Bernard Knox

The Intellectual Revolution Of The Fifth-Century

Dr. Bernard Knox, Director of the Center for Hellenic Studies, will speak at Clinch Valley College on March 10, 1975 at 9:30 a.m. in the Administration Building Lecture Hall under the auspices of the University Center in Virginia. Dr. Knox was formerly a Professor of Classics at Yale University. He wrote the script for and performed in four half-hour color films for educational TV on the Oedipus the King of Sophocles. These films were made by the Council for a Television Course in the Humanities for Secondary Schools, a Boston organization, and are currently distributed by Encyclopedia Britannica Films. They are in use in many classrooms across the country. His principal publications include: Oedipus at Thebes, Oedipus the King, The Ajax of Sophocles, and The Heroic Temper. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Culbertson On; "The Future Of C.V.C. . . ."

The Darden Society of Clinch Valley College will present a lecture by Dr. George Culbertson at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 5. Dr. Culbertson's subject will be "The Future of CVC and Higher Education in Virginia." Dr. Culbertson is presently Registrar and Associate Dean of the College. He did his undergraduate work at Emory and Henry, Clinch Valley College, and VPI. He received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in Mathematics at VPI and did graduate work at Illinois Institute of Technology. While at VPI, he held an NDEA Graduate Fellowship and also had a National Science Foundation Research participation grant. A primary subject of his research has been concerned with parallel and central fields of force in Euclidean spaces. Dr. Culbertson taught at the United States Naval Academy before joining the Clinch Valley College faculty in 1970. The lecture will be held in the Administration Building in Room A 100. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Forests Of The Area

Clyde Todd, District Ranger of the Jefferson National Forest will speak at the Appalachian Seminar on March 5, 1975 in the Administration Building at 7:00 p.m. Mr. Todd has been with the forest service for about 20 years. His lecture will be on

"Forests of the Area." Mr. Todd is a native of Alexandria, Louisiana. He received his B.S. in Forestry at Louisiana Tech in Ruston, Louisiana. He has been living in Wise and working at his present position about 7 years. The public is invited.

Attention students:

On Sunday, February 23rd, 1975, the Student Council voted on a resolution calling for a student referendum concerning the question of musical talent at CVC for the Spring Formal. At a previous meeting, a proposal was made asking that Student Council consider the possibility of bringing the back-up band for the Raspberries, the Gashouse Gang, to CVC for a return performance in view of the warm and enthusiastic welcome accorded them the first time. However, due to factionalist tendencies concerning student body views on such an idea in light of last semester's misfortunes, no decision was reached at that time.

However, at the next meeting a motion was set forth calling for a general referendum authorizing Student Council to consider the possibility of bringing the Gashouse Gang or a comparable group to CVC. This proposal represents a victory for the progressive forces at CVC and offers the Student Body a chance for mass democratic action on an important issue.

In order for this line to be effective, you, the Student Body, must be willing to make their voice heard. For those who think the student voice does not matter, it should be made clear that the Student Council will accept as binding the result of this vote as far as possible.

Now is the chance for the Student Body to decide whether they want a quality dance and even more, who they should like this time for entertainment. This time, let there be no scape-goats or in-fighting.

In conclusion, it must be said that in order for the resolution to be passed, at least 35 percent of the Student Body must vote, no please vote. And remember, if you have any questions concerning the vote, see me or any member of the Student Council.

Stability Of Fresh Water Protozoan Communities

Dr. William H. Yongue, Jr., Associate Professor of Zoology at VPI will present a lecture on "Stability of Fresh Water Protozoan Communities" to the Biology Seminar on Tuesday, March 4, at 2:45 p.m. in Room 104A of the Science Building at Clinch Valley College in Wise, Virginia.

Dr. Yongue currently teaches a number of ecology courses and protozoology at VPI. He has authored many publications on fresh water protozoans and is actively engaged in research on protozoans at VPI. Dr. Yongue is also a member of several professional societies. Any one interested in hearing Dr. Yongue is cordially invited.

