CVC Student Finalist In Miss Lonesome Pine Pageant

A CVC student was named a finalist recently in the 1981 Miss Lonesome Pine Pageant held Saturday, November 14. Kimberly Lynne Johnson, 18, and a freshman at CVC, was fourth runner-up in the pageant. For talent, she sang, "Let's Take The Long Way Around The World."

The winner of the pageant was Jennifer Rose Mullins, an 18-year-old from Clintwood and currently attending Carson-Newman College. First runner-up was Beth McReynolds, 17, a senior at St. Paul High School.

Second runner-up was Lisa Home, 19, a 1980 graduate of Coeburn High School. And third runner-up was Vanessa Ratliff, 19, and also a 1980 graduate of Coeburn High School.

Deidre Culbertson and Kim Raymer, both CVC students, entered the pageant. For talent, Deidre sang, "On My Own". Kim did a drama reading from the play, "This Property is Condemned."

Professor Attends Program

A member of the Clinch Valley College faculty participated in the Second International Symposium on Training in the Prevention of Occupational Risks in the Mining Industry, held November 8-15 in Washington, D.C.

John G. McNutt, Assistant Professor of Social Welfare, read a paper during the November 12 program, entitled "Reducing Accidents through Psychosocial Services." Some psychosocial problems of employees are not amenable to traditional on-the-job safety tactics in the coal industry, according to McNutt. Psychosocial problems include drug abuse, alcoholism, mental illness, and marital problems. In the model he presented, mining companies would employ social workers to help identify problems of employees; provide limited treatment, and referral to community agencies; and assist in the design of training programs, educational intervention, and working with the organizational development process.

The Symposium program was organized by the International Social Security Association in Geneva and was co-sponsored by the Bureau of Mines, U.S. Department of Interior and the Mine Safety and Health Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, in cooperation with the Scientific Coal Research Institute of Czechoslovakia.

Symposium participants were from Canada, Czechoslovakia, Federal Republic of Germany, South Africa, Taiwan, United Kingdom, United Soviet Socialist Republic, United States, and Yugoslavia. Simultaneous translations in German, English and Russian allowed participants to discuss current practices and future trends in the field of health and safety education and training in the mining industry.

McNutt has been a member of the Clinch Valley College faculty since 1980.

Where's The Pep Band?

"What happened to the pep band?" was the question heard all over the gym at the Cavalier's home opener with Milligan. Due to a lack of interest by enough students, the band was forced to disband.

According to Rick Oaks, one of the students organizers, approximately seven students showed up for practice and this wasn't enough to give a good sound.

Another student organizer, Penny Osborne, stated, "It would have helped so much, spirit wise. I regret the fact that it wasn't successful."

Oaks, however, wished to thank those students that did show up for their effort and to thank Coach Bentley and other faculty members who rendered support.

Reagan Has Helped Latin America

Dear Editor:
Aid to El Salvador and Argentina?
Last week's article about "Argentina, El Salvador, and a Question of Conscience" left several gaps that need to be clarified.

I choose to discuss El Salvador, since that is the country that I know best.

El Salvador, the smallest country in Central America, is also one of the most densely populated countries in Latin America. Although the economy of El Salvador is stronger than the economy of all other countries in Central America, except for Guatemala, public education is inadequate for the size of the population. This problem, as well as its agricultural economy, has held back the salaries of the workers. Different government administrations have taken care of much of that problem by increasing in the mid 1960's salaries of peasants by 230 percent. Still, after those changes, salaries were not high enough to live a comfortable life. The biggest problem was the world prices of agricultural products such as: coffee (which accounts for approximately 55 percent of the GNP), cotton (18 and others).

