

Campus Housing Revisions Reinforce Handbook

The Office of Campus Housing has announced revisions in the Single and Married Student Resident Handbook which will be effective immediately. The revisions deal mainly with room inspections and outside parties on campus.

The revisions on inspections were issued mainly to reinforce the Handbook. Room inspections may be made any time and the residents do not have to be present. Charlie Engle, the Director of Campus Housing stated the reason for this reinforcement as being flagrant violations of regulations. "The students are openly violating the prohibited possessions section. We're not looking for anything in these inspections, but if it's there, action will be taken." The prohibited possessions section in the Handbook lists such items as being firearms, explosives, cooking appliances, television antennas, illegal drugs and narcotics, ammunition and electrical appliances. Other items listed include exterior radio aerials, cross bows, pets, firecrackers, air conditioners and hunting bows. Failure to read the Student Handbook is the cause of most of the violations.

The other action which has alcoholic beverages and outside parties. Kegs of beer will no longer be allowed in campus and housing facilities. The reason for this is kegs usually end up outside. The noise builds and the parties tend to get out of hand. Permission from Dean Blosser is required for kegs to be in frat houses. Failure to comply with this results in dismissal from Campus Housing.

There will also be no outside parties in Campus Housing without the written consent of the Director of Housing, Chief of Campus Security and the Dean of Students. If permission is granted for these parties, they cannot exceed a 2½ hour time limit. All outside parties will end at 12:00 midnight whether the 2½ hour has expired or not.

Engle wished to remind students that certain things can be appealed to the Housing Appeals Board. Instructions on how to appeal can be found in the Handbook.

SGA Sets Budget Meeting Tonight

Terry Kilgore started the first 1981 meeting by passing out resignation sheets to each council member. Kilgore stated, "Whenever you feel like you don't want to work on SGA sponsored activities, simply fill out the sheet and I'll find someone who wants to work."

Following Kilgore's opening, Kim Still, SGA treasurer reported that the SGA finished the 1980-81 year $44.16 in the red.

Next, the council set the budget meeting for tonight at 5:30 p.m. Kilgore reviews each organization's request and proceeds to recommend an amount to the council for approval. Finally, the SGA approved budget goes to the Finance Committee, a Faculty Standing Committee, for final review.

However, one organization had sent in its proposed 1981-82 budget. The Athletic Department requested $42,000 as opposed to the $28,000 they were awarded last year. The total amount of funds the SGA has to appropriate is $45,000. The Athletic Budget was sent back for further detail.

In final action, the council voted to hold freshmen elections for representatives to the SGA and Honor Court on September 17 from 8:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Again, the next council meeting is tonight at 5:30 p.m.

Biology Seminar Today

Clyde Sweet, newest member of the Science faculty, will give the first Biology Seminar on Monday, 31 August 1981. The title of the Seminar is "Effects of Air Pollutants on Plants."

Phytotoxic air pollutants are a significant stress factor for many plants important in agriculture and forestry. In this seminar, pollutant sources, atmospheric transport, specific phytotoxic effects and the role of vegetation in improving air quality will be discussed.

Dr. Sweet joined the faculty this fall as Assistant Professor of Chemistry and he will be contributing as well to the Environmental Science program. He holds a Ph.D. in Biochemistry from Case Western Reserve University and a Master's in Natural Resources from the University of Michigan. He has worked in industry for Tennessee Eastman and has done research on radioactive waste disposal for the Savannah River Laboratory in Aiken, South Carolina.

Biology Seminar meets weekly for presentations and discussions by students, faculty and guest speakers. Interested persons are welcome to attend. Meetings are in the Science Lecture Hall at 4:30 p.m.

Sweet Joins CVC Staff

Dr. Clyde Sweet has joined the CVC faculty instructing Chemistry, environmental science, and some biology. Sweet has taught before at a large college and felt that he would like to teach at a small college. Sweet said, "At a small college you get to know the students in addition to the informal atmosphere."

Sweet's first impression was that the area around CVC was physically attractive. Also, he felt that the students seem to be interested in classes and on-campus about classes.

