

Monroe And Stanley Visit CVC

Last Tuesday night, over 1200 people crowded into Greaser Gym to have a night of Bluegrass music. The concert attracted the top two bluegrass performers, Bill Monroe and Ralph Stanley. Also performing was a group known as the Payroll Boys. The concert was a community event sponsored by the Norton Jaycees.

The "Payroll Boys" went on stage first to warm up the crowd. The crowd was very responsive to the "Payroll Boys", and when they left the stage, the fans wanted them back for encore.

Following next was "Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys." Stanley is one of the most famous bluegrass singers. He had made several foreign tours including Canada, Europe, and three trips to Japan. He is the only man to hold a degree in Bluegrass. He has recorded over one hundred albums and is a member of the Virginia Hall of Fame. Stanley has a very busy concert schedule throughout the year. Stanley said, "We try to take off about three weeks out of the year, besides that we are on the road most of the time." Stanley played to the fans delight for almost one hour before Bill Monroe took the stage.

"Bill Monroe and the Bluegrass Boys," performed for almost an hour and fifteen minutes, playing many old-time favorites along with some new tunes. At the end of Monroe's concert, he invited Ralph Stanley and his band back out on stage and the two bands performed together. They invited the fans to join in on the fund and before it was over, they had Chancellor Joe Smiddy on stage helping them with a tune.

Almost $2,500 was taken up at the door with an additional $100 taken up in concessions. They Jaycees plan to use their part of the money, $300 or $400, to help pay their fall festival debt. They hope to be able to sponsor more events at the college in the future.

Pi Kapp House To Reopen In Spring

On November 16, Pi Kapp House was closed after a closed party failed to end at 1 a.m. The attendants at the party, however, thought the party ended at 3 a.m. When security came by, the party was ended, and the matter was turned over to Frank Coyler, Chief of Security, and Bonnie Elosser, Dean of Students. According to Elosser, a number of incidents over the last several years attributed to the closing. In fact, the fraternity was only granted a 30-day lease at the beginning of the semester (along with a $30 increase in rent) which placed the fraternity on probation. With the final incident on November 16, the house was closed.

A National Pi Kapp field representative was on campus recently to aid in ironing out the problems and make sure disagreement of this sort fail to come up in the future. According to Ray Russ, Archon of Pi Kappas, "There was a bad line of communication with the security and administration, but nothing that can't be worked out. A detailed set of guidelines for the fraternity was set up to improve the situation.

There are plans for reopening the house in the Spring. Currently, the brothers of Pi Kappa Phi are renovating the house with material supplied by the college. Russ stated, "Mike Dean, the assistant Business Manager has been responsive to the repairs."

Finally, Elosser stated, "I am hopeful and optimistic about the situation."

"I Wanted My Own Style" Says Monroe

In 1928 Bill Monroe formed the Bluegrass Boys and since then he has never looked back. Monroe, known as the father of bluegrass by his millions of fans, treated over 1,500 people to bluegrass music in its finest form last Tuesday night at Clinch Valley College. This legendary man drew fans from as far away as Gibson Station, Virginia to listen to his unique bluegrass style.

In 1934 Bill Monroe and brother Charlie were known as professional "hillbilly singers." In 1938 he formed a new band known as Bill Monroe and the Bluegrass Boys and since then, the name Monroe has meant Bluegrass. In the late thirties, Monroe was looking for his own style of country music, he stated, "I wanted my own style. Back in the early days, everyone sang in just, G, C, and D." By the early forties, he had developed this new style. The style caught on and was copied in the late forties and came to be known as bluegrass by the mid-forties. Now, forty-three years after his beginning, Bill Monroe is known as the "Father of Bluegrass."

Monroe was born in Rosine, Kentucky in 1911. He lived with his Uncle Pen Vandiver for several years. His Uncle Pen, who Bill later named a song after, taught Bill how to play the guitar. "I learned a lot from Uncle Pen, he had good sound. He also had a good time; I remember he played a lot of square dance," commented Bill about his Uncle.

"The style also had a lot of black influence," added Monroe. "I liked the blues of the black singers, and their influence can be seen in the music." There were not a lot of black singers around in the early days but, "I remember one named Arnold Schultz," Monroe said, "he was a good fiddle player. We played a square dance together once, he played the fiddle and I played the guitar behind him."