The administration of President Rivera in the 1960's started to attract foreign industries to establish some production plants in El Salvador, giving those industries a tax exempt break. The person who were skilled and willing to learn got better salaries and opportunities. The process of attracting foreign industries was stopped by some one thousand (1,000) university students that were against Capitalist Democracy and in favor of Communism. Demonstrations started, and this put an end to foreign investors coming to El Salvador. The 1,000 Communists preached their Marxist theory which was supported by the Catholic priests (Dominating 95 percent of El Salvador's religion). Soon some riots took place. The Communist Revolutionaries that took over Nicaragua started to come to El Salvador to help the small number of Marxist revolutionaries. With them, better armament and Cuban support came along. Multiple ransoms for kidnappings are the revolutionaries money to buy armament in the "underground market".

Carolyn Forcé, Journalist Human Rights Investigator in El Salvador (1978-1980) observed only some facets of life without seeing how, through the past 20 years, various things have improved. You cannot compare the standard of living of the United States with the standard of living of any Third World country, including El Salvador.

The news media is focused on the Armed Forces but, what about the armed Communist revolutionaries? The "ignorant, desperate rebels" that Mrs. Carolyn Forché talks about are also armed and have killed thousands of soldiers (who are human beings too) as well as innocent bystanders.

I am a Salvadorian and I believe that I have a better knowledge of the truth than a Journalist that has been in El Salvador for two years. I have seen kids 12-16 years of age carrying submachine guns.

The ones who have to be stopped from destroying the willingness of Third World countries to evolve and develop are the Communist countries, specially Russia and Cuba.

Reagan's politics have helped Latin America. The United States lets us fight the Communist enemies that are guiding our youngsters into politically confused criminals.

Evict The Dog

Dear Editor,
As one resident at Randolph Hall, I feel the situation with Earl, the dog, should be taken care of. As it states in the Student Handbook, no pets are allowed in any campus housing. I think the Director of Housing should get him out! In one instance a dog has defecated in the hall.

If some girls want Earl to live with them, let them take him home. This situation is very unhealthy and the administration should act quickly as they do when parties on campus get out of hand.
Name withheld by request.

By Our Standards Keep Up With The Times

A proposal to change the General Education Requirements for Clinch Valley College students is before the faculty for consideration. Any changes that might occur will only affect incoming students, not the students already at the college.

The proposal is to change the present requirement of nine hours of courses or cultures of Non-English Speaking people to a twelve-hour international education requirement. This twelve hours would include: six hours in the Humanities, three hours in Math-Science, and three hours in Social Science. The present is 16 hours in the Humanities, three hours in Math-Science, and three hours in Social Science. The present is a science course from the History of the Arts of Western Civilization. Students would be required to take a science course focusing on the concept, "Spaceship Earth," which would study matters such as energy and good supplies, the natural environment and population problems. The Social Science requirement would require either a course in international politics or a course examining different societies and social structures.

We have to rely on our knowledge of different cultures and people and how they live and react to understand what is going on around us. International politics has become an everyday topic for everyone. The situation in Iran, the problems of El Salvador, and our constant conflicts with Russia all illustrate the situation in the world upon our lives. I feel that this proposal would broaden the scope of the minds of students at Clinch Valley. Our personal lives will be affected by the problems of the world and we will have to know how to deal with them. The present General Education requirements do not stress this enough.

Perhaps the course, "Spaceship Earth," will teach us about our environment and food conservation. It is so important now, maybe a course like this will teach us to appreciate our energy and the World Literature course would have the effect of improving writing skills, which is helpful to everyone.

Our world is becoming a modern one and our education needs to change with it. A liberal arts education encompasses all facets of life and strengthens our knowledge of it. These changes would strengthen our liberal arts education.

Sincerely yours,
Valeri Jones

Barbarians Make Points

To The Editor:
Concerning Tim Howard's recent article "Behind the Games" about the intramural football championship game, there are a few points we (the Barbarians) would like to make.

First of all, let it be clear that we agree with Mr. Howard's description of Pi Kappas plus Fear & Loathing's play in the championship game. They played with class, dominance and precision; truly the mark of an awesome team. We congratulate you, Pi Kappas plus Fear & Loathing, on your impressive victory.

