The number one project of the Advisory Committee at the present time is a fund raising program for the Chapel of All Faiths that is to be built on the campus in the near future. This project was initiated and received most of its support from the Cohen family. Mr. William B. Cohen, an Attorney in Louisville, Kentucky and Mr. Wallace C. Cohen, an Attorney in Washington, D.C. have been the principal donors to this very worthwhile project. The friends of the late Dr. Jeanette Cohen and the late Miss Lilyan Cohen have also contributed large sums of money to the Chapel. The Advisory Committee is seeking to raise an additional $40,000 for the Chapel of All Faiths.

Letters To The Editor

An Alternative To Beer Blasts?-Yes!

To the Editor, Let me say at first that this letter is my own personal opinion and firm belief and should in no way be construed as the opinion or position of CVC's administration.

But perhaps you have not utterly gone astray. I may address one who may not have quite made up his mind. Let your better nature speak out. You take one side or the other in the war against drunkenness.

Now it is not my purpose to condemn without offering an alternative. I do not speak as

Gerald Ford: Prosperity And Peace

Gary Cross Linda Walker

On August 9, 1974 Gerald Ford was sworn in as President of the United States, taking office during this country's greatest internal crisis since the Civil War.

Since that time President Ford has led America through the Myguetz incident, reaffirming our commitment to freedom of the seas. He has also led us out of the worst recession America has experienced since the Great Depression.

President Ford is a graduate of Michigan State University and Yale Law School. He served in the United States Navy during World War II and was honorably discharged as a Lieutenant Commander. In 1948 he ran for United States Congress and was elected with sixty per cent of the vote.

Get Involved With The Young Democrats

Doubtless you have seen the two distinguished gentlemen on campus this week. These men are Admiral Bud Aumwalt, candidate for the U.S. Senate and Charles Horn, candidate for the U.S. Congress.

The Economy

President Ford is committed to end deficit spending as a means of reducing employment. He rejects wage price controls and "make work" public employment programs as inflationary and dangerous to the economic recovery.

Taxes

The Republican party platform states: "The best tax reform is tax reduction." Ford believes that the best way to encourage the economic recovery is to give the public more spendable money through lower taxes.

Labor

President Ford favors section 14(B) of the Taft-Hartley act, following states to require open shops in which workers do not have to join a union in order to work.

Energy

The President vigorously opposes the breakup of oil companies into separate producing and marketing units. To breakup these companies would substantially increase oil producing costs Ford believes.

Ford calls for the immediate elimination of price controls on oil and newly discovered natural gas. The President also favors the continued use and expansion of safe nuclear energy.

Social Services

Opposing a compulsory national health insurance program, Ford maintains that this program would increase Federal government spending by more than seventy billion dollars in its first year.

He supports, however, the extension of private insurance to cover all Americans for catastrophic illness. The President is opposed to a guaranteed annual income.

Abortion

President Ford endorses the Republican Party platform which encourages "a constitutional amendment to restore protection of the right to life for unborn children."

Foreign Affairs

The president supports contacts, trade and normalization of relations with China, however he wants to keep commitments such as the Mutual Defense Treaty with Taiwan.

President Ford believes the Panama Canal should be preserved as an international waterway. The Republican party platform referring to the canal states: "The U.S. should in no way cede, dilute, forfeit, negotiate or transfer any rights, power territory, or property vital to the U.S. and the Western Hemisphere."

The President believes that the United States should keep troops in South Korea to protect its territorial integrity. He feels that removal should occur only after the possibility of renewed aggression on the part of North Korea no longer exists.

Defense

Ford favors a strong military posture and would increase the size of America's armed forces. He endorses the development of a new missile launching submarine fleet, to counter the growing Soviet fleet. He prefers, also, the immediate production of the newly developed B-1 Bomber which would replace our now outdated bomber fleet.

