Educational Forum Held At CVC

By Jerry Kilgore

On Wednesday, December 3, an Educational Forum was held on the Campus of CVC. "Education, Energy and Legislation" was chosen as the theme of the 2nd Annual Forum. According to Dean Emmett Low, "The Forum was started to get the different educational systems in the area together. It would also provide a vehicle through which the educators can communicate and dress collectively." Education leaders from CVC, Mountain Empire Community College and Wise County-City of Norton Public Schools joined in sponsoring the Forum.

Concerning the theme, Low said, "Energy is one of the most serious problems facing our county. It is particularly important in Southwest Virginia because the people are both consumers and producers. The cost of energy is an important facet of education because it causes fewer funds to be available for educational institutions and students, especially commuter students. However, if the coal economy picks up it will cause more money for educational facilities, an increase in job opportunities and an increase in family income."

Several prominent speakers were present at the Forum. Lt. Gov. Charles S. Robb served as moderator for the entire Forum. Other guest speakers included Dr. Richard A. Wolfe, Vice President of Research and Development--United Coal Company; State Senator Ray L. Garland, member of Virginia General Assembly from Roanoke; and Dr. James H. Hinson, Jr., Chancellor, Virginia Community College System.

The Forum was divided into four sessions. In the first session Dr. Wolfe spoke on "The Importance of Coal Research on Future Educational Curriculum."

Continuing, The Honorable Ray L. Garland, in Session II, spoke on the "Basic Purposes and Principles of Education." Following Session II a buffet dinner was served at the Wise County Vocational School where Session III and IV took place.

During Session III Dr. Hinson spoke to the audience on "The Role of the Community College in Energy Conservation." The Forum entitled "Education, Energy and Legislation" in Session IV concluded the program with Dr. Graham as president with Lt. Gov. Charles S. Robb as Moderator. The Panel consisted of Sen. Garland, Dr. Hinson and Dr. Wolfe.

Commenting on the Forum, Low said, "It was very successful. More people attended the Forum this year than last which hopefully means that more educators are taking a concern in trying to solve our current education problems."

Now here's a group of . . . But we don't know what of:

Morris — Special Services Counselor

By Betty Smith

Ann Morris has assumed the position of Special Services counselor at CVC. She will provide career, academic and personal guidance for Special Services students who qualify financially or academically. For the tutorial program she will secure tutors from among the CVC student body and match their skills to the needs of students who apply for academic help. Morris also will plan trips and cultural activities for Special Services students.

She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Education from the University of South Florida. She has previously been employed by the Lee County School System, teaching at both the elementary and high school levels. Morris is presently working toward the completion of her Masters degree in Guidance and counseling at East Tennessee State University. She is conducting research for her thesis at Norton Elementary School.

Morris resides in Powell Valley with her husband, Neil, and eight month old daughter. Her favorite hobbies are tennis and doing genealogical research. At the present time, she is researching the history of both her family and her husband's family.

When asked for her opinion of CVC, Morris replied, "Everyone is very friendly and the staff members are very cooperative. I am really looking forward to working here and I think that I'll enjoy it."

Culture Quiz

Context taken from Sunday Style. We hear a lot about the state of cultural affairs in our universe, and much discussion about the quality of the education our children receive in the basics of literary knowledge.

Sandy Sanderson, a journalism instructor at the University of South Florida, decided to test his students' cultural acumen.

He gave them a culture quiz in which he asked the students to identify many well-known works of art. And most of them failed miserably, answering only an average of 20 of the 100 questions correctly.

Are the results indicative of something?

Sanderson thinks so. "Boy, oh boy, they are just not readers," he said of his students. "I was quite disappointed. I'm sort of appalled at the lack of reading and the lack of knowledge of liberal arts."

He said because of the test results he will change his approach to teaching by encouraging more students to take American and British literature courses, and more humanities courses.

Sanderson's test follows. In each instance, the answer to the question is the author, artist or composer who created the particular work.

Who wrote, composed or created the following:

1. The Star Spangled Banner
2. Gone With The Wind

International Student — Cengiz Volkan

By Valeri Jones

The week the Highland Cavalier will focus on Cengiz Volkan, an International Student from Cyprus. This is Cengiz's second semester of his freshman year.