Sincerely,

Roy W. Baker
Student Body President

Question 1. Will you as a member of the Student Body of CVC support a campaign by The Student Council to bring the Gashouse Gang or a comparable group to CVC for the Spring Dance and will you attend such a dance? If you do not wish to have The Gashouse Gang, is there another group that you should prefer? Please answer "Yes" or "No".

Question 2. Are you in favor of the Student Council's request for equal representation on the two (2) Faculty Standing Committees Publications and Curriculum?

This will be conducted March 12, 1975

Thank you.

Today is March 3. On this day in 1842, the great inventor Alexander Graham Bell rang into the world the shrill cry of his birth. Speculating that perhaps Alex's parents dialed a wrong number, this is the Highland Cavalier, published by the students of Clinch Valley College, where we don't think the telephone brings people together as much as it separates them.

C.V.C. Breathes

We all should know by now that Clinch Valley College is alive. It may assume various shapes (Medusan giant, sleeping cyclops, or dark, soundless amoeba) but the fact remains that it maintains a painfully close to tangible hold on our lives. Its tenacity is sometimes overwhelming, often nightmarish, but always inescapable. Like Death. But CVC is not dead, it is alive. And what is not so universally realized is its respiration. CVC breathes. Oh, this phenomenon is subtle, all right, it is downright ethereal. So don't be discouraged if you cannot discern it during class, or if the halls of Zehmer building hold only a stagnant air mass for you. Perhaps you are trying too hard, putting too much concentration on your own individual life process. As soon as you are not conscious of your self, the breath will make its presence known, cooling the sweat off your weary and furrowed brow, and you then can add your exhalation to the collective sigh. This breath cannot be described by any kind of qualitative analysis, nor can it be approached in a manner other than through elusive metaphor. It is the breath that gives life to the fire in which we burn memories, the curled and faded photographs thrown one by one into the flicking flame. It is the breath that melts the icy cobwebs of winter. It is the breath which is contained in the bubbles tumbling to the surface from our submerged consciousness. It is the athlete's breath, fast and furious; it is the breath of the lover. It is the breath we are short of after climbing "the hill". It is the breath of Clinch Valley College, collectively the breath of all of us, but more than that, the rising and falling of the lungs of a place in time, and should its rhythm escape us, we would surely suffocate.

Letters To The Editor

A funny thing happened at the girls open dorm last Wednesday (Feb. 26): one of the beloved residents screwed things up again by playing a joke on McCrary Hall. It seems he took down a fire extinguisher and spread it under someone's door. When a floor proctor asked him to stop, the reply was a load of spray in the face. What a funny joke it was as you could have seen on the faces of all the people as the housemother began to clear the halls of the men. Because of one person all were held responsible, let's be fair to the prankster, the housemother who was up on the floors before due to the more than-usual amount of noise and this incident was just the excuse needed to clear everyone out. Later in the night another gentleman (?) decided to verbally harass an innocent person. When his desires for a fight did not materialize, the "gentleman" lost his flat and the victim found it (right in the face). Ah yes, true diplomacy in action. Then the counselor felt something should be done, a rather astute observation on his part. In the above two incidents, both people causing the major problems were given offense slips and might face expulsion from the dorm. (No great loss if this is how they act.) There are alot of people under the misconception that a few people are out to get rid of them. They do not or cannot face the truth that they will have to learn how to adjust to the welfare of all residents of McCrary Hall. Why can't they be honest to their friends and tell them the truth? No, they don't have the guts or respect, instead they lie. What will happen due to the above situations? SCA and a Social Welfare task force will be polling residents and asking for possible solutions. Soon there will be an open meeting to discuss the problems, maybe then the truth will come out. Or will it? The people of McCrary are famous for complaining and muttering under their breath but rarely do they stick together. Those who do, get what they want and usually it's not in the best of interest for the rest. Why should the majority be blamed for the actions of a few. Worse, why should they have to pay (both males and females) for the damages done by these few... dorm fees are on possible rise if this nonsense doesn't stop, soon. Craig Runyon

