No Classes Friday! Faculty Retreat Scheduled

by Bruce Gibson
Faculty Retreat has been scheduled for Friday and Saturday, September 26 and 27 at the Breaks Interstate Park. The retreat provides an opportunity for administration and students to meet in a relaxed atmosphere to get to know better and to address some of the issues which the faculty feels are important. Three issues are to be discussed this year with a committee leading each discussion. Discussion will be focused on the Student Honor Code, Review of General Education Requirements, and class attendance policy. The retreat will differ from last year's in that an outside guest will not be brought in to lead the discussion. An "in-house" retreat is planned this year. Recommendations pertaining to each topic are to be suggested and discussed, and then placed in the correct committees for consideration after returning to CVC.

This is the fourth retreat held in as many years. Dean Emmett Low, whose Dean's Fund is financing the retreat, said "I think the past retreats have been quite worthwhile." The fact that classes are cancelled so that students and faculty can attend shows the importance placed on the retreat.

"This retreat gives faculty an opportunity to look at the college and try to perceive those changes that would help make CVC a better place for students." Dean Low also added that the retreat breaks the daily process that might hinder faculty and students from applying their total self to improving CVC.

In addition to faculty, fifteen or sixteen students will attend the retreat. Each division recommends two members to attend: Ray Russ, SGA President; Mark Schifflin, Honor Court Chairman; Jerry Kilgore, Editor, Highland Cavalier; and other students representative to the student body will also be invited.

SGA Approves Budget 5-4

By Jerry Kilgore
The SGA approved an altered budget submitted by Ray Russ by a 5-4 vote. Russ voted when the council split 4-4 and achieved approval for the 1980-81 Budget. Council members voting for the budget were Judy Cole, Mark King, Mark Cronin, and Steve Lovell. Casting a vote against the budget were Rick Davidson, Bruce Gibson, Terry Kilgore, and Lynden Powers. Present at the meeting to discuss the athletic budget were Doris Hubbard, CVC Women's Basketball Coach, and Dave Bentley, the Men's Basketball Coach. Both made suggestions as to how they would operate under the proposed budget. One must remember that the Athletic Department is currently $7,000 in debt. Coach Bentley noted that only $2,000 of the budget allocated will be used to pay off the debt. The other $5,000 will be paid by the Men's Basketball from gate guarantees from the Division I schools they play. Four thousand will be taken out at first for office expenses and insurance.

ORGANIZATION	BUDGET REQUEST	RECOMMEND
SIGMA ZETA	600	0
OUTPOST	6,841	7,000
INTRAMURALS	1,974	1,100

ATHLETICS	33,000	26,000
SGA	7,000	5,250
TOTAL	74,976	60,000

Therefore, the Athletic department will be working under a budget less than last year's budget. Bentley stated that everyone will be working with 91% of last year's budget. Also, the council approved Allan Chadwell as Sophomore Representative.

The Budget is as follows:

Concert Schedule To Open At J.J.

Pro-Art, a chapter of The Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, opens its concert series with the performance of Rita Noel, mezzo-soprano, and Wolfgang Lendle, guitarist, at Wise's J.J. Kelly Highschool Auditorium on Wednesday, September 24th at 8:00 p.m.
The American singer Rita Noel and the guitarist Wolfgang Lendle first worked together in the production "Shakespeare for Lovers," an evening of scenic recitation with Renaissance songs taken from texts of Shakespeare's plays. This production toured in over thirty European cities. Now, Ms. Noel and Mr. Lendle perform as a duo, presenting authentic voice-guitar works from the Renaissance, Baroque, Classic, Romantic, Nationalist and modern periods.

Rita Noel has sung leading opera roles in many countries. Her concert work includes performances with the Munich Philharmonic, the Berlin Radio Symphony, the German Bach Solists, festivals in Germany, France, and Canada, and recitals in the United States, Austria, Italy, Germany and Turkey. Wolfgang Lendle's background includes study under Andrea Scogiova and R. Sainz de la Maza in Spain. He has won many international competitions and appeared both in solo recitals and as an orchestra soloist throughout Europe.

