Homecoming Week Plans Released

By Valeri Jones

The Student Government Association of Clinch Valley College has announced its plans for Homecoming in the 1981-82 year. Homecoming will begin the first day of classes after Christmas Break. It is scheduled to last from Wednesday, January 20 until Saturday, January 23.

Nominations for Snow Queen and King will be taken this week by the SOA. Each student will be able to nominate two males and two females. Then the top five in each category will be put on a ballot. Students will vote on these top five on Wednesday, January 20 to select the Snow Queen and King.

A hot-shot tournament will be held during this week. This is a basketball contest. Registration will be held this week, and the first 30 entries will participate in preliminary contests on January 20 and 21. The championship round will be held on Saturday at half-time of the women's basketball game. Winners will be awarded prizes.

On Thursday or Friday night, a pep rally or bon fire will add to the Homecoming activities. It will be conducted by the CVC cheerleaders.

A tentative alumni association dinner is scheduled for Saturday between the Men's and Women's Basketball games.

On Saturday, a Women's Basketball game is scheduled for 2:00 p.m. with Randolph Macon-Ashland. The men have a game at 7:30 p.m. that evening with Cumberland College. Following the men's game, the Homecoming Dance, or Snowball, will be held to honor the Snow Queen and King. They will be crowned at half-time of the Men's Basketball game.

"I urge all students to attend and participate to make this homecoming the best ever," stated Terry Kilgore, SOA president.

Exam Study Tips

By Ann Morris

Taking Multiple Choice Exams:

1. Read the instructions carefully.
2. Scan the whole exam before beginning so you can pace yourself.
3. Try to figure out how long you have for each question.
4. Relax! Tension is a block between your knowledge and your awareness.
5. Answer first those questions that you can right off the top of your head.
6. Go back and answer those questions that require some time and thought.
7. For those questions you have no idea how to answer, guess!
8. If there is time, go over your answers, but don't change any. Your first answer is your best answer.
9. Answers to some questions may be found in information given in other questions.
10. The more specific an answer is, the more likely it is to be correct.
11. The longer the choice (in terms of the number of words) is the best bet in an emergency.
12. When you have to guess, first go through the choices and eliminate any answers you can (ridiculous and doubtful ones).

Blood Drive A Success

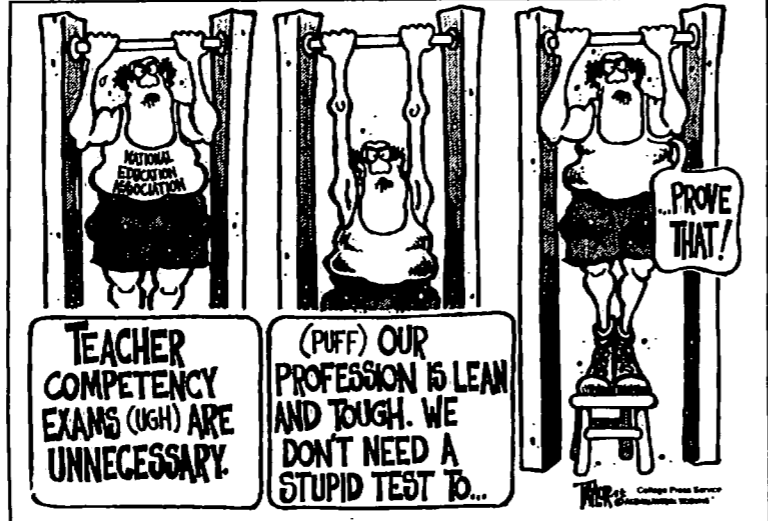

On December 3, 1981 the Circle K Club of Clinch Valley College sponsored its annual Blood Drive. CVC students, faculty, and administration pitched in and gave 50 pints of blood to the Norton Community Blood Bank to help the five area hospitals through the holiday season.

The Drive got underway at 10:00 Thursday morning and everyone was eager to give. Students had to wait in line to give because there were only three technicians taking blood. But, the response of the college community to this important and vital project was excellent. There was always a waiting line to give that day and it was good to see CVC students taking such an interest.

