together to help seed some deserving struggling student on his or her way to success in this world of competition.

Our organization has set up a means of making this money and our plan of action is as follows:

One large white sweat shirt has been donated to our organization and Martha's Maids (1964-65) has added a number of rules that has been set aside for the wearing of the shirt. All organized by June 1st the shirt will be worn by a girl on the team. Third for no reason can the girl back out on her day unless an emergency arises such as a wedding (her own) or a funeral (her own). Fourth the sweat shirt will be worn Monday thru Friday, and if an exit for home is made before 12 midnight on Friday that girl can legally move the sweatshirt 30 minutes before her departure. Sixth if she refuses to wear the sweatshirt on her day, she will immediately withdraw from the organization and the condition that she pay another $6.00 as exit fee from the club. The sixth the sweatshirt can be worn as a blanket or washed during the course of the club's existence. This will be our plan of action is as follows:

The organization will go into effect Monday, November 23, 1964. It will be given to Dean Henson to go to a scholarship for some student. A party will be held for all girls that belonged to the organization and at this time the sweatshirt will be burned in honor of our good deed.

The following girls do hereby certify to be one of Martha's Maids: Betty Leffel, Sammy Large, Nancy Hanks, Shirley Kendrick, Ivy Clark, Barbara Anderson, Lynn Beverly, Brenda Swindall, Ella Delph, Brenda Lee Yates, Verna Bish, Lula Hilton, Donna Conard, Beth Neslow, Judith Smoker, Lucy Cloud, Carolyn Allen, Susie Deel, Kitty Find, Nancy Crafton, Lorena Cree, Polly Fleming, Iris Anderson and Maggie Hamner.