Cengiz's teachers told him about the University of Virginia when he thought about colleges. In U. Va.'s catalogue he saw information on Clinch Valley and decided to come here because the tuition was much lower than other schools. At CVC, Cengiz is studying chemistry. His wanting to major in chemistry was one reason for his coming to the United States to study. In his country, the majors at the universities were only the basic ones.

Cengiz attended a high school in Cyprus that was subsidized by the British government. The courses were basically English. He plans to attend CVC for four years and then attend graduate school at U. Va.

There are cultural differences which Cengiz notes. Mainly how people view things. The friendly atmosphere of CVC is what first impressed Cengiz. "Americans are really interested in my country and how different it is from theirs."

Cengiz has not been home in a year but he plans to go home for Christmas.

Cengiz feels "CVC is a good school and I really like it here. It isn't that tough for me, because I had a really tough high school. I like CVC's system."

A couple of clubs which Cengiz belongs to include the International Club, the Soccer Club, BSU and he plays volleyball in intramurals.

Spring 1981 Registration Plans

The Fall Semester is fast approaching its conclusion and it is time to prepare for a fresh new start next semester. The schedule of classes for the Spring 1981 Semester is available TODAY, December 1st, from the Registrar's Office, any faculty secretary's office, or the office of the College Receptionist. All courses are listed alphabetically and detailed information as to room assignments, prerequisites, instructors, etc., is included.

Students should meet with their advisors and plan their spring schedules at their earliest convenience. Once the student has completed the necessary forms and submitted them to the Registrar's Office, the student's name is on the rolls of the requested classes and will remain there until a change card is submitted or the student fails to pay his fees on time.

Those students completing schedules before the end of this semester will only need to pay fees to complete the registration process.

Payment of Fees: All students should plan to pay their fees on Monday, January 19 or Tuesday, January 20 according to the following plan if possible:

January 19 (Monday)		January 20 (Tuesday)
LAST NAME	TIME	LAST NAME	TIME

Scholarships To Students Of Italian Descent

Attenzione Magazine and the University of Siena, located in the Tuscany region of Italy, in cooperation with Alitalia Airlines, offers ten summer scholarships to American students of Italian descent who have an interest in furthering their knowledge of Italian art, culture and language. The University of Siena is one of the oldest Italian universities.

Scholarships include economy air transportation round trip between New York and Rome; boarding and lodging for the duration of the scholarship; a program of summer studies at the University of Siena; and a certificate attesting to satisfactory completion of the special program of study.

Persons eligible are full-time junior students who are enrolled at a four-year college in the United States as of November 30, 1980. They must be of Italian descent on either side of the family and must not have reached their 24th birthday by December 31, 1980. Nominations must be made by Chancellor Smiddy for Clinch Valley College students.

For further information or to obtain an application form, see Sharon Daniels in Room 237 of the Administration Building.

Continuing Education

By Tim Howard

The department of Continuing Education is sometimes overlooked here at CVC. The department is headed by Winston Ely.

Continuing education serves the needs of the older people in the surrounding area that are already out of school but just need some refresher courses. It also helps school teachers, as they can take refresher courses through the continuing education program. Without this program it would be much harder for these school teachers to remain certified. It also helps commuters, enabling them to take a course through continuing education keeping them from having to drive to school five days a week.

Clinch Valley teaches upper level classes, 300 and 400 classes. Smaller colleges teach as Mountain Empire teach 100-200 classes and larger schools such as the University of Virginia teach graduate school classes.

Pi Kappa News

On Monday, December 8th the brothers of Pi Kappa Phi (yes those Greek boys who grace your collegiate lives with the best of entertainment) will sponsor a private end-of-the-semester blow-out bash at Norton's one and only Dance Factory. This one of a kind affair is opened to all students, faculty, and guests and will start at 9:00 and continue until...

Admission will be a minimal investment of $2.00 for a maximum gain ($200!). Should transportation to Norton present a problem contact one of the brothers—you should know us by now.