On the other hand, we cannot accept Mr. Howard's statements accusing the Barbarians of being quitters. His statement of players "sitting on the field during plays" is entirely misleading. The only players who could possibly be referring to (and still be truthful) would be the starters on the sidelines who had left the game late in the second half (when it was obvious the game was out of reach) to give the rest of the guys a chance to play in a championship game--an opportunity not many teams get; or, perhaps Mr. Howard could be referring to Claude Crigger, who was knocked cold and had to be taken away from the game to the hospital for several stitches. May we add, the injury was incurred upon collision with a fellow teammate, just a small indication of the intensity involved in the game by both teams. We remind you, Mr. Howard, it was this same team of "quitters" that soundly defeated your own team 30-6 to earn the right to play in the finale.

The other point we would like to argue is Mr. Howard's statement that the only other "close" game the Pi Kappas plus Fear & Loathing played during the regular season (beside their 6-0 win over the Phi Sig) was their 30-14 defeat of the GMSOTs (Mr. Howard's own team, incidently). Since when does scoring the most points (41) on a team during a season make a close game? If we may stretch your obviously limited memory, Mr. Howard, back to the first game of the season--ironically, between the seam two season finalists, Barbarians and Pi Kappas plus Fear & Loathing--we present the following situation: tied 12-12 with two minutes to play in a see-saw battle, the Barbarians had the ball and were driving. An interception brought that drive to a halt, however, and an excellent return set up Billy Watson's game-winning TD with less than a minute to play. We apologize, Mr. Howard, that this 20-12 ballgame does not rate in your diary as one of the "close" games of the 1981 season. Perhaps if we had not been so injury-plagued in the championship game the results may have been a closer game and more suitable to your demented standards of perfection. We refuse to make excuses for our loss, though, as we could not have possibly fielded a team to match the quality displayed by the champions on that particular day.

Could Mr. Howard possibly be using his position with the Highland Cavalier as a personal vendetta to vent his frustrations against certain Barbarians over the recent Halloween water-ballooning escapades (i.e., dye-ballooning in face)? Whatever the reason (if there is one), may we suggest to Mr. Howard that in future articles, he keep the focus of his article on the subject matter of the topic about which he is writing. It makes for much better reading.

In closing, it is our opinion that Mr. Howard's article attempted not to analyze "behind the games" with an objective mind, but rather to undermine a fine season by the Barbarians (we were picked to finish 4th in the pre-season poll). We regret to say that in doing so, he has taken some of the lustre from the Pi Kappas plus Fear & Loathing's marvelous season.

Sincerely,
The Barbarians Football Team

Pi Kappa Phi News

The brothers would like to open this article by expressing our appreciation of all those who attended our last dance. Because of your interest and support this dance was a tremendous success. I might add that this was held on a Friday night. To those people going home, see what you're missing!

November 16th was the birthday of Tau Beta Chi, the local fraternity organized on campus in 1977. From this organization spring the existence of the Epsilon Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Phi. Without the strong foundation laid by those dedicated, hard working members of TBX, the fraternity which we are so proud of today would not exist. Since the 16th fell on a Monday, the birthday was observed and celebrated on the preceding Saturday combined with an intramural championship football celebration party. Everyone who attended was assured of a wild time.

As I am writing this, relations between our fraternity and the administration have broken down to a degree. By the time this appears in print, I hope that things will have been cleared. Often when things of this nature happen, many rumors fly and the truth becomes grossly misconstrued. Most of these are spread by people who hear only a little part, have no idea what is actually happening, and do not understand anything of our fraternity.

The Epsilon Epsilon chapter is made up of some very fine men who are bonded together not by some prefabricated highly idealized goal but by friendship, brotherhood--the very basic qualities. Some seem to have the idea that we are a bunch of wild boys who like to raise hell only. This is probably from the result of our Happy Hours; however, the purpose of these parties is to provide for those students here on weeks some kind of social activity. No one else seems to be making much of an effort.