Conspicuous Erudition

This week's article addresses itself to a situation which seemingly has burst upon the scene only in the last year. The phenomenon under discussion concerns the reroading of professors holding only master's degrees off to college in order that they should obtain a doctorate. It is the opinion of this writer and several other concerned students (which may well be a plurality considering that many students seem to have no opinion on anything) that this administrative pronouncement is not in the best interests of the students nor the college in general. Will CVC be able to afford the higher salaries that a doctoral degree commands? Even so, will these professors bother to return to CVC? Will the college be able to replace these lost faculty members with doctoral professors, or will they in this time of economic crisis be forced to hire others who hold only a master's degree? If this be the case, then what shall have been the point of this entire scheme except perchance a bungled attempt to remove certain dissident elements from the faculty. Then too, one should ask the benefits of this operation for the students. Will returning to college to obtain a doctorate really make a professor a better teacher or even a better person? While it is true that a certain few professors might find it beneficial and even necessary to return to college, this writer feels that there are also faculty members at this college who are more than proficient in their field and for all practical purposes would be wasting their time by obtaining a doctorate. In spite of everything, this college does have some very fine and competent professors and it should be considered a great loss that they be shipped off merely because of a lack of a Ph.D. tagging along behind their name. Has the administration taken to heart the decadent Confucian line, later peddled by Lin Piao and his ilk, that those most high rule with their heads or is this plan some type of purge due to factional infighting? To finalize, this writer should like to say that even though the students do not make academic or administrative policies at this school, it should be correct that the administration inform the student body the reasons concerning this decision since its consequences will eventually come to rest upon the students. Weekly Words Of Wisdom

So it is with minds, if they are not applied to some certain study that may check and restrain them, they will cast themselves in disorder hither and thither in the vague fields of the imagination. I fancied that I could not more oblige my mind than to permit it a full leisure to entertain itself and come to rest in itself... but I find, that, quite to the contrary, like a runaway horse it gives itself a hundred times more trouble and creates me so many chimeras and fantastic monsters, one upon another, without order or design, that, the better at leisure to contemplate their strangeness and absurdity, I have begun to record them, hoping in time to make it ashamed of them. S.C.A. President Speaks

Today, you will see copies of letters that I have sent Dean Richard Davidson and Mr. Clayton Willis. I have asked that these letters be included in this issue of The Highland Cavalier since they concern the Student Body. Also, I have asked that the editor print the reply I received from Chancellor Smiddy in regard to my letter to him last week. Please read it because it is important too. I feel that the reasons stated in my previous letter were valid ones, and the administration is merely trying to say that students should not have a voice as does the faculty in Faculty Standing Committees. Therefore, to see how students feel, the Student Council has voted to send the question of equal representation on the Publications and Curriculum Committees to the Student Body as a referendum question to see if you support the idea before we pursue the question any further. Another topic of importance to the Student Body concerned the "WP", "WF" system which the College uses. I wrote to Dr. George Culbertson, Associate Dean and Registrar in regard to this subject. I have asked the editor to print his reply. I would like to thank Dr. Culbertson for his answer. In my conversation with Dean Culbertson the day I received his reply I learned why CVC uses the system that they do. The main reason, as I understood it, was that this is the way the University of Virginia handles it. Therefore, what is good for U. Va. is also good for CVC - right? Well, if that is so, great - let's be like U. Va. With that in mind let me return to the Chancellors letter. The Student Council was turned down on all requests for equal representation on the four committees that we were interested in. Now, the University of Virginia places the Publications Committee as a Standing Committee of the Student Council. Again, what is good for U. Va. is also good for Clinch Valley College, Right? If the Student Body supports the referendum question on equal representation, I hope the administration will reconsider our requests. Further Council actions at the last SCA meeting included a resignation from one of the Freshman Representatives for personal reasons. That position will hopefully be filled by the time this article is printed. The Council is also sending out questionnaires to all the clubs and organizations on campus to see if they would be interested in working on a joint effort to sponsor a Spring Dance. Also, Student Council is going to investigate rumors that men's athletics have over spent money allocated to them by the Student Council and Finance Committee. More next week.