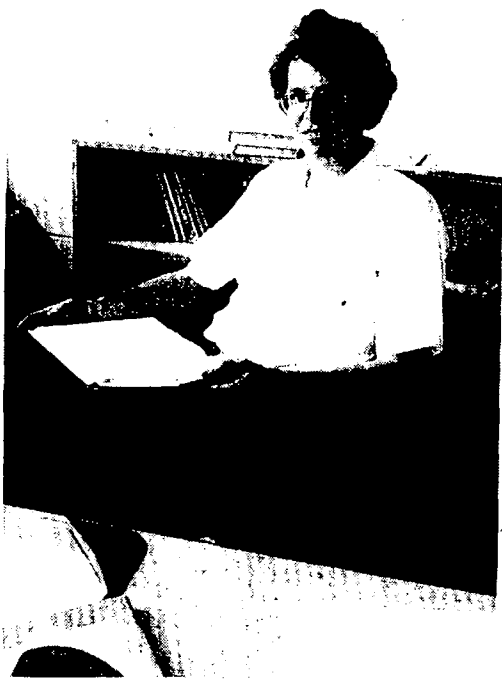

Concerning strip mining, Sweet stated, "I don't necessarily like the idea, but it appears to be a necessary evil. Scientifically, it provides for great research for scientists as well as offering challenges with reclamation."

Sweet's background includes a B.S. from the University of Toledo, a M.S. in Natural Resources from the University of Michigan and a Ph.D. in Biochemistry from Case Western Reserve University. Sweet has worked as a chemist at Tennessee Eastman Company and Sun Oil Company. For the past three years, Sweet has worked as a research chemist at Savannah River Laboratory in South Carolina. Sweet taught at recreation such as hiking, camping, and skiing. Sweet resides on sking row.

Support Referendum

At the end of last semester the students of Clinch Valley College voted in a referendum to ban smoking in the classrooms. Since then, nothing has been said or done to uphold or go against the vote in the referendum. The faculty and students of CVC should uphold the vote and enforce the no smoking rule in the classrooms. This rule is a result of a majority vote of the student body and should be upheld because of all the hard work which was put into the effort by SGA members. The student body voiced its opinion in the referendum and if the vote is ignored, the students are losing their right to voice their opinions.

Sincerely,
Jerry Kilgore, Editor

"Sesquipedalian Obfuscations"

By Val Deskins
Every year many people go to a lot of trouble to prepare the Clinch Valley College Fall Schedule. But many people still flip through it looking for the same old courses without even noticing many classes that can make one a more rounded person. I have chosen a few possibilities that some of you may have overlooked. Music 123a-Chorus. The students being by singing "Twinkle Twinkle Little Star" and then progress rapidly to Mozart's "Magic Flute" and then finish with Elton John's greatest hits. English 499-The Prostitute in Literature. The Students examine real Prostitutes through informal lectures and fieldtrips. (This class open to a select number of students.) Speech 291-Linguistics. A Comprehensive course that progresses from the primeval utterances of prehistoric man to the soundtrack from "Grease." Math 333-Geometry. The student studies the subtle concepts of Cartesian Geometry and Boolean Algebra, while learning to find the distance between any two given points across the Grand Canyon. Geology 118-Introduction to Volcanos. Course covers a close examination of Mount St. Helens through field trips. Students interested in human sacrifices are encouraged. Sociology 121-Introduction to Convict Rehabilitation. Students teach convicts finger painting in a real prison environment. Students meet and discuss their progress and sexual encounters while in prison. Physics 499-Nuclear Physics. Students actually build a working nuclear warhead and con-