Wednesday's program will feature selections from John Dowland, John Wilson, Schubert, C.M. von Weber, Bach, Benjamin Britten, Telemann, Stadlermair, and Manuel de Falla. Tickets for those who do not hold a season's subscription, $5.00 for adults and $2.00 for students, are available at the door.

Student Union Building Plans Complete

Bids for the Student Union building were opened on Thursday, September 18 at 2:00 p.m. The apparent low bidder was Days Construction Co., Inc. The Construction Company presented a base bid of $1,582,000. This base bid included the building of both the Student Union Building and the Chapel.

The bid issued for outside and utility work was $146,500 making the total bid $1,667,000. The chapel cost was estimated at $415,000.

The good news is that the company estimated the completion day to be 400 days from the start. The company should begin construction no later than thirty days from award of contract.

The bids submitted by all companies follow:

Contractors	Base Bid	Outside & Utility	Total	Days Completion
	(Both Buildings)	Stover
Armstrong Construction Co.	$1,866,500	$166,500	$1,742,000	475
Days Construction Co.	1,582,000	75,000	1,657,000	400
Prinzel Construction Co.	1,718,000	146,000	1,864,000	438
J. E. Green Company	1,641,500	184,000	1,716,500	450

Plans Underway To Improve Honor System

By Valerie Jones

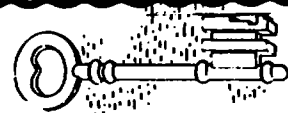

Clinch Valley College operates under the Honor System in order to "insure a position of trust among ourselves, faculty, staff and community - at large." This system has been under question in the past several weeks. But just what is being investigated is a cloudy issue.

The Honor Court itself is not in question. But the system's effectiveness is. It seems the system is not understood by many students. This is where part of the problem lies. Our open meeting was held on Monday and Tuesday of last week where the issues of the system were discussed. Student participation was not high at this meeting but a considerable number of faculty members were present.

Several good ideas were brought up by faculty, and if put in effect, could instate change. A suggestion of enlightening more people on the meaning of the honor system and not the procedures might be a good idea. Dr. Hanson said he would turn over a class period once a month to someone who could lecture on the system itself. This would serve to educate the college community on what the system really is. The hope here is that if more understand the system, maybe it will be used more.

Merely reading the constitution is not enough to understand exactly what it means. It is full of procedures which only serve a purpose if a disheorable action has occurred. The system needs a thorough explanation and this is what the retreat will hopefully accomplish.

A questionnaire is being prepared to give to selected classes to compile ideas for improvement. The idea of making posterboard size signs of the Honor Pledge to place in each classroom was also discussed.

Letters Policy

The Highland Cavalier encourages all persons who wish to express themselves to write a letter to the editor. All letters must be signed to be printed. Names will be withheld by request and at the editor's discretion, however the original letter must be signed. In addition, the editor has the right to edit and/or reject letters that violate the guidelines as set up by the publications committee. Send all letters to Box 1127 by Thursday, 3:00 pm, each week.

NAACP Speaker—

An Analysis

By Randy Edwards
An excellent crowd by CVC standards of 60 attended Tuesday night's lecture by visiting Professor of Political Science at the University of Maryland and regional director of the NAACP, Mr. Emmett Burns. Mr. Burns spoke on the topic, NAACP: The Struggle for Freedom, Justice, and Equality.

Much of Mr. Burns' lecture dealt with statistics. On income, in the 1950's whites were making two times as much money as blacks. In the 1960's blacks began to catch up. In the 1970's they fell back to the point that whites income was 59 percent higher.

In speaking of the state of Virginia, Mr. Burns brought out some other interesting statistics. Of the 250 janitors and maids working for the state government, 249 are black. Of their 55 superiors only 2 are black. In the Department of Highways there are 859 administrative positions, blacks hold only 8 of those positions. Of 921 State Troopers only 32 are black. Attorney General Coleman has 87 lawyers on his staff, 3 are black. At VCU, of 628 faculty there are 9 black. At William & Mary of 371 full time faculty only 2 are black. He had no statistics available on CVC.