Respectfully, Roy W. Baker Student Body President

Dear Roy... From Chancellor Smiddy

Dear Roy: I received your letters, one in regard to the scheduling of student activities and the second one in regard to students being represented equally on standing committees. In answer to your first request, I have given the Dean of Students, Dr. Richard Davidson the responsibility for scheduling student activities. I would be most pleased to follow his suggestions as to how he wants to set up priorities for these requests. I would like to suggest that you talk with Dr. Davidson in this regard. Secondly, it was our decision long ago to invite students to serve as voting members on most of our faculty standing committees. These are faculty committees and they are appointed by the Chancellor. I would not be in favor of equal representation on these said committees. If these committees were represented equally, they would no longer be faculty committees. I look upon this request as I would look upon a request of the faculty to be equally represented on the Student Council. I will be glad to talk with you on either one of these requests anytime you would care to visit with me in my office.

Sincerely yours, J. C. Smiddy Chancellor

Dear Dean Davidson

Dear Dean Davidson, The Student Council of the College would like to know if Clinch Valley College is still under the Governor's Energy Crisis Program. This request is made in regard to the use of refrigerators in the rooms of our dormitories. If we are still under the program and the use of refrigerators is prohibited we would like to know why a school such as Virginia Tech can use refrigerators in their dormitories during the "energy crisis". We request that a letter be sent to the Governor's Office in

Sincerely, Roy W. Baker Student Body President

Dear Mr. Willis

The Student Council would like to request that you consider the following proposals in regard to the Clinch Valley College cafeteria: 1. we would like to see the cafeteria make available to the Student Body a list of base prices for items which are sold in the cafeteria. 2. we would like the manager of the cafeteria, Mrs. Helen Bass, to work out some type of system of checking people who hold meal tickets so that if a student misses a particular meal, he may make the meal up at another meal within, of course, a given period of time. For example, if a student holds a two meal ticket; let us say breakfast and lunch for this example, and the student misses breakfast, then under the current system the student loses that meal and is not allowed to make it up. We feel that the CVC meal

Dear Mr. Baker...

Dear Mr. Baker: This is in response to your request for information concerning the use of the "WP" and "WF" grades at Clinch Valley College. The "WP" and "WF" grade designations and the way they are used in grade point computations were inherited from the University of Virginia. The way that these grades impact a student's grade point average is explained by the following statement which is found on page 29 of the 1974-75 Clinch Valley College Record: "For the purpose of computing the student's academic average, courses graded "WF" (withdrawn failing) shall be counted as courses failed, courses graded "WP" (withdrawn passing) shall not be computed in the grade-point average." There are two situations in which a student may be assigned a grade of "WP" or "WF". They are: (1) Voluntary withdrawal from all classes within one week of the final examination period. The policy statement concerning this situation is listed at the top of page 29 in the 1974-75 CVC Record. That statement is as follows: "A student will be permitted to withdraw from the College without penalty up to within one week of the examination period. A notation of "W" will be made on his grade sheet for all courses if he withdraws before this time. A student who withdraws after this time will be assigned a grade of either "WP" or "WF" by the instructors involved and will not be eligible to enroll at Clinch Valley College in the following semester." (2) Voluntary withdrawal from a class (not all classes) after the announced drop date. The Policy statement that covers this situation is listed near the middle of page 33 in the 1974-75 CVC Record. That statement is as follows: "A student is permitted to drop single courses up to four weeks before the beginning of the final examination period and receive a grade of "W". If a drop is made within four weeks preceding the examination period, the student will be assigned a grade of either "WP" or "WF" by the instructor." In all cases the final determination of the grade is made by the instructor. All academic policies at Clinch Valley College are subject to the will of the Faculty, the Dean, the Chancellor and the office of the Provost at the University of Virginia. Any change in the stated policies would need approval at each of the indicated levels. For your information, a faculty committee appointed by the Dean did initiate a proposal that impacts the "WP" and "WF" grades. This proposal has gained approval at all the necessary levels and will be contained in the 1975-76 CVC Record. A copy of this new policy statement is enclosed. I appreciate your concern on behalf of your fellow students and the way that you are handling this question. If I may be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me. Very truly yours, George Culbertson Associate Dean and Registrar