"Country music has changed a lot in the last forty years. It's spread out a lot. We used to play anywhere we could, courthouses, drive-ins, small theaters," he went on, "now we have nicer places to play like colleges, concert halls, and auditoriums."

Popularity of Bluegrass has grown also. Monroe now performs nationwide when he once only circulated in the South. His music also gained international acclaim as he has traveled to several other countries including Japan, Europe, and Canada.

Now, at age 71, Bill Monroe still does it the way he always has. Unlike many stars, Monroe still respects his fans. "I try to give them what they want; they have always been good to me." Last Tuesday night, it was amazing to witness a 71 year old legend perform for almost an hour and a half and then sign autographs, shake hands, and pose for pictures for almost thirty minutes. It is all evidently just in a day's work for Monroe.

In the last year, there has been some question as to Monroe's health, but when asked about it, he just smiled and said, "I'm still keeping up." He added, "I had an operation in the first part of the year, but my doctors say I am fine now." Monroe also said that he plans to keep touring.

Finally, in keeping with his fine tradition of thank of his fans, he concluded, "I would like to wish all of my fans a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Davis Extends Thanks

Dear Editor,
What began as a backpacking trip to Glacier National Park in Montana with Clinch Valley College French professor Mike O'Donnell, ended as a fifty day trip to fifteen countries in Europe. My travels which began on June 10, 1981, took me as far west as Dublin, Ireland, as far north as the Arctic Circle to Narvik Norway, and as far south and east as the island of Aegina, which is off the east coast of Greece. The fifteen countries which I was able to visit were: England, Wales, Ireland, France, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Norway, Austria, Italy, Greece, Switzerland, and Belgium.

I feel that Europe is one of the most magnificent continents in the world. Europe offers levels of modernization and technology comparable to those of the States, along with unmatched culture and cultural events. A person can walk among the ancient ruins of Greece, gaze at the scenic grandeur of Norway, Austria, and Switzerland, visit sixteenth century England, and much, much more.

My trip began and ended in London, England. Most of my travel was primarily by Eurail train which is the main inter-country transportation system of Europe. I covered approximately 20,000 miles, all for a cost slightly over three hundred dollars. Some of the sights and places I was able to see and visit included: Trinity College, the Eiffel Tower, the Louvre Museum, the Acropolis, the Olympic Stadium, Vatican City, and St. Paul's Cathedral, where Prince Charles and Lady Diana were married. The highlight of my trip was probably being in London for the Royal Wedding.

I wish to extend my deep appreciation to Clinch Valley College, Mike O'Donnell, Judd Lewis, and Glenn Blackburn, the members of the Student Fund Committee, who selected me as a recipient of travel funds. These funds enabled me to buy a round trip ticket to London. I would also like to thank those people who donated money to make the fund possible.

In closing, I would like to say that a trip to Europe is something every student should have the opportunity to experience.

Sincerely,
Charles R. Davis

By Our Standards A Campus Christmas Spirit

On December 6, 1981, Clinch Valley College was entertained by the first annual Christmas Around The World. Each stop on the tour provided a warm, cozy atmosphere and a wonderful array of food. The hosts and hostesses of each home did a wonderful job of making the guests feel welcome. The Christmas spirit really seemed to have arrived at CVC.