Mr. Burns, in proving he was not a man of Harry Byrd Jr. called Byrd a man "misguided by tradition." Mr. Byrd headed a commission to nominate candidates for 4 federal judgeship positions in Virginia. Mr. Byrd's committee came back with a list of 10 white males, saying these were the only ones that were truly qualified. President Carter asked Mr. Byrd to reconsider and include the name of James Edwards Sheffield. Byrd refused because he said that that would constitute affirmative action. Mr. Carter nominated James Edwards Sheffield anyway.

Mr. Burns also stated that America was separating "toward a dual society, heading said unequal." He said we already have "dual economics, dual educational systems, dual judicial systems and dual political systems."

Mr. Burns advocated the use of cross district bussing to attain equal education. He said in Baltimore, Md. 90 percent of the city is black and this is reflected in the suburbs. More whites live in the suburbs, thus better schooling is available there.

In speaking of the dual justice system, Mr. Burns said that it is not justice it is, as Richard Pryor states, "Just Us". He brought on the McDuffy case in Miami as an example of a separate and unequal judicial system. Speaking on politics Mr. Burns advocated the re-election of Jimmy Carter, stating, "The choice is clear. President Carter has done more for our race than many presidents."

and pick up the opportunities without excuse or a crutch. In closing Mr. Burns said whites must help blacks, "What you do for me helps you, what I do for you helps me. Be under no illusion, you will gather to yourself the things you love. Become like that which you love."

Mr. Burns was a fine, eloquent speaker, even as he was attempting to cover up his southern drawl. To me the man had a chip on his shoulder. He seems to blame slavery on this generation of white people as well as the generations before us as stated by his statement, "If I had the power to enslave every white man, woman, and child I could never do it. How could you do it to us!" The NAACP is a fine organization but if this is indicative of their feelings maybe an old fashion house cleaning should be considered.

During his discussion of how many blacks have certain positions he spoke only of numbers not of qualifications. If a black man is qualified that's fine, but if he is not and is hired over someone who is qualified that is not only an injustice to the one who is qualified but also the man who is hired as well as the rest of society.

In speaking of recent court cases that have not resulted in the verdict that popular demand wishes he called this injustice even though during the court hearings no one's rights were violated. The jury reached its decision on the evidence presented. It appears in these cases, especially the McDuffy case that the NAACP only wanted to blame it on someone that was convenient without regard to actual innocence.

For all the great accomplishment of the NAACP, as a song goes "...remembered how to teach but forgot how to learn."

Student Union Building—

A Reality In The Making

The plans for the Student Union Building are under way and by the Spring Semester of 1982 the students will be able to sit in a new lounge, go to the new nurse's office, see a new Highland Cavalier, Outpost, and SGA Office, and eat the grill. And, believe it or not, all of this can be done in one building.

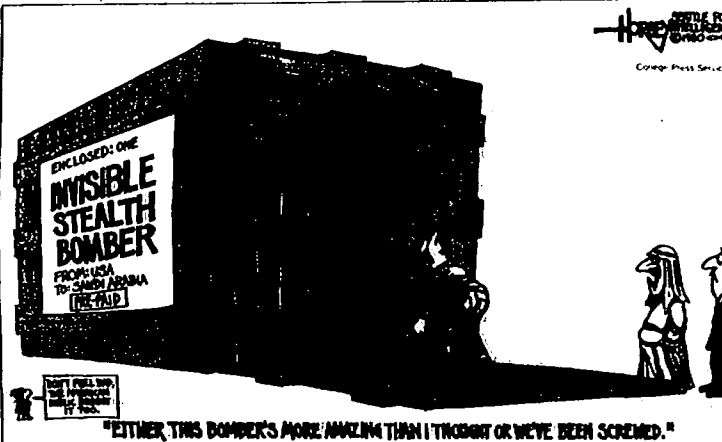

The bids were opened on Thursday, September 19 and work will more than likely begin in thirty days. I would personally like to commend all those that have aided in planning the Student Union Building because I personally believe that life at CVC — both commuter and residential — will benefit from this gesture.

In addition to the Student Union Building, a chapel will be built. It is in my opinion that this, too, is a move forward for CVC. The chapel will be an "All-Faith" Chapel and all students will be welcome to attend.