Getting back to the fraternity, from my experience, I have not met a better bunch of guys and girls. Each and every one would be ready to help and defend one another. No where else is there found a closer tight knit bunch of people. True, we have our difficulties, but we work them out and as a result, grow stronger. For those of you on the outside looking in, just give us a positive attitude in which to build on if you are really interested in giving us support, then I appeal for your contributions to the fraternity's national project, P.U.S.H. (Play Units For the Severely Handicapped). The money made goes to provide learning units to handicapped people so they may experience the world as you and I do. All contributions are tax deductible, so the money is at no loss to the donor. If there is a just cause, then this is one that deserves our attention. Let us help our fellow man, no exploit him.

Phi Sigma Kappa News

Greetings from the Brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa. We hope that everyone has a great Thanksgiving break.
We are looking forward to upcoming volleyball season. With the return of many veterans from last year's team, we should have a good season. If you have any questions about fraternity life of Phi Sigma Kappa, feel free to ask any brother.

Opryland U.S.A. To Audition Washington Area Talent

Opryland U.S.A., the Nashville theme park that highlights live musical production, will conduct a talent audition for Washington-area performers on Dec. 2 at College Park, Md. The park will hire approximately 400 entertainers for its 1982 season from a 28-city audition tour that will conduct next January.

The audition will be from noon-4 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 2, in Tawes Theatre at the University of Maryland. Auditions are open, and no appointments are required. This will be the only audition on the theme park will conduct in Maryland, Virginia or the District of Columbia.

Singers, dancers, dance captains, conductor-pianists, musicians, stage managers and technicians are being sought for shows featuring all types of American music. Conducting the auditions will be the park's entertainment director and manager, choreographer, show directors, musical director and assistant musical director.

"We're looking for more entertainers than ever before," said entertainment director Bob Whittaker. "The number of shows produced in the park, plus shows produced by the Opryland Talent Agency at other tourist destinations, requires this."

Singers will be asked to perform two or more numbers, one a ballad and the other an up-tempo selection. Dancers will be asked to perform a routine of no more than one minute. A piano accompanist is part of the audition team, and singers should bring music in the proper key. A record player and a cassette tape player will be available.

Instrumentalists will be asked to sight read, and woodwind players must be proficient doublers. Conductor-pianists must submit references and a resume. Stage managers should bring typed resumes.

Opryland can have as many as 14 fully-staged, fully-costumed shows in simultaneous production. One, "I Hear America Singing", is the longest running major theme park production in the country, requiring 18 singers and dancers and a 12-piece orchestra. The park's shows feature all types of American music: Country, Broadway, pop, Gay 90s, riverboat nostalgia, bluegrass, gospel, rock 'n' roll and more.

Performers who are chosen are cast into shows in February, and rehearsals for some begin in mid-February. One contingent of performers begins appearances on March 27 when the park opens for spring weekends, and they are reinforced by more entertainers who work during the park's season of daily operation in summer. Performers from both groups work during the park's autumn weekend season.

"Our large-cast shows are performed as many as 850 times in a season, and three of them require two full casts and two orchestras to meet that schedule. The smaller-cast shows are performed even one times than that.

"Broadway producers have acknowledged that an Opryland season is the equivalent of two years in a Broadway show, and theater critic Richard Coe has written that any young performer could benefit by being in one of our shows," Whittaker said.

Opryland's complete audition tour covers almost two-thirds of the country. Pre-Christmas stops are in Provo; Winston-Salem and Chapel Hill, N.C.; College Park, Md.; Boston; Pittsburgh; Ann Arbor and Detroit, Mich.; Milwaukee; Louisville; Champaign, Ill.; Memphis; and Nashville.

January auditions will be in New York City; Knoxville, Tenn.; Cincinnati; Birmingham, Ala.; Orlando, Fla.; Atlanta; Little Rock, Ark.; New Orleans; Dallas and Denton, Texas; Oklahoma City; Bloomington, Ind.; Chicago; Minneapolis; Kansas City; and Nashville.

For other details about the audition tour, write Opryland Entertainment Department, 2802 Opryland Drive, Nashville, Tenn. 37214; phone 615-8896600 ext. 4343.

Is This You?