Students are encouraged to attend their what else do you

On Finishing Up

By Jim Colie, Baptist Campus Minister

"Exam. You. "Arghh!" You shout. Can you make it through the final laps of the Semester Grand Prix? Or will you blow your engine. The temperature gauge is moving quickly to the hot side and the pressure gauge needle is about to come loose. Take a brief "pit stop" and consider these words of the Apostle Paul. "...I leave the past behind and with hands outstretched to whatever lies ahead I go straight for the goal-my reward the honour of my high calling by God in Christ Jesus." (Philippians 3:13-14 J.B. Phillips.) These words are intended to give encouragement in living. Perhaps they can encourage us and help us finish the semester, too. One of the keys here is forgetting past failure. We don't need to carry that baggage any farther. The same might be true of coasting through on past success. A second key is in the "hands outstretched" approach. This is more than just good running form. Life, and learning, requires reaching out, stretching out. It's that good feeling after you've pulled an all-nighter, but got the work done. Now all-nighters are only good for a short duration. Maybe now is the time to make good on your resolve to get the old study habits in shape. Do you get the picture? The semester isn't over! There's still much to be learned. It can be exciting and challenging. Take a tip from Paul on finishing up.

Do Not Give Up

By Warren H. Wattenbarger, Campus Minister, Wesley Foundation
Alexandra Pope wrote, "Some people never learn anything because they understand everything too soon." That is a very nice way of saying, "It is hard to tell a person who knows everything very much."

Sidney Smith put it in a little story called "Drive On". The best advice to the young person just setting out in the world is to "drive on." In other words, live energetically. Whatever you undertake, do it with a will, and do it well. Do it as far as possible in the completest manner. In this way alone can an efficient useful and successful career be accomplished.

Do not be reckless, but keep digging always bearing in mind to do nothing dishonorable. Do not whine, it is of no use, for life is pretty much as you take it and make it. Do not sit down and give up at a little set back, but pitch in, "drive on" and you will come out all right in the end. It may be a long way, but perseverance will be sure to bring you out successfully. Success is the results of hard work and perseverance. Have a Merry Christ and a Happy New Year.

Class In Irish Studies At C.V.C., Spring Semester, 1981

A class in Irish Studies will be offered on Wednesday evenings, 7:00-9:30 p.m., during the Spring Semester, 1981, on the C.V.C. campus. The class will be listed as follows: Humanities 195-395, Special Topics in the Humanities: Irish Studies.

The class will include various aspects of the history, geography, culture, art, drama, poetry, Novel, etc., of Ireland, and will in effect be the second half of the course taught in the Fall of 1979.

Michael E. O'Donnell, C.V.C. faculty member, will teach the class. For further information, please see him in the C.V.C. Administration Building Room 224, or telephone 328-2431, ext. 263.

Latin America Course Offered

A course on Latin American will be offered during the spring semester at C.V.C. This course will study the unique features of the Amerindian cultures, born and developed in isolation from the rest of the world; their downfall and spectacular conquest by the Spaniards; the settlement of the New World by the Berberians, and the contribution of the Africans to the new nations. Also studied will be the bitter wars of independence and the present problems and future development of a region stretching from the Rio Grande to the Antarctic with a population of more than three hundred million people.

Audio-visual aids will be frequently used to supplement the lectures and class discussions.

The course will be taught by Professor Portuondo on Mondays, 7:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in room 211 in the Zehner Building.

Campus Housing Residents

CAMPUS HOUSING RESIDENTS: If you will not be returning for the Spring Semester, please go by the housing office and inform them of this. Spring housing assignments have to be made soon and this information needs to be in no later than December 12 at 4:30. Your cooperation is appreciated.

Christmas Concert

The College-Community Choir reminds you to mark December 14 on your calendar to ensure that you do not miss their annual Christmas concert. It will be held 3:00 p.m. on that date at the Norton Methodist Church. The Choir is directed by Michael Donathan.

Volunteers Needed

There is a need for student volunteers to work at the Wise Hospital. Any student that is interested in doing volunteer work at the hospital should call Sam Butterworth, President of Volunteer Auxiliary, phone number 328-5325.