The chapel also contains dividers so it can be used as a meeting place. This is long overdue at CVC. Organizations that want to have meetings now must wait until the classrooms are no longer being used to schedule such meetings.

In closing, the new building will begin a face-lift for CVC not only in appearance but in student life itself.

Sincerely yours,
Jerry Kilgore, Editor

Did Someone Yell Fire?

by: Val Deskins

Did Someone Yell Fire?

When Joe College came to CVC he noticed a strange red object hanging on the wall across from his room. At the time he did not realize what this way. However, its unique function was revealed to him one night at 12:00 midnight!

That very night Joe was rudely awakened to a noise that sounded like the Apollo 13 moon shot. Joe sat up just in time to see his roommate yell, "Air raid!" and jump under his bed. Joe realized that this was the fire alarm but what was he supposed to do? If he had to get out quickly he wouldn't have time to dress much less read the fire drill procedure manual! He would have left without dressing but he didn't want everybody to know that he slept in pajamas with feet in them. After a moment of indecision he quickly made his way down the stairs and out over the cold wet grass to the parking lot.

"What do we do now?" Joe asked.
"Stand here and have profanities yelled at by the Crocket Rockets, someone suggested."
"This is really stupid. Joe sighed. Why do we have to have fire drills anyway?"

At that moment a man in a forest ranger's uniform stepped up to Joe and said, "Because, son fire presents a constant threat to life and property. Out of control, fire can kill great numbers of persons, and it can destroy on a massive scale. A fire drill is a necessary factor in insuring proper fire prevention and safety to the community." The only thing missing from this speech was a button on his chest that said, "Elect Me Your New Fire Marshall" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" played in the background on a comb and tissue paper.

"It is each person's responsibility," he continued, "to make sure that they are safe from the dangers of fire."

- Are You Safe From Fire?
If you answer yes to four or more of these questions... You may be a fire hazard!
1. Do you store drums of gasoline in your room?
  2. Do you sleep with your blow dryer or curling iron?
  3. Do you operate a still?
  4. Do your lights go out everytime you turn up your stereo?
  5. Do you and your friends have barbecues in your room?
  6. Does your roommate have a chemistry set?

"Hey Joe, someone called, is that your roommate up there?" Joe looked up just in time to see his roommate do a beautiful one and one half twisting summersault in the pike position from their third floor window into the bushes below. Joe quickly rushed over to him.

"Are you all right?" Joe exclaimed.
"Sure I'm fine" his roommate said.

"Why on earth did you do that?" Joe shouted.
"Because a back one and one half summersault in the tuck position wouldn't have worked." he replied.
"Not the dive! Joe yelled. Why did you jump out the window?"
"Because I know the rules for fires," his roommate replied.
"Never try to leave a burning building. It could be dangerous."
3. Only open doors that feel hot. This is so you can keep track of where the fire is.
3. Never crawl on the floor. It is a known fact that fire burns low to the ground.
4. If your clothes are on fire run very fast to put them out, do not roll on the floor because this might burn the carpet.
5. Once you are out, go back into the building and get all the things you couldn't carry out with you the first time."
At that moment the earth shook!!

Aids In Employment

The CVC Placement Office is dedicated to serve students through aid in finding suitable employment. It aids students in reaching decisions for achieving a suitable career through exposures to various work atmospheres.

The Placement Office offers several services. First, they provide a permanent record of each individual's qualifications for presentation to prospective employers. Second, they provide occupational information. Closely associated with this information is an interviewing service with representatives from various places visiting CVC to interview prospective employees. And last, counseling service is provided by the Placement Office.

For the graduating student, the Placement Office should be indispensable. A general meeting of all graduating students is scheduled on October 1 at 8:30 p.m. in A100a. At this meeting specific information about services of the Placement Office is explained. Placement Packets are also provided with instructions for completion and information concerning the principal employers that visit the campus.

For a senior to obtain these services, he should attend the general meeting, carefully read all information, complete a personal data sheet and return it to the Placement Office. He should also read and use "Tips for Interview" that is available in the Placement Office.