By Ann Morris
One of my professors handed this following article out to all his classes prior to semester exams. I thought you might enjoy it, and some of you might take heed!

WILT THOU PASS OR FLUNKETH
And it came to pass early in the morning of the day of the exam there arose a multitude smiting their books and ailing. And there was much weeping and gnashing of teeth, for the day of judgment was at hand and they were sore afraid. For they had left undone those things which they ought to have done, and they had done those things which they ought not to have done, and there was no help for them.

And there were many abiding in their rooms who had kept watch over their books all night, but it naught availeth. But some there were who arose peacefully for they had prepared for themselves the way, and made straight for the path of knowledge. And these wise ones were known to some as the burners of the midnight oil, but by others they were called curve-splitters.

And the multitudes arose and ate a hearty breakfast; and they came into the appointed place, and their hearts were heavy within them. And they had come to pass, but some to pass out.

And some of them repented of their riotous living and bemoaned their fate, but they had not a prayer. And at the last hour there came among them one known as the instructor, he of the diabolical smile, and passed paper among them and went upon his way.

And many and varied were the answers which were given, for some of his teaching had fallen among the fawns, while still others had fallen flat. And some turned away sorrowful. And many of those offered up a "little baloney" in hopes of pacifying the instructor, for these were the ones who had not a prayer. And when they had finished, they gathered up their belongings and went away quietly, each in his own direction and each one vowing to himself in this manner: "I shall not pass this way again. It is a long road that has no turning."

Thanksgiving

By: Warren H. Wattenbayer
Campus Minister
Wesley Foundation

Thanksgiving is a grand time to remember and count your blessings. All of us would be pleasantly surprised if we took time to sit down in some quiet place to do a little personal reflection on God's goodness. He has been better to us than we could ever merit and his wonderful blessing never cease.

We live in a world of beauty and abundance. He has provided us with sunshine and clouds, rain and cool days of all. There is beauty all around us, waiting for us to absorb. Let us remember the words of the Psalmist when he said, "Blessed be the Lord, who daily loads us with benefits--" Psalms 106:1

Henry F. Hendricks wrote the following to express his thanks:
I am thankful... that I have faith in the Eternal;
that I can be a responsible citizen and have a good job;
that I have good health, good friends;
that I can laugh;
that I can see and truly enjoy the flowers, the rain the sunshine, the sunset, the birds and the tree covered hills;
that I am not burdened with material riches;

that I have opportunities to serve others and do good;
that I find a zest to life and can look on the bright side;
that I like people -- like to watch them and be with them;

that I can live in this particular day and age, when God has made it possible for man to see His resources in such new and wonderful ways.
that I am beginning to learn that I am not too important;
that I am not so good that I cannot become better, and grow up (inside a little more each year);
that I have food and shelter and happiness;
that I can look forward to a better and brighter world;
that God has given me a new chance every twenty-four hours, with each new day, to begin life over again, a day to be forgiven everything that is behind the dawn.

Add your own list to this and remember all through the year your daily blessings and you will be a better person. One who has a grateful heart is always eager to serve, always cheerful and ready to help lift the load of a fellow pilgrim.

Have A Happy Thanksgiving!

Thanksgiving Therapy

By Jim Cellie,
Baptist Campus Minister
I have not always enjoyed Thanksgiving. There was a time when this annual day of counting one's blessings meant only pilgrim memories and much too much turkey. There were times when I just was not in the mood to count blessings. Not that there were no blessings to count. Those happenings in the category of non-blessing overshadowed them. There were times, too, that to count bless-sings produced feelings of guilt. Why should I have so much? To what purpose?

The transition to a view of Thanksgiving as therapy has not been an easy one. Nor is it complete. In giving thanks one must acknowledge dependence and interdependence. A great burden is removed in realizing that everything is not up to me, but some things are. That I am not expected to do everything, but something, to know everything, but something or someone. It is great to know that in many ways I am depended upon to do my part and someone else must do theirs so that much more can be accomplished than either of us could do alone.