BSU Spring Conference Is March 21-23 At Eagle Eyrie

The Virginia Baptist Student Union Spring Conference will be held at Eagle Eyrie March 21-23, 1975. The program will include Bible study, discussion groups, seminars, music and 1975 summer missions appointments. The 1975 ministry teams, including folk, drama, creative worship and revival teams, will be presented. Special sessions will be held for high school seniors. Program leadership will be Jon Appleton, state secretary for the Alabama Baptist Department of Campus Ministry; Dr. George Beasley-Murray, professor, Southern Seminary; Charles Roselle, director, National Student Ministries, Nashville; and Mickey and Becky Moore, musicians from New York. The cost is $18.50, including insurance, six meals and two nights lodging. All CVC students are welcome. For reservations, contact any member of the BSU or Dean Trickett at the United Student Center, phone 328-6208 or 328-9469.

The Highland Cavalier, in order to evolve interest in the paper, is beginning a contest called, "The Secret of Life." Entries for the contest should be no longer than 25 words. All entries will become property of the Highland Cavalier. The winning reply will be printed in the April Fool's issue of the Highland Cavalier, along with an interview with the winning contestant. The Highland Cavalier staff will judge all entries. Deadline is March 27.

More Letters
To The Editor

Little-known techniques of survival in the quasi-civilization of campus life in a small town may benefit some disgruntled students at CVC. Once a student finds himself in the unenviable situation of having to cope with academic, financial, and emotional problems, as well as dealing with housing regulations, the administration, and the well-known and much-loved parking situation, success depends largely on the ability to make do with what presently exists.

Our security force is responsible for maintaining safe traffic on campus, providing exercise for those students relegated to parking behind the bee gums, and insuring that tardy faculty members reach their classes before their tardy students. However, often even faculty cars are found in illegal places. (Have they received tickets?) No fingers are pointed; the point is found in the dissatisfaction of the student body. Speaking of tickets, how many other institutions of higher learning have a tuition fee that is rivaled by the costs of illegal parking? It is understood that the funds the college receives from this source are placed in a student scholarship fund to increase enrollment to further enlarge the fund. This is called inflation. Our boys in blue perform their ticketing functions between the hours of 9 and 11 o'clock in the morning (only!), a time to protect yourself from being charged an absurd fine by finding a legal parking place somewhere, or putting an old ticket under your windshield wiper. If you are caught, however, be advised to pay those fines before the end of the semester or be stuck with a $5.00 surcharge for not increasing their fund earlier. Verbal protests against the parking situation you will find useless; unfortunately, the school is within its legal rights, and they will be the first to point this out. But should this institution continue to cultivate unrest and unhappiness in its students merely because it has the legal right? The present system is hardly the way to facilitate new or continuing enrollments, and serves only as a barrier to trust and understanding between students and their CVC.

Emory & Henry Concert
Choir To Appear

The internationally honored Concert Choir of Emory & Henry College, Emory, Virginia, will appear in concert March 16, 1975 at the J. J. Kelly Auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m. This concert is sponsored by the Gladeville Council of the Performing Arts.

Having already gained a measure of fame through their American tours and appearances, this outstanding group received the highest honors given at the 1972 International Choral Festival in Rome. While abroad, they also sang in some of the famous cathedrals of Europe, including St. Peter's and Notre Dame.

In this country, the choir has performed in churches, colleges, and universities from coast to coast; they have been featured on both radio and television; they have appeared on the community concert series of two cities; and they have been invited at various times by several symphony orchestras to perform major choral works such as the Beethoven Ninth Symphony, the Bruckner Te Deum, and the Verdi and Brahms Requiems.