Phi Kappa Phi News

The brothers of Epsilon Epsilon would like to welcome back everyone for the semester, old friends and incoming freshmen. We trust everyone had a good summer!! The pressures of school will be upon us soon and the true purpose of Phi Kappa Phi shall rise to the occasion by providing a friendly atmosphere of social release... better known as Friday night happy hour. Yes, those hard working and wild partying people are already planning and scheduling functions to include the entire campus. As of now most of our attention is centered around Rush. We are dedicated to find the intelligent, sociable man to help preserve the integrity of the fraternity and its ideas. Phi Kappa Phi contributes not only to the life on campus but also reaches out into the community with such projects as P.U.S.H. and woodcutting for the elderly. P.U.S.H. is the abbreviated version for Play Units for the Severely Handicapped, nationally known for helping handicapped people experience life as a normal person would. On September 26 those adventurous men will embark on yet another white water raft ride. The trip is open to anyone wishing to go can sign up by contacting Tom Gilland or any brother. In addition scheduled for this week is a dance on Thursday, so come on up and party with us. Over the course of the summer many of our brothers have departed, some choosing the way of matrimony. Brother Ken Crowder and little sister Norma Peters were married in mid-August. Most recent was the marriage of past archon Fran Hunt and past president of Little Sisters Martha Hankins. To these people go that Phi Kappa spirit which will remain throughout the years.

Our little sisters, of which we are extremely proud, now have a new advisor, Sharon Daniels. Sharon, welcome into the fraternity!!! Not forgetting our own advisor, Captain Ball, that diligent professor of English. To everyone else goes the enthusiasm, alive in Epsilon Epsilon, to have a productive, fun-filled semester. Remember new people on campus - check us out!!!

Special Services Program For 1981

The Special Services staff would like to welcome back the students, faculty and staff of Clinch Valley College. For the newcomers, we would like to extend a special welcome and encourage each and everyone of you to stop by our offices and see what we can offer you!

This year Special Services has organized a comprehensive tutorial program in order to assist every student needing help with an academic subject.

Courses in which tutoring is available include Biology and Chemistry, Accounting, Computer Science, English, Math, Foreign Languages, History, and Logic. You need only to stop by Z-114 and fill out the tutorial application in order to receive help.

In addition, the Peer Counseling program is available to all new and returning students needing someone with whom to talk. There are six peer counselors who will maintain regular office hours in Z-114. They are there to provide assistance in academic, career, and/or personal areas in which you may feel you have a problem.

Special services also conducts workshops throughout the year on topics such as The Improvement of Study Skills, Career Information and Guidance, Taking Examinations, and Human Relationships. Watch for notices of the dates of these workshops in later editions of the Cavalier.

In the past, Special Services project students have enjoyed numerous outings to the Old West Dinner Theatre, Barter Theatre, the Kingsport and Bristol Malls, and the Virginia Highlands Festival. Proposed outings for this semester include another visit to the Old West, and a trip to the Bristol Mall.

A final service offered through our program is that of a referral agency. Sometimes a student cannot be helped by the Special Service staff. When this occurs, we are able to refer that student to an individual or agency anywhere in Virginia who is better prepared to aid that student.

A final reminder, the Special Services offices are located next to the Post Office in the Zehner Building. If you need any of these services, please stop by Z-114 to see the Special Services Counselor, Ann Morris. Have a good year here at CVC!

On Getting What You Pay For

By Jim Collie
Baptist Campus Minister

No, I haven't turned consumer advocate. But I made a discovery of one of the proverbs that I think is worth sharing. "Why should a fool have a price in his hand to buy wisdom, when he has no mind?" (Proverbs 17:16, Revised Standard Version). You or someone is paying for your education. How can you get the most for your money?

Attend classes. Wow! Much of your educational dollar is going to provide these classes. The classroom situation is not only a chance to hear someone who has a wide knowledge of a particular subject area, it is also a chance to talk back to the subject matter. The classroom provides a setting for questions, opinions and discussion.

Develop good study habits. Study! Ugh! Choose a time and place so that you can function at your best. Keep current when possible. Reward yourself for jobs well done and assignments completed.

Get excited. If you are in college preparing for a career, there should be some excitement about what you are doing. If you are bored stiff now, maybe that's telling you something. Accept responsibility for making your study relevant to your interests. Don't leave it all up to the Prof.