CVC students are often looked upon unfavorably in the community because of the acts of a small group of students. I think it is good for CVC students to participate in an event like this which benefits the community. It promotes a better feeling between students and people in the surrounding area. More activities like this sponsored by college clubs would be a good idea.

Keys To A Happy Life

Warren H. Wattenbarger
Campus Minister
Wesley Foundation

All of us are caught up in the search for happiness. Below are listed some of the things that can help direct us in the ways of happiness. Face reality. Keep in mind that happiness is a state of mind and a quality of life. There can be no happiness for the person who denies reality. Problems are not solved when we merely deny their existence. Face life as it is and find ways of dealing with it. Adapt to change. Change is inevitable, and many people resist it. But if there is to be a measure of happiness for us, we must find ways of adapting to the changes about us.

Control anxieties. No responsible person can be totally free from anxiety, but methods may be found by which we may become relatively free. Control your anxieties, and do not permit them to control you.

Give of your self. We come into the world completely on the receiving end. Some people find difficulty in moving to a position of giving. Then they ask, "what is in it for me?" They need a cause, a mission, and an aim in life. Jesus reminds us that we find life by losing, that is, by giving.

Consider others. Self seekers are among the most miserable of persons. If life is to have meaning we must enlarge our hearts and our minds to embrace others. We are our brother's keeper.

Curb hostility. A surprising large number of problems and much unhappiness stems from self-hate. And this in turn is directed toward others. We must learn to curb such feelings.

Learn to Love. The Lord said, "Love one another for love is of God." To love and to master the other keys will lead to happiness in the highest sense.

This Busyness Business

By Jim Collie
Baptist Campus Minister
How could anyone possibly be busier? Term papers, senior projects, tests and... exams are everyday happenings. Then there is the preparation for Christmas. There are gifts to make or buy, cards to send, perhaps a ride home to be arranged or a place to stay over Christmas break. Yes, we've got the busyness business in a big way.

May we hear and receive the blessing of these words of the Apostle Paul in the midst of our busyness business: "May God, the source of hope, fill you with all joy and peace by means of your faith in him, so that your hope will continue to grow by the power of the Holy Spirit." - Romans 15:13. Today's English Version.

BSU Plans Projects For Summer Missions

The Baptist Student Union at Clinch Valley College is in the midst of several projects to raise money for Summer Missions. BSUs are selling School Spirit Badges at the home basketball game. The red and white booster badges feature a CVC Cavalier. The badges are assembled by BSU members who can also make custom badges and picture badges to order. Badges are 50 cents each from any BSU member.

There is still a good supply of Bic fine-point accountant pens on hand. The pens are packaged three to a bad for $1.00. CVC car window stickers round out the fund raising effort. These attractive stickers are fifty cents each.

Each year the BSUs across the state of Virginia send from thirty to fifty college students as Summer Missionaries. These students serve in their states and overseas as well as in Virginia. Three Southwest Virginia Area students were appointed this past summer including CVC student Joe Baker.

CVC Announces January Intersession Course

In its two-week 1982 Intersession, January 4 through 15, Clinch Valley College will offer a unique opportunity to study the natural history and land use of the south-central portion of the United States.

Students may select either Biology 495, Physical Science (Geology) 495, or Environmental Science 485, for one, two or three semester hours credit. The course consists of a field trip to Big Bend National Park and Padre Island National Seashore, Texas, plus preparatory and follow-up study of natural history and land use phenomena encountered. The objective of the trip is to acquaint students with the geology and land use in areas significantly different from Southwest Virginia.

Those who choose to receive Biology credit will study the transition from the humid east to prairie and desert biomes, plus coastal marshes and sand dunes, and large wintering bird concentrations.

Geology students will see a transect from the Appalachian ridges across the Interior Plateaus and lowlands, including the Mississippi River Valley to the Ouachita Mountains of Arkansas, a possible outlier of the Appalachians, and across the Southern Great Plains to the edge of the Rocky Mountains in western Texas.

Environmental Science students will observe a variety of land use problems in ecological settings different from the humid east, such as agriculture, forestry, and mineral exploitation in arid and semi-arid lands, park and recreation area management in remote (Big Bend) and heavily settled (Padre Island) areas.