The therapeutic values of Thanksgiving come about through a world view based upon acknowledging that "God so loved that He Gave...." The appropriate response is an attitude of thanksgiving. Happy Thanksgiving!

MOVIES
Wednesday, November 25th, "Notorius". This film seems to be the favorite of all of Hitchcock's films among foreign critics (notably Truffaut). It is certainly an accomplished work, with exceptionally sensitive performances by Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant, but to many critics, "Notorius" has all the elements of a superior post-war, darker dimension to her calm authority by unexpectedly lighting and smoking a cigarette, with murderous intent.

to discover his secret activities. The immoral sexual connotations of such a liaison were apparently overlooked by those who guard against such things, as well as by Cary Grant, as the FBI agent who eventually rescues Bergman and (ostensibly) marries her. Of course, "Notorius" has its breathtaking moments. Hitchcock again employs one of his dazzling crane shots to focus attention upon a bay; and some nervous business in a wine cellar, as the two Americans search for uranium in a certain bottle, is a spine-tingler. In spite of his nefarious activities, Claude Rains' villainy is tempered by a gentleness and most affable personality, capturing one's suspicion that he is not altogether to blame for his final dilemma. However, the veteran actress, Leopoldine Konstantin, as the villain's regal mother, creates a darker dimension to her calm authority by unexpectedly lighting and smoking a cigarette, with murderous intent.

SGA Minutes

The S.G.A. held their weekly meeting on November 9 at 6:30 P.M. in A100 B. The meeting was called to order and the roll was called. All S.G.A. were present with the exception of Jody Evans, Bruce Gibson, and Lanchin Lee. A treasurer's report was given by Kim. After the loss of $1,500.00 on the concert, the S.G.A. currently has $1,610.26.

New business discussed was the idea of having a Christmas float to enter in area parades showing community interest by CVC. Mrs. Fortunado told Marcia and Kim that Park Belko is willing to donate $100 and chicken wire while a truck will be donated by Barnes and made available to CVC. A motion was made by Zack for the S.G.A. to enter a float in area Christmas parades. The motion was seconded by Sam and the council passed it unanimously. Other new business consisted of ideas concerning the Homecoming Week. The S.G.A. will be responsible for acquiring a band for the dance and electing a Snowball King and Queen. They will be voted on the week before we have exams and the top five will be voted on the week we get back from break.

A motion was made to adjourn by Lynn and seconded by John. The meeting was adjourned after the council passed the motion.

Behind The Games

By Tim Howard

Congratulations, Cavaliers, you looked great Tuesday night. David Bentley's boys took the floor last Tuesday night for the first game of their 1981-82 season and when the final buzzer sounded, they handily sent the Buffalos of Milligan home with a 78-62 loss.

It looks like all of that pre-season work is starting to pay off. Remember all of those days back in September, HOT September, when the team ran the big three mile every other day, returning to the gym only to find Coach Bentley here ready to push their physical ability to the limit. If last week's game was any evidence to the type of season the Cavs will have, all of the pre-season road work and drilling was very worthwhile.

The team looked weak inside though, and if the rebounding doesn't improve and we don't get more inside shots, it could be fatal to the Cavs on an off night. Remember, the Cavalier squad shot 71 percent from the field last week. This has to raise the question, can we expect this high percentage all the time, and what will happen when Kolb and Hoskins aren't hitting those outside jumpers? This is not to take away from the first win of the season, but just a few questions to think about for later dates. Maybe they can adjust their game when they can't hit from outside, let's hope so.

In last week's game, point guard, Ernie Smith seemed to have complete control over the offense. Smith controlled the pace of the game very well, and in the second half, during the Milligan press, he used his excellent speed to break through to the basket.

Also, fan support was good last week; the fans rooted the team along all night and in final minutes of the game, when Coach Bentley took out his starters, they received a standing ovation.

Cavaliers Win Opener 78-62

By Tim Howard
A 15 point victory over the Milligan Buffalos chalked up the first win of the season for the Cavalier's Men's squad this year. The Cavs soundly defeated the Buffalos here last Tuesday night with a 78-62 victory.
Tony Kolb, 6'2" senior, lead CVC to victory scoring a game high 22 points. Also scoring in double figures for the Cavaliers were Mike Hoskins with 16, Terry Edwards with 15 and Ernie Smith with 12.

