The Highland Cavalier
Clinch Valley College of the University of Virginia

SUMMER EDITION NO. 2
JULY 22, 1966

DEAN
THOMAS T. HAMILTON

Dean Hamilton Leaves CVC

Come September, 1966, and Clinch Valley will again open its doors to several hundred young men and women who are seeking an education. At the same time these students are making their entrance, one person who has been a mainstay of the institution will be here; but he may be assured that while he goes as an old man he will certainly never be forgotten.

Dean Thomas Hamilton is leaving Clinch Valley to take a position on the faculty at Old Dominion College; and while we wish him the best of everything in his new home, community, and college, there is an empty feeling beginning to appear inside those who have studied under him.

Anyone who has had a class with Dean Hamilton knows of the atmosphere that prevails in his classroom. Who can forget the battle of the Civil War so realistically and so forcefully; and yet with such a look of fear — a fear of death when I looked at the eyes of all.

The dormitory is for work. The dormitories in Charleston have not come to Clinch Valley last fall had average college board scores of about 1200. Only a handful had less than 1100. The thing that one notices most about the dormitories in Charleston is the almost perpetual quiet. There is no time for shaving cream and water battles, and the nearest television set is a quarter of a mile away. This is not to imply that there is anything monastic about the life there, but there is a very distinct difference in the distinction made between working and playing — both are performed with equal vigor. The dormitory is for work. Play of various kinds is scattered out over the country side. What one does one sees in the unfortunate "gray attitude" which sometimes affects the students of inferior institutions — a sort of half-work, half-play marked by general apathy towards both.

The time has thus gone for us to choose the kind of company we will keep. It is predicted that we will choose to be found among the better. It is further predicted that the activities period will go to the way of dinosaur and the dodo bird because it has failed to provide a contribution either to work or to play. It is predicted that the library will take on a new importance with expanded reading lists and research papers which will make something more than clumsy, hastily plagiarism of encyclopedias, if not even worse. The ords will be kept of clean absences so that those who do not come to Clinch Valley for an education will be identified early in the year.

Thus, the emphasis will be upon work, and the kills of manpower will be reassessed with cries of anguish and protest. Many will be the tales told by the Dean of Students' Station of the impossibility of the faculty and the impossibility of the work. But, this is how good colleges are built; and we should be concerned only when the complaints and protests subside.

Is the College Student Losing His Self-Respect?

The day a child is born begins the moral, spiritual, and educational training that will influence his self-respect throughout his life.

From the time of birth to the time he learns how to walk, he is taught not to touch hot stoves or flowers, but to put things from the tables, or to play with matches, etc. These things mentioned above may or another may be harmful to him.

Continued Page 3
But as be grows older, the loyalty, the admiration what has developed during his stay in university's administration, the faculty, and all of the faculty, University of Virginia President Dean Hamilton has also made the decision has a milestone. The decision has been granted to the student for the establishment of colleges in this area, work towards differentiation of modern scientific research, and ideals of public education at the University of Virginia. Many of you will participate in this area.

Tonight you have come to the University in the East, the rebel college campuses were involved by many. It is due to the determination of modem scientific research and ideals of public education at the University of Virginia. The newspapers of today's sex scandals have been involved by many. It is due to the determination of modem scientific research and ideals of public education at the University of Virginia.

So, although the child is born into this world with the same desires, it Is due to the determination of modem scientific research and ideals of public education at the University of Virginia.

The teenager must understand what things make a difference. Some of the desires worker who helped in the improvement of this privilege for the students.

The newspapers of today's sex scandals have been involved by many. It is due to the determination of modem scientific research and ideals of public education at the University of Virginia.

The teenager must understand what things make a difference. Some of the desires worker who helped in the improvement of this privilege for the students.

The newspapers of today's sex scandals have been involved by many. It is due to the determination of modem scientific research and ideals of public education at the University of Virginia.

The teenager must understand what things make a difference. Some of the desires worker who helped in the improvement of this privilege for the students.

The newspapers of today's sex scandals have been involved by many. It is due to the determination of modem scientific research and ideals of public education at the University of Virginia.
Effect of 500 police to roslorc are 27,500 students at Berkprivileges than the student of earlier years. The in­ today has more money and through life.

Butts that oould  follow  him
are saying that the soldier, weaken its structure.  Little learned. We all must  sac­ men should be a lesson

Viet Nam, have died in  vain.
lose it. Sometimes we must ernment, our schools, co­ secrets  to a foreign country your  daily  activities for a mean  to you. Do you  think cause very  often  I think  about the time to stop during their why I am  living  and what my paragraphs  I would  like  to

to talk  to concerning their myself  wondering why I am God's fantastic works.  Liv­

and that  someone  is God.
what I shall be doing, I

I  know  that  God  has
myself  wondering why I am
It is bencficialto me and the available to us. We are able living  in a modern  world,
to buy material goods in stores.  Yes. I do believe such control must  rest

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
Enjoying  life  is doing enjoy  my  life  to the  full.  I consider  myself  rich  if  I have my  own  laws.  That's  enough  for a  little

HIGHLAND CAVALIER STAFF
Editor
MILDRED DANIELS
Production Staff
LARRY CASTLE
MICKEY MURCAS
Contributors
KATHRYN SMITH
FRANK GENTRY
BOSTIC
Advisor
MR. JOSEPH FLANARY
MR. WILSON

Page 4

TO MY PLAYMATE
There is a man whom I know
He sits at home all day,
And how I love him, no one

Even though he cannot run and play.
You see, he used to run with me
And guess which one we have fun?
Until one day he hurt his knee
And could no longer run.

Although he cannot run about,
We still have our fun,
I go and get my toys out,
And let him have his fun.

We play that we are hunting,
Now we are hunting bear,
And just as we are getting settled,
"There he is, Granddad, behind that

Then, soon as we have reached the bear
Andfind that he is dead,
Up jumps Sam from her chair
And makes me go to bed.

But that's all right,
Granddad, we've killed one bear outdoors,
And that's enough for a little
And an old man, such as we, tonight.

It is tragic that in striving for good, man chooses evil means to insure his defeat. It is comical that he does not know that this
CLINCH VALLEY COLLEGE
Here we are at Clinch Valley College
Trying to gain a little more knowledge
Of English, Math, Geogra­

Logic, Science, and History.
We're reading lots of Swift
And Pope, and poetry don't give up hope!
We'll learn to analyze it yet
And from its lines true

We read and study about our nation.
Reform and progress since the Proclamation.
Logic made us wonder whether
"Pigeons are birds because they have feathers."
"Life cycles of plants, leaves of trees.
And enthusiasm, dear me,
We meet them all in botany.
Yes, a very good place to Gain more knowledge in here at Clinch Valley College!

- Elizabeth Callahan -