Darden Lecture Series Obtains Havacek As Speaker Friday

This Darden Lecture Series has proved verification that foreign correspondent John Havacek will here for Friday convocation, as schedule will follow the usual: 3 period, 9:30-10:15, INVOCATION 10:20-11:30, its schedule will follow the usual.

M. John Havacek will be present for the following background dossier on Leigh Press information that he has received. A half-hour interview program with national figures and prominent visitors over NBC's color affiliate station in Omaha, KMTV. Taped reports and six special TV documentaries emerged from a recent 10-week tour of Middle East and Far East.

In the summer of 1966, he spent six weeks traveling through ten countries in East, South and West Africa. In 1967 he made an extensive tour of Eastern Europe (Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland). In 1968, he traveled via Moscow to Asia, including Afghanistan, India, Vietnam. And he continues to travel wherever the news is "hot."

Havacek, a graduate of Carroll College, keeps himself busy as correspondent in the area.

Deadline Set For Student Financial Aid

Jim N. Humphreys, Financial Aid officer at CVCC has announced that the deadline for financial assistance has been set for the academic year 1969-70. He stated in his announcement:

This is to advise students of the April 15, 1969, deadline date set by the college for completing the application for consideration for financial aid during the 1969-70 academic year. Those students who have not applied for financial assistance to date must also file an application with the Office of Financial Aid for Students by the above date. If one falls to tomorrow, this office will assume that he or she no longer needs assistance.

It is also being announced from State Teachers' Scholarships, National Defense Loans, the College Work-Study Program, Opportunity Grant, etc. It is being announced by the office of the Free University. A writing committee, however, has been set up and is currently busy in gathering material for the show.

Mr. John Havacek

Mr. John Havacek was United Press general manager for India and Pakistan from 1945 to 1956. It was in Bombay that he married superstar Peggie Farnell, a foreign correspondent in her own right, who accompanies him on most of his news jaunts. Before American newsman were barred from China, each of them had been foreign correspondents in that country.

The Havaceks have five children and, although based in Omaha, Nebraska, still own a beach house on the north shore of Jamaica in the Caribbean. They manage to find time for a home life that's an exceptionally happy and busy one, perhaps because the Havaceks communicate the feeling that the whole world is a family.

Free University Idea

The Youth Commission of the Council of Southern Mountains will be attempting to demonstrate the principles of a Free University at the 56th annual spring convention of the Council of Southern Mountains at Pontana Village, North Carolina, April 6-11. Interest in this project has become greatly manifest here at CVCC. Largely through the efforts of Sue Easterling, worker for the Council in this area, Miss Easterling has attempted to stimulate interest in the subject, to inform them of the concepts behind the Free University idea. With Dan Lumbini, another worker operating under a grant from the Labor Department, Sue will be here today (March 3) and tomorrow for more meetings and discussions.

The Free University concept is designed to stimulate interest in subjects not available in the regular curriculum of a school and to allow the possibility of investigating into a further extent ideas and projects in which students already possess an interest. Free Universities have been set up in campuses throughout the United States. The exact form of any Free University is not predetermined since it must take on the characteristics of the individual school or group of persons concerned, and is shaped according to the needs felt and the knowledge and aims prevalent. The only consistent feature of all Free Universities is the fact that they are free - no tuition and no academic credit available.

One of the possibilities of a local Free University is that some people, interested in the area, might like to know more about Appalachian history and like to gain appreciation of their local heritage. These persons might then decide to meet on a regular basis, possibly choosing a reading list from which to work on a seminar basis. Group meetings, reading, lectures, and classes might be arranged.

Scribes Sponsor The Circus

The Circus, multi-media show sponsored by the Scribes, is planned to be presented "within the next few weeks" here at Clinic Valley. Plans are still incomplete as to date and place of performance. A writing committee, however, has been set up and is currently busy in gathering material for the show.

According to Paul Conger, member of the committee, "the basic form of the show is modeled after a circus with carnival barker, clowns, and small show. Please now include a live band and at least a small light show. There will be a small admission charge for the event. The date will probably be within the next five weeks."

about political tactics, Black Panther rallies, light shows, religion, current affairs, different types of music and arts or any other topic not small enough to be handled in the regular curriculum of schools. These sessions can be initiated by... cont. to page 2.

EDITORIAL OPINION

The CVC faculty last semester demonstrated their confidence in students’ abilities when they passed the writing requirement. As a result, the Core Faculty Conference has concluded that there will be no further examination. However, students must pass the course, which is offered in all academic departments.