Zumwalt Sends Out Political "Z-Gram"

by: J. Jack Kennedy

Retired Admiral Elmo "Bud" Zumwalt is the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate in 1976. Last spring Admiral Zumwalt addressed CVC students on foreign affairs and defense issues. This year Zumwalt is discussing domestic issues in his campaign to reach the U.S. Senate. Mrs. Mousa Zumwalt, wife of the Democratic candidate and daughter Ann Zumwalt, visited two weeks ago, the campus, to discuss the Zumwalt Senate campaign with students.

It is now time that we look at the Zumwalt record and begin comparing it to that of Zumwalt's opponent, incumbent Senator Harry Byrd, Jr., an Independent.

Zumwalt was the youngest Four Star Admiral and the youngest Chief of Naval Operations in history. He graduated from Annapolis in 1939 with honors. Zumwalt earned four separate commands at sea and held key positions in the Department of Defense, executive assistant to the Secretary of the Navy. During his career he was awarded 49 decorations, including three Distinguished Service Medals, the Bronze Star and the Legion of Merit for outstanding service.

As C.N.O. (Chief of Naval Operations) Zumwalt fought hard to "humanize" the Navy for all who served. He believed that "Equal means exactly that." He used "Z-grams" to uproot longstanding racist practices within the ranks of the Navy. He used "Z-grams" to liberalize Navy rules on dress codes. He became the hero of thousands of low rank Navy personnel across the world. Zumwalt recently finished writing a book about his Navy career called On Watch. Paper back editions will be on campus soon for those interested in the military, foreign affairs, and Washington defense politics.

He is where Democratic candidate Bud Zumwalt stand on the issues of the day:

Energy
Zumwalt believes that our nation should develop a "race to the moon" type energy program. Zumwalt believes that we must double coal production to meet the nation's energy consumption. He believes that we should also turn to solar power. Zumwalt opposes nuclear energy as the answer to our needs. By doubling coal production, Zumwalt believes that our nation would be free from the threat of foreign economic blackmail.

There will also be a spring ring day but gold prices are expected to go up and Bill Stephens, Josten's salesman indicated that it might be wise to go ahead and order now if at all possible. As in the past three years, Josten's will also be offering its regular option of five percent discount or will engrave the buyer's full name in the ring at no extra cost. The ring sales will be conducted in the Post Office area immediately in front of the Highland Cavalier and Outpost offices from 11:00 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Foreign Policy and Defense
Zumwalt challenged the Nixon-Kissinger system of conducting foreign policy for misguided political reasons and criticized their lack of faith in the American people. In 1975 Zumwalt was asked to testify before the Congressional Committee on Intelligence where he charged Secretary of State Kissinger with misleading President Ford and the American people on issues vital to American national security. Documents later released by the Intelligence Committee proved Zumwalt's charges against Kissinger to be true.

In 1963, Zumwalt warned against U.S. involvement in a land war in Vietnam. He was a critic of the "no win" tactics that wasted American lives in a war we were not fighting to win. And he was instrumental in the developing of plans that finally brought American men home from Vietnam.

Zumwalt is a vigorous supporter of a stronger defense posture so that we can insure peace through a strong security. Zumwalt would oppose a decrease in military spending.

Crime and Gun Control
Zumwalt believes that the judicial system must be strengthened. He would begin with minimum mandatory sentences for serious crimes. He favors a mandatory jail term for the use of a gun in the commission of a felony. Zumwalt is opposed to any federal regulation of guns. He opposes es banning the "Saturday-Night Special."

Environment
Zumwalt has been a strong critic of Senators Harry Byrd and William Scott of Virginia for failing to take action to assist those areas affected by Kepone in the Tide-water area. Zumwalt has set a Task Force to work now to help Kepone victim through "Emergency legislation" in the Senate. Zumwalt was on Capitol Hill this past week meeting with Senators and Congressmen for federal assistance.