Attention Students:

We have received information for seasonal employment at Seashore State Park in Virginia Beach, VA. There are several positions you can apply for. For more information, please come by the Placement Office, Room A 238 or A 229.

Students Need Place To Stay

Several foreign students do not have a place to stay during the Christmas vacation. If you can help, please contact Mr. Portuondo, Box 125, in the Administration Building.

Computer Course To Be Taught

The "Introduction to Computers" course (in the BASIC language) will be taught during the January intersession (between New Year's and the beginning of the spring session). Contact the Office of Continuing Education or Dr. Hooper for details.

Water Safety Class

Anyone interested in taking a class in Water Safety Instruction (prerequisite: a current Advanced Life-Saving Certificate) in the Spring semester, 1981, please contact M. O'Donnell, Adm. Building, 2nd floor.

Metrics Taught In Spring

A short 1-credit course in the metric system will be offered in the spring 1981 semester. It is intended to introduce the metric system to people as consumers. It is also useful to teachers and prospective teachers who need to be familiar with the metrics to teach it in the public schools. The course meets twice a week for the first half of the semester.

Reward

Reward offered for the return of a 24" x 30" leather carving of an eagle that was taken from my truck. Contact Janie Hale, Box 873.

HOW GREEN WAS MY VALLEY (1941)

Producer: Darryl F. Zanuck
Director: John Ford
Cast: Walter Pidgeon, Sara Algood, Rocky McDaniel, Donald Crisp, Maureen O'Hara
112 minutes 1941
H/W
With gentle humor and melancholy pathos, John Ford details the slow and tragic disintegration of a Welsh mining family, contrasting the natural beauties against harsh realities of the valley in which they lived. This Academy Award-winning film version of Richard Llewellyn's novel is one of Ford's most moving family studies.
"Has a quality and distinction that ranks it as a best in any season in any country."

Georgia On My Mind

By: Mark Schifflin

Dateline Atlanta--Frrring!!! As I looked over towards my right, fighting to keep the sleep out of my eyes, I saw my alarm clock register 5:30 a.m. The room was dark, the sun was an hour from rising, but my dad had already begun. It was time to head for Atlanta with the CVC men's basketball team on their first overnight trip of the year.

The Cavaliers were off to play the Georgia State Panthers and despite being solid underdogs were in high spirits. But somehow I had the feeling that day wouldn't turn out quite right when I ran into the wall trying to turn on the lights. It was the first of a series of off-the-wall little incidents that were to turn our routine trip into a real adventure.

First off, after stuffing to the showers, I found a pair of CVC basketballers asleep under the shower heads. One would think that one could find an empty shower stall at 5:45 in the morning during a Thanksgiving break. It wasn't the first time I'd miscalculate on the day.

When I finally got my act together and arrived at the gym (the last one there) I found everyone standing in front of the gym, slowly freezing to death. Where was Coach Bentley? Jack Gibbs finally let everyone in but Coach Bentley was no where in sight. Departure time was scheduled at 6:30 and it was already 6:25.

When the coach finally arrived it was past seven. Wearing an embarrassed grin, he immediately got everyone on the move and before long the four vehicles were loaded and ready to go. This didn't stop Wayne Stewart from calculating the number of sprints coaches would have to run for being late. The final tally was 31, one for each minute late past 6:30.

So we were finally off. I had managed to obtain an advantageous position in the front seat of the station wagon while Mark Mullins, Joe Hoskins and Mike Hoskins, averaging 6'5", had to cramp in the back. At 7:15 we were off to Knoxville, the first leg in our journey.

Arriving at Knoxville we were treated to our first meal of the day. Despite grumbling over the quality of breakfast (Burger Queen), it was hard to complain as everything was paid for. This was followed by a lively argument in the parking lot between Gibbs and Mullins over the right to chew tobacco in the car. Gibbs won the argument but Mullins won the war; he merely sneaked it the rest of the way.