Be a friend. Clinch Valley is a community. Work at being a part of that community. While it is true that some great discoveries have been made in isolation, most of us are not at the "great discovery" stage. We may never get there until we learn the value and the how-to of living, working and playing together.

Feel good about yourself. Evaluate. Then act to correct any deficiencies. Sometimes failing a course can be a greater learning experience than just barely passing. Just as achievement isn't everything, neither is failure. Learn from failure and move on. Enough of this for now. You can get your money's worth and more at Clinch Valley College. No foolin'.

Staying Power

By Rev. Warren Wattenbarger
Wesley Foundation

Have you ever watched a marathon race? The runners do not seem to be in a very big hurry at the beginning. Actually, it is not who is in front at the end of the first fifty yards that counts, but who is leading when they cross the finish line. The same is true with a football game. You want your team to be ahead at the end of the first quarter, but this does not determine the winner. The team that wins is the one ahead when the final whistle blows.

As you begin this year in college we need to remember that there must be the starting power. Most important is a staying power. This sums up to faithfulness. A good student must be faithful in doing his work and attending classes if he/she is to be successful.

It is the staying power that really counts. Many people set out on the journey of life with flags waving and dreams fluttering in their hearts only to find the voyage too rough and unpleasant, thus they give up. We are not called to give up but to journey on in faithfulness and with courage.

The academic journey will not always be easy. There will be those times that you are tempted to give up and lay aside the responsibility of studies. Many things will develop that shall distract you. But remember that the word to remember is—faithfulness. Only he who endures shall receive the reward. Let us keep faith with God, our parents and ourselves that we might find the fullness that awaits us!

SGA Minutes, August 24, 1981

The first meeting of the 1981-82 Student Government Association was held on August 24 at 5:30. The meeting was called to order by Terry Kilgore, President. Resignation sheets were passed out by Terry with the feeling that anyone not interested in working should resign at once.

The roll was called and everyone was present with the exception of Scott Cooper and Jody Evans. The set agenda was followed and absences were discussed. Three unexcused absences which are determined by the council will bring dismissal from the council. All activities are to be attended as if they were meetings.

Money was discussed and a treasurer's report was given by Kim stating that we are $44.15 in the red as of August 24. A motion was made by Sam Chapman to pay Jack Browning $75.00 for services rendered at the dance held on August 20. The motion was seconded by Tim Howard. The council voted unanimously and the motion was passed.

The budget will be discussed Monday, August 31 at 5:30. Requests were to be sent out Tuesday and are to be returned no later than Friday. A motion was made to have a more detailed budget request from Coach Bentley by Zack Cochran and was seconded by Leuchlin Lee. The motion was passed by a unanimous vote.

Appointments were discussed by Terry as the next order of business. Anyone having ideas or suggestions for these appointments should notify Terry as soon as possible.

The Road Rally, the Robbin Thompson Band Concert, and guest speakers such as Coleman and Robb were several activities discussed at the meeting. However, nothing definite has been decided.

Elections for Freshmen SGA members and Honor Court Representatives are set for September 16. The motion was made by Bruce and seconded by Frank. A unanimous vote passed the motion.

The meeting adjourned after a motion was made by Bruce and seconded by Marcie.

Richardson Joins CVC's Coaching Staff

By Jerry Kilgore
Cinch Valley College has a new women's basketball and tennis coach—Linda Richardson. Richardson decided to apply for the job opening when she was encouraged by a friend to apply for the job. Later, she received a letter that someone else had been hired. A week later, she was called for an interview and got the job.

Richardson stated, "I like small colleges and I'm familiar with the school since I played sports at Lincoln Memorial University, a college not too far from here."

Richardson's background includes high school at Powell Valley (Tn.) High School where she played basketball. Later she received a B.S. in Physical education, elementary education, and health education. She then went to ETSU to work on her masters. She graduated with her masters on Tuesday, August 16 and came here on Wednesday, August 19. While at ETSU, Richardson was assistant coach

High and head tennis coach there.

Richardson's coaching philosophy includes having a close-knit group that wants to do well. Basically she believes that self-experience is the best teacher.