Debate
Democratic candidate Elmo Zumwalt challenged Independent Senator Harry Byrd to debate the issues with him on statewide television. Byrd has to this point refused to debate Zumwalt. Zumwalt will again issue the challenge for Byrd to debate with him as the "Presidential debates continue."

Campaign
Many political pros do not give Zumwalt the winning edge. However, many are not taking a second look at the Zumwalt campaign. With Carter carrying Virginia with a healthy margin, Zumwalt could get a coalfield effect on his campaign as did Bill Scott's Senate race with the Richard Nixon landslide in 1972. Byrd will be required to poll 300,000 more votes over his 1970 race to assure a victory over Zumwalt. One thing is certain, Zumwalt is tightening the gap between the two, day by day.

Citizens Group Seeks Stronger Reclamation Standards

By Frank Kilgore

The House Mining and Mineral Resources Committee of the Virginia House of Delegates will hold a public hearing on Sept. 30 at 10:00 a.m. in the CVC Drama Building. The hearing will concern three held-over House bills that could have a noticeable effect upon Virginia's surface-mine reclamation program.

One bill which is being considered (Senate Bill 347) would substantially increase the amount that surface-mine operators must pay for a strip-mine permit. The present permit fee in Virginia is one of the lowest in the nation and some state agencies notably the Division of Mined Land Reclamation, feels that the lack of adequate funding because of this low fee is one of the basic reasons that Virginia's reclamation program has fallen so far behind in effectiveness as compared to other coal producing states.

Another proposal, House Bill 1091, is a major piece of legislation which, if passed, would merge the Division of Mined Land Reclamation (which is within the Dept. of Conservation and Economic Development) and the Division of Mines and Quarries (which is within the Dept. of Labor and Industries) in the name of financial frugality. The bill also proposes the exclusion of Conservation figures this provision would allow about 10 percent of lightly erodible stripped materials to remain unreclaimed.

A citizen's group, the Va. Citizens for Better Reclamation, Inc., has expressed interest in these bills and an overall improvement in Virginia's reclamation and public safety laws. This group of about 125 Virginia citizens (mostly S.V. Virginians) have made it their goal to improve Virginia's mining laws without causing unemployment. The V.C.B.R. membership is made up of coal miners, home-makers, students, educators, retirees, business people, clergymen, doctors, lawyers-anyone interested in seeing Va. become a national leader in safe and sound mining practices. To date, more than 25 of VCBR's members have been directly affected by irresponsible mining practices.

If you see a need for improving Va.'s mining program and also feel that jobs are equally important then you can join VCBR's efforts by contacting their co-chairman, Frank Kilgore, at CVC Box 682.

Prominent Americans Suggest Books, Provide Unusual Exhibit For Wise Library

Wise County's Public Library has a history of offering programs and displays in the public interest. In fact, some past displays enjoyed in our own library were taken from the Wise County Library which, through an inspired exercise in the public interest, has given us something to think about.

Theda Gibson, Wise County Librarian, asked prominent Americans to give her the title of one or more good books they have read so she might put them on display for the public. Who are prominent Americans? Angie Dickenson, Leon Jaworski and O.J. Simpson to name only three of the many who actually responded. And the responses are very interested and well worth the visit.

Alan Alda, star of the Mash series, responded in this manner, "There are a few books over the years that have given me a lot of pleasure ... because every once in a while they'll flash into my head and provide a little insight at the moment. Some books that have stuck with me are ... Any and all of Mark Twain, especially Life on the Mississippi, which has a section on ... how the river keeps changing, which is the best description I've ever heard of how you have to adjust to changes in you life. Letting Go by Phillip Roth, which is about the most difficult moments in our life ... and Partney's Complaint, where we say hello to ourselves ... and Moby Dick - the greatest Jaws of all time."

Jimmy Carter (who?) sent a list of his favorite books among which are War and Peace, Presidential Character, Let Us Now Praise Famous Men, and The Making of a President. Go on up to the library in Wise and see what these famous people are reading.