We eventually crossed the Georgia state line. To my dismay (I'd never been to Georgia) the place looked no different than Tennessee or Virginia. When I rolled the window down to sample the climate I was greeted by a gust of wind no lighter than it had been in Wise. My consternation increased when I was informed that Atlanta was no warmer in the winter than Kingsport and that the nice mild climate was another 4 hours drive south.

After what seemed to be forever, we arrived at our hotel. The place was on a four lane in the midst of several restaurants, but was several miles from the heart of Atlanta. I stumbled into my room with my roommates Barry Hamker and Enos Reilly thinking the worst part of the day was over. Little did I know.

An hour later, it was time to go to the gym. As I was dressing I discovered that my tie was 350 miles away. This fact was soon called to my attention by Coach, despite my effort to hide my appearance. Then when we got to the gym I found out that our clipboards were in the same place the tie was.

Coach was not in very good humor after hearing this, so Enos and myself went back to the parking lot to look for something to use instead of the clipboards. When we got there it was pitch dark and I started to see things. We both ran across the lot and up to the lockerroom, out of breath and feeling slightly shaky.

The game itself was a relief from all the moving we'd been doing, as I finally got to sit down. The Cavs played well for being on the road all day but couldn't shoot well enough to match the Panthers, who triumphed 74-60. The trip back was rather uneventful, but I'd already had enough. It was both tiring and fun and it was too bad we couldn't stay an extra day or I'd really had something to write about.

Feature— Athlete Of The Month

Mike Hoskins

By Cindy Saylor

Mike Hoskins, a sophomore of Falmouth, Kentucky is the basketball player featured this week. Mike, who hails from Pendleton High School where he averaged 16 points per game, is now averaging 12.8 points per game and 6.8 rebounds per game.

The 6'3" post player feels that the one of the differences between this season and last season is the "much better offensive patterns and the team's learning more knowledge of how to play defense."

"I think his (Coach Bentley) theory of the game is excellent. He expects alot--he expects the best. I believe he is getting the best from some of the players."

Hoskins who scored 10.4 ppg and 4.8 rpg last season is now holding ninth in rebounds and tenth in scoring in the KIAC leadership ranks. "The new coaching and season hasn't really affected my style of play, although it has more or less complimented my play."

Hoskins feels that another big difference in the last season and this season is the defensive play. "It shows alot for the team when they can have 3 or 4 players in double figures."

In defensive play, Hoskins reveals the feeling that his "asset to the team at the moment is the pressure I apply on the 2-2-1 press, which has helped us get alot of steals and easy baskets."

The Cavalier team is now 4-4 and the outlook still looks good. At this time Clinch Valley College is playing better basketball than the Fred B. Greener Gym has ever seen -- at least the few fans and supporters think so.

Cavs Win Two In A Row

By Mark Schifflin

The Clinch Valley Cavaliers soared to the top of the KIAC with a pair of victims last week, 79-64 over Alice Lloyd and 79-63 over Union. The win over Union evened their overall mark at 4-4 and upped their conference record to 2-1.

Both games were carbon copies of each other as CVC took control early, rolled up big halftime leads, faltered a bit in the second half and ended up with big wins. The key in both games was the vicious full court press that has become CVC's biggest weapon. The Cavaliers also unleashed a secret weapon, newcomer Tony Kolb who combined for 39 points in the two wins.

The Cavalier's leading scorer, Barry Hamker, fell below his average in both games but more than make up for it with his work on the press and on the boards. Mike Hoskins and State Smith controlled the inside game and guards David Lumpkins and Wayne Stewart ran the show expertly. The bench got some experience that could be valuable later.

The crowds for both games were disappointing but with bouts in a row to cheer at maybe the crowd will be large and vocal when CVC plays Pikeville tonight in a game that could show just how good our team really is.

CVC Players Lead Ranks

CVC has a host of players joining the KIAC leadership ranks. Senior post State Smith is seventh of the top KIAC rebounders. Smith averages 8.3 pulls per game. Sophomore post Mike Hoskins fits in ninth with 6.8 rebounds and 10th in the KIAC in scoring on a 12.8 average. Wayne Stewart, CVC's senior point guard, is third among the KIAC's backcourtmen with a 5.0 assist average.