All students will turn in a Journal containing an itinerary and extensive notes on topics pertinent to that student's interest and background. Those who elect to earn two credit hours will additionally edit and annotate the Journal with appropriate reference material on topics of particular interest to them.

Three-credit students, in addition to producing an annotated Journal, will write a more intensive research paper on some aspect of the trip.

All students will participate in an open seminar to be held in the 1982 spring semester. One- and two-credit-hour participants will select topics of interest to them, and three-credit-hour students will present results of their more intensive studies.

Enrollment is limited to 10-12 students and is primarily open to upper-class science majors, on a permission of instructor basis. Interested students should contact the instructor, Phil Shelton, as soon as possible.

Registrations are being accepted at the Office of Continuing Education, Clinch Valley College, for Natural History and Land Use of the South Central United States, as well as for other courses being offered in the January Intersession. Call 328-2431, extension 260, for further information or to register. Full tuition and fee costs must be paid before the beginning of the Christmas break.

Beginning Astronomy And Physics Courses

Both Astronomy 2 and Physics 2 are "beginning" courses, according to the instructor, Bill Hooper, and therefore may be taken by students who have not had Astronomy 1 or Physics 1, respectively.

"We offer the courses this way to help the student who needs a spring semester course," Hooper said. "Unfortunately, many students learn too late that this is possible so we are trying to publicize it a bit more." Astronomy 2 will be taught in Block 2 and Physics 2 is scheduled in Block 4.

Students who need just a one semester course may take Astronomy 2 alone or Physics 2 alone. Hooper noted, and students needing two semesters may take Astronomy 2 or Physics 2 first, taking the Astronomy 1 or Physics 1 at a later date. Although Astronomy 1 will not be offered again until Fall 1983, the Physics 1 is offered every fall and will probably be offered in summer school as well.

Astronomy 2 covers the sun and stars, while Astronomy 1 covers the planets. Physics 2 emphasizes electrical energy, nuclear energy, and radiant energy (including solar), while

Physics 1 concentrates on mechanical energy, chemical energy (including fossil fuels) and heat energy.

Metrics Course

A short, 1-credit, 8-week course on every-day metrics is offered in Block 6 of the spring schedule.

Although intended for anyone who wants to understand how the SI metric system will be used in daily life, it is of particular relevance to education majors. Teachers are finding it increasingly necessary (and even required) that knowledge of metric measurement is needed. Listed as PHSC 200, it counts as a science course. Therefore, it may also be of interest to people who need just one more hour to complete some science requirement.

The course meets 2 hours each week, Wednesdays and Fridays, for the first half of the semester. It consists largely of hands-on experience with metric measurement (inclass, with little out-of-class work).

Spanish Courses Offered

In the 1982 spring semester, which begins January 20 at Clinch Valley College, two Spanish courses will be featured in the offerings of the Department of Foreign Languages.

Students in Spanish 221, Golden Age Drama in Translation, will study some of the most outstanding playwrights of the period when Spain discovered and conquered the New World, circumnavigated the earth, and became the first political power in Europe. Featured playwrights are Lope de Vega, Tirso de Molina, and Calderon de la Barca. The plays will be studied in English translations and the class will be conducted in English. The course does not satisfy the requirements for majoring in foreign languages.

Spanish 498, Current Affairs in Latin America, deals with the establishment of a Communist regime in Cuba, the missile crisis, the increasing importance of Mexico as a supplier of oil and natural gas, the production of oil by Venezuela and Ecuador, the Nicaraguan Revolution, the violence in El Salvador, the competition of Argentina as a supplier of grain to the Soviet Union, and the emergence of Brazil as a major economic power.

Pre-registrations for all spring semester courses are underway at the Office of the Registrar, Clinch Valley College. Complete schedules of available courses may be obtained at the Registrar's Office.

SPORTS Behind The Games

Concerning the Barbarians' recent letter to the editor, "Barbarians Make Points", November 23:

Since it was obvious that the Barbarians had a few personal conflicts of their own, I was compelled to answer their letter.