In 1964, they were invited by New York's Christ Church Methodist to present a concert as part of the World's Fair celebration. They were honored in 1969 when the Music Ministry magazine, official publication of the United Methodist Church, selected them to record the Hymn of the Month series. Dr. Charles R. Davis, founder of the Concert Choir in 1938 and its director since that time, holds degrees from Emory & Henry, Westminster Choir College, and Indiana University. He has studied with the late Dr. John Finley Williamson and Dr. Julius Herford, renowned authority on choral literature.

The program will include a group of anthems and motets by composers from the 16th century to the present, a group of selected movements from various larger choral works, and a group of spirituals. Admission at the door will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students.

Virginia Employment
Commission Bulletin

Richmond-- The current economic situation and resulting increased unemployment will make it difficult for many of Virginia's 1975 college graduates to find jobs, according to Ron Montgomery, placement representative for the Virginia Employment Commission.

In an attempt to help as many young Virginians as possible, the VEC will again conduct its College Profiles program, Montgomery said.

"We can't promise to get these young people jobs," Montgomery said, "but we can get their names before prospective Virginia employers."

Under College Profiles, the VEC publishes a list of recent college graduates seeking work and distributes copies to many Virginia employers. This year, about 70,000 employers will be informed by direct mail of the availability of the listing.

To be issued in April, May and June, the list will carry the student's name, home address, college attended and major and minor courses of study. Employers who are interested in a particular student either contact him directly or arrange an interview through a local VEC office.

Seniors or recent graduates who want to be included on the list should see their college placement officer or visit their local Virginia Employment Commission office. Forms available at either of these places must be completed and signed by the individual.

No charge is made to employer or job applicant for any VEC service.

Astrology Classes Offered

There has been a rumor floating around about someone giving classes in Astrology. The rumor is true, the teacher is Lana Sauterne, and the classes will be held Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday mornings at 11:30 a.m., beginning March 6th and 9th for ten weeks, in the Abbey.

One part of the rumor that is not true is that there won't be any fortune telling. What will be brought out in the classes are the fundamental qualities and characteristics of the signs, planets and houses of the birth chart and how they unite to reflect basic emotional and psychological factors and cyclic trends the individual will go throughout their lives. The birthchart is a blueprint of the individual's personality and reflects his genetic and environmentally conditioned potential and how he goes about exercising this potential. The cycles are those revolutions of the planets in their orbits and how they influence the person by emphasizing high and low periods of growth, success, learning, change and creative expression. That covers a lot of territory and can't be observed without some what of a religious philosophy to gain a better perspective. Fatalism is highly discouraged. Rather a positive perception of self knowledge is the best attitude that can be obtained with the applied theory.

These classes are for beginners and will take them as far as the time available and their capabilities will allow. It can't possibly tell it all, but it certainly will be a good start.

The fee is $20.00 per person and will include some written material and technical and interpretive discussion of the charts of those students present. You can get in touch with Lana either by appearing at the Abbey on the dates given or preferably by contacting her through Box 967 Campus Mall (or in the lounge). It would be best if you could get in touch prior to classes.

The Spring's Bowling Tournament is scheduled to begin Thursday, March 6, at 4:00 p.m. at the Clinch Valley Lanes. There are now more than twice as many teams entered as there was in last years tournament, and new teams are still being accepted. Three bowlers (men, women, or mixed) and two substitutes should be on each team's roster, which can be turned in to the Intramural Office. A fee of $10.00 will be charged for each roster. This fee will include all bowling charges and shoe rentals for eight weeks.

Bowling Rules

1. You must bowl when scheduled. If your team is more than fifteen minutes late you must forfeit game. A forfeit is a loss and cannot be made up.
2. Each team must have three regular bowlers and two substitute bowlers. Only one member can be bowled blind.
3. To bowl a member blind you must subtract 10 points from his - her average.
4. If any one member is later than 3 frames he must be bowled blind for the first game. He can bowl in the second and third game if it is O.K. with the opposing team.
5. The three regular bowlers must bowl in the last two games of the season.
6. Handicaps for men, maximum - 40 + Handicaps for women, unlimited.