In closing, the Placement Office is here to assist students in finding jobs. They do not find students jobs, they assist them.

Memorial Service For Steinmarc and Starnes

There will be a memorial service for Paul L. Steinmarc and Jackie Ray Starnes on Wednesday, October 1, 1980 at 10:30 in room A100. Rather than having the service for Paul and Jackie during the summer, we decided to wait until fall semester since most of the student body and many faculty members were not on campus at the time of the tragedy.

The faculty members of the Division of Professional and Social Sciences are planning to purchase a fossil display case in memory of Dr. Paul L. Steinmarc. Any member of the college community who would like to contribute toward this project should give contributions to Rhonda Stanley, A218, Wanda Mullins, Z121, or Brenda Whiteaker, S118.

Because of the memorial service, on October 1 we will observe the following convocation schedule.

CVC Sets Earlier Observatory Hours

Beginning Wednesday, September 17, the public observing nights at the Clinch Valley College Observatory will be a half hour earlier, from 9:00 to 10:00 P.M. The sessions are held every Wednesday while the College is in session unless weather prevents viewing.

Last Wednesday (September 10) about ten visitors were present to view a nebula, a double star and two planets. Most of the bright, close planets are below the horizon at viewing time this Fall, but the distant planets Uranus and Neptune are both in the sky. They are low in the Southwest. Uranus is visible in a binocular but Neptune only through the telescope. Both were found by Dr. Phil Shelton with the help of accurate sky charts. Uranus appeared as a small greenish disk, while Neptune was a fainter bluish dot. Although not impressive in appearance, it was exciting to see these two very distant objects. Uranus is about 3 billion kilometers from Earth (2 billion miles) and Neptune about 4.5 billion kilometers (3 billion miles). These distances are so great that light, traveling at 300,000 kilometers per second (about 300,000 miles per second) takes over four hours to get from Uranus to our eyes.

In addition to the planets, we also observed the ring nebula in Lyra and a double star in Hercules. The moon, just past new moon, set too early to see but should be well placed for viewing at new open hours, September 17. Visitors should meet in the Science Building Lobby at 9:00 p.m. In case of cancellation due to weather, a notice is placed on the sign in the lobby window.

Rides To Church

This is the last week that "Rides to Church" forms will be distributed through Campus Mail. A supply of forms will be placed on the counter in the Post Office each week. You may still indicate your desire for a ride by completing a form and placing it in the box marked "Rides to Church".

Three area congregations are sending transportation to the campus each Sunday. They are: First Church of God, Wise, St. Anthony Catholic Church, Norton; and Wise Baptist Church. Rides to Sunday School leave from McCrarray Hall between 9:30 and 9:45. Rides to Morning Worship leave around 10:45.

Spicin' Up The Sauce

By Jim Collins, Baptist Campus Minister

I like Richard Milham's phrase of Jesus' words in Matthew 13:33-35. It goes like this, "God's reign among men permeates like a clove of garlic in a fine spaghetti sauce." (Like It Is Today: Paraphrased Parables by Richard Milham, Broadman Press, 1970.) Part of the reason this wording appeals to me is that I am married to a gal who makes one mighty fine spaghetti sauce. Another reason I like it is its appeal to our senses, especially taste. Christians are to be about making life taste good!

Ron Brown is one of those folks who go about spicin' up the sauce of life. A couple of years ago Ron wrote down some of the things that might make life less than spicy for college students. From time to time I've shared them with you. Let's look again at that list with an idea that we can be more effective as spics.

The month of September can bring: "Homesickness, especially for freshmen; Values crisis, questions of conscience over value conflict areas of race, drugs, and alcohol experimentation, morality, religious and social expectations; Feelings of inadequacy and inferiority develop because of the discrepancy between high school status and grades and initial college performance." Perhaps you can think of some other concerns to add to the list. Your sauce or someone's may need a lot of spice right now. Remember that a little bit can mean a whole lot!

Fishing On The Third Floor?

By Tim Howard

While sleeping Wednesday night, I was having the most wonderful dream. Although I don't usually dream about fishing, I thought I was in the middle of a cool trout stream. The water was running swift beneath my feet and it was if I would actually hear the waterfall behind me.