The first statement accused me of calling them a bunch of "quitters". If you would read the article again, Barbarians, you will find that the word quitter is not used once.

Secondly, I am sure that my statement of players sitting on the field was not misleading at all. I saw, as did players of the PK & FL team, Barbarians, who were in the game at the time, sitting in the defensive backfield. These were not injured players or starters on the sidelines. One Barbarian even commented after the game, "D--, that's the first time I have ever sat on the field for twenty-eight straight plays."

The third point referred to my comment on the only other close game coming against the G.M. S.O.T.S. The exact quote was:

"The only other 'close' game, if you would call it that, came against the G.M. S.O.T.S. They scored 14 points against the steel curtain defense, the most points scored against PK & FL all year long."

The Barbarians felt that I was bragging on "My own team," as they say. Evidently, they do not know the meaning of satire.

"Satire, the use of ridicule, sarcasm, irony, etc. to expose, attack or deride vices, follies, etc."—New World Dictionary, 1978.

This is the meaning of the quote, the only regret is the use of the word, close, instead of, most points scored. The Barbarians did have a smaller point spread in the season opener.

Also, it is obvious to everyone (almost everyone) that CVC is a small school, and many students must play several roles in the college community so that everything gets done. I am sorry that some feel I cannot play intramural sports and also write unbiased for the Highland Cavalier. But, Barbarians, unlike you, intramural sports do not have priority in my roles at Clinch Valley.

I am a reporter first and let me assure you that nothing I write will ever be biased for personal reasons. The next time you read an article you think is biased, you had better ask around because it is usually not just the writer that is biased. The members of the Highland Cavalier are very careful to keep personal feelings out of the paper, with occasional exception to the editorial page, on which it is journalistically acceptable to voice opinion.

Lastly, it is hard for any intelligent reader to understand statements about Halloween water balloons in one sentence followed by a sentence on staying on the subject at hand. If a water balloon is not off the subject, just a little, what is?

In future letters, may I ask you to please stick to the facts, it makes for much less criticism.

Sincerely yours
Tim Howard

Lady Cavs Drop First Two

The Lady Cavaliers dropped their first two games of the season to Milligan College and King College.

On Monday, the fast breaking Milligan Buffaloes came to Wise and beat the Lady Cavaliers 92-64. Sharon Morris led the Lady Cavs in scoring with 16. Jennifer McGee and Susan Hamilton poured in 12 each. Others scoring included Pat Scott, 7, Pam Cooney, 4, and Kathy Rogers, 3.

On Wednesday, December 2, The Lady Cavaliers lost a hard fought battle to King College at Bristol, 60-54. The Lady Cavs were leading at halftime 32-26, but slowly saw their lead diminish. Sharon Morris led the Lady Cavs in scoring as she poured in an unbelievable 29 points. She was followed by Pat Scott who scored 12 points. Other players scoring included Jennifer McGee, 6, Pam Cooney, 4, and Susan Hamilton, 3.

Coch Richardson stated, "Milligan had played several games and have beaten all of their opponents by about 40 points. At the King game, there was much more enthusiasm, teamwork and better attitudes."

The Lady Cavs hosted Liberty Baptist, Saturday. They play Emory and Henry at Emory Tuesday and host Pikeville at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday.

CVC Beats Alice Lloyd

Reggie Bryant led the way with 20 points as the Cavaliers defeated the Eagles of Alice Lloyd 76-60 last Tuesday night.

The win put the Cavs in the winner's column with a 3-2 record but they are still 0-2 in the conference.

The outside shot did not come as easily for the Cavs as it had in the previous outings, but they did work the ball inside to Bryant and Edwards very well.

Terry Edwards was second in scoring with 18 followed by Mike Hoskins with 15. Tony Kolb was also in double figures as he fired in 12 points in the winning effort.

CVC had a comfortable 13 point lead the first half buzzer and increased it by three in the second half.

The second half was an easier battle for Clinch Valley; they were dominating the boards and the Eagles had practically no rebounds in the second half.

CVC will travel to Pikeville, Ky. tonight and to Cumberland Thursday night.

Is Sharon Morris all tied up? Morris tries to pass the ball in the game with Milligan.