At the end of the first session, Clinch Valley had a commanding 10 point lead at 38-28.

The Cavs capitalized on most Buffalo turnovers and played excellent defense. Milligan tried to press in the second half but the Cavaliers adjusted by passing the ball for the open shot.

The Cavaliers shot an outstanding 71 percent from the field as high pointer Kolb hit 11 for 14.

Reggie Bryant, Terry

Edwards, and Jim Murney headed up the rebounding effort with 5 each.

Also standing out for the Cavaliers, rookie point guard, Ernie Smith conducted a sound offense and broke to the middle several times in the second half for easy buckets.

Lady Cavs Outlook Encouraging

Coming off a ten win season and a fourth place finish in the state tournament, the 1981-82 Lady Cavaliers have a tough road ahead of them. The Lady Cavs open their season with the Alumni on November 24, at 7:30 p.m. All alumni are encouraged to play. The first collegiate home game is with Milligan on November 30 at 7:30 p.m.

This year's eleven squad team has three returnees and eight newcomers. The returnees consist of Senior All-State Center Sharon Morris, Junior Pam Osborne Cooney, and Sophomore Pat Scott. Renee Shepard, a junior, played her freshman year at CVC and now returns to the Lady Cavs' roster. Newcomers consists of sophomores Lisa Roberson and Kathy Rogers, and freshman Jennifer McGee, Susan Hamilton, Robin Cochran, Jenny Grove, and Terri Dotson. Below are Coach Linda Richardson's, the Lady Cavs' Coach, comments concerning the team members.

Sharon Morris, 21, Senior, 5'10", Center. Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Morris of Norfolk where she played for Granby High School. Sharon, as captain of the team should be a leader of the team and one of our stronger points. She needs to work a little on defense and her inside game.

Jennifer McGee, 18, Freshman, 5'3 1/2", Guard. Jennifer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McGee of Gate City where she played for Gate City High School. Jennifer has improved a lot and has a lot of potential. She needs to work on her shot and self-confidence.

Susan Hamilton, 20, Freshman, 5'7", Guard. Susan is the daughter of Hank and Jackie Hamilton of Clintwood, Va. where she played for Clintwood High School. Susan has improved a lot and worked hard because of her desire to play. She needs to work on self confidence and self control.

Pam Osborne Cooney, 20, Junior, 5'7", Guard. Pam is the daughter of Rhea and Charlotte Osborne of Blackwater, Va., where she played for Rye Cove High School. She has a good attitude. She needs to work on one on one situations and passes. (Richardson added that she has poor vocabulary in telling jokes).

Robin Cochran, 18, Freshman, 5'10", Center. Robin is the daughter of Bobby and Juanita Cochran of Grundy, VA where she played for Grundy High School. She has improved a lot and is a good sport. She needs to work on inside shots and moving with the ball.

Jenny Grove, 18, Freshman, 5'5", Guard. Jenny is from Virginia Beach, Va. She needs experience and to work on shots and passes.

Renee Shepard, 20, 5'7", Guard or Forward. Renee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Shepard of Duffield, Va. where she played for Rye Cove High School. She needs to work on self-confidence and aggression.

Pat Scott, 19, 5'5", Forward. Pat is from Jonesville, Va. She needs to work on accuracy and be more selective with shots.

Kathy Rogers, 19, 5'5", Forward. Kathy is from Appalachia, Va. where she played for Ap-palachia High School. She needs to work on her shot and speed.

Lisa Roberson, 22, Sophomore, Forward. Lisa is from Hoot Owl Hollow and her nickname is "Flower Child". According to Richardson, her strong points are a shiny forehead and pickin' and grinnin'. She needs to work on foul shots and getting in shape.

Terri Dotson, 18, Freshman, Guard. Terri has good speed and hustle. Her weak points include ball control and experience.