I awakened to a lot of noise in the hall. When I went to the door, I found that part of my dream had come true. Most of the third floor residents of McCrarray Hall men's wing were in the hallway with mops and buckets. It seemed that I really did hear the waterfall because someone had turned on the water outlet in the bathroom and it had run full force for about 15 minutes. Since no one had a key to turn the water off, there was nothing to do but sit and watch. When the water finally was shut off, most of the floor was covered with water. The water was finding its way through cracks and down to the second floor. Light fixtures on the second floor were filled with water.

As I watched everyone down the hall cleaning up the mess, it reminded me of the dream I had earlier, and they were all fishermen lining the banks of a cool trout stream. All holding their fishing poles in hopes of pulling in the big one.

Intramural Softball Gets To First Base

By Mark Schifflin
 The CVC fall softball season finally got under way Sunday the 14th with a full slate of games. Although the day was tarnished by the non-appearance of the Athletics, the defending champs, there was plenty of good play with a minimum of controversy. This last fact can be attributed to both Charles Engle and Dean Lee who were at every game Sunday and during the week. Their presence was a big factor in keeping the games under control. On the playing field itself, there were several surprises. Both fraternity teams, the Phi Sigma and the Pi Kappa, stumbled from the start. The Athletics were extended to limit on Monday, winning 5-1 over the Phi Sigma to keep their regular season winning streak alive, a streak they extended further with a 16-6 win over the Pi Kappa. But the biggest surprise of all was the play of the Barbarians, a team made up mostly of freshman and seniors. The Barbarians beat the Phi Sigma 9-6, the Pi Kappa 14-7, and the Tigers (A team that has been here longer than I have) 8-6.

As this was going to press the Barbarians were about to play the Athletics in the first "big game" of the season. A Barbarian win would give them a 6-0 record with only 4 games to play.

Of course the new season was not without it's problems. Dean Lee was screaming bloody murder over his budget being chopped by Ray Ross. This Phi Sigma hit into their second triple play in two years, which may be a world record for six-pitch intramural softball. And the umpiring, while not terrible, still left much to be desired. But for all that, the season has not had any more major problems which may

Soccer Team Has First Team

By Cindy Saylor
 A new sport has been introduced to Clinch Valley College... a sport in which one uses his head physically as well as mentally, and where one has to have a special position to touch the ball with his hands. The sport is soccer. Fancy footwork, stamina, and team work are three important factors that develop a good soccer team. Eric Wagner, an All-American soccer player of Lynchburg College, is the organizer of the CVC team. Economics professor Pete Yun participates as player-coach. The club team is comprised predominately of CVC students. Participants are Charlie Cox, Steve Rosale, Mohammad Kayn from Bangladesh, Cengiz Volkan from Crete, and Alobe Greene from Nigeria. Also Reggie Bryant, Brad Miller, Mike Lyons, and Mark Cronia. Opening their season with an organizational scrimmage with

King College, the CVC soccer team went down 8-0. Last Wednesday, CVC traveled to Emory & Henry and lost 7-2, although CVC scored the opening goal. CVC will host Emory & Henry on September 25. Wagner comments, "Anyone interested in playing soccer, experienced or otherwise, is welcomed to participate." He wants to "impress the people that we're playing and have a schedule; we're serious."

Cheerleading Squad Chosen

By Cindy Saylor
 "We're going to make a positive effort to improve the squad in order to cheer the Cavalier basketball team on to a winning season," commented Cavalier cheerleading captain Diane Davidson on the organization of the 1980-81 cheerleaders. Tryouts were held Monday, September 15. Those making the squad are 1979-80 returnees Diane Davidson, Deidre Culbertson, Minnie Gillenwater, Roslynn Jackson, and Marnita Zander. A co-captain will be selected by the squad in the near future. In the tryouts each girl was required to do one original cheer, one group cheer and two sideline cheers. "We're excited about starting the season and ready to encourage and increase in the attendance at the ball games, and arouse the spirit and enthusiasm of the school and community. I feel each cheerleader chosen has the competence necessary to accomplish our goal," concludes Davidson.