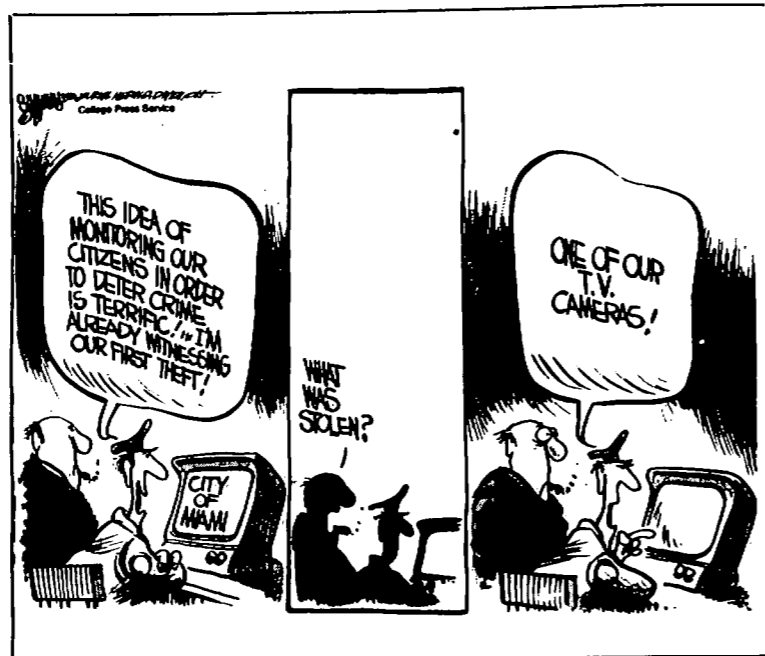

On December 2, 1982, the Special Services Department of Clinch Valley sponsored the decoration of the Christmas tree in the Jefferson Lounge. Several clubs participated in the decorating and I thought the whole event was very successful.

Chancellor Smiddy played the banjo and the crowd sang Christmas Carols. It was a very relaxing atmosphere. Christmas had come to CVC with the tree in the lounge and the wreaths upon the walls. It gave the lounge a 'homey and Christmasy' atmosphere.

But, this past week, the tree disappeared. I don't know the reasons for removing the tree, but the lounge looks so bare in this time of holidays and celebration. Since the students are the ones who are mainly in the lounge most of the time, I think a little Christmas cheer need to be spread around there.

The Christmas Around the World was a unique and progressive idea for this campus. It was a wonderful change and I would like to see it happen every year. A big thanks needs to go to all involved in making it a success. Thanks to you, this Christmas will be a little brighter at CVC.

I guess maybe the Grench that stole Christmas, stole the tree in the lounge. Well, with or without our tree, I and the entire Highland Cavalier staff want to wish everyone a Merry Christmas.

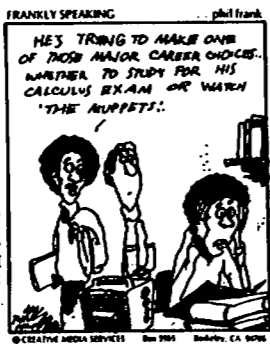

Scrooge At CVC?

Dear Editor:
Bah! Humbug. Any readers recognize this phrase? Scrooge, a character by Charles Dickens, has been synonymous with Christmas for many decades now. This character has always been feticious, a character to let us realize how special the Christmas season really is.

Feticious? Maybe no. Example: The beautiful Christmas tree in the Jefferson Lounge. Beautiful because it symbolized the basic Christmas meaning - togetherness. This tree was decorated by members of the faculty, staff, their children, and students of CVC during a Christmas party held on December 2. Music was provided by the Chancellor and everyone had a good time. The holiday spirit hits CVC.

During the evening of December 2, I was in the lounge and much to my amazement the tree was being taken down! The question on many students' minds is... "Why?" Scrooge at CVC? Surely not!

Wishing you a very Merry Christmas.

First Christmas Around The World

Members of the Clinch Valley College community and their friends celebrated Christmas Around the World on December 6 with a progressive dinner in faculty and staff homes at Wise. About 220 persons were transported by bus from appetizers to main courses, then to desserts of twenty countries of the world, including those represented by the languages taught at Clinch Valley.

Appetizers were provided by Glenn and Brenda Craft, Ronald and Annelda Sturgill, Cecil and Anita Sturgill (Italy); Van Daniel, Wayne and Brenda Edwards (the Netherlands); Colby and Jeanne McLemore (Belgium); James and Frances Roberson, Jim and Betty Humphreys (France); Judd and Charlotte Lewis (Greece); Clayton and Shirley Willis (Scotland); Bill and Jean Jackson, Jo Hounshell (Portugal); and Edward and Billy Heason (Italy). Guests sampled such things as stuffed grape leaves, antipasto, crostini, miniature quiche, cock-a-leekie soup, and Dutch meatballs.

Main courses were served by Rex and Sally Baird (Switzerland); Ron and Julia Heise and Sheila Cox (France); Bill and Barbara Hooper (Germany); Glenn and Jere Blackburn, Michael and Tommie O'Donnell, Harold and Margaret Gilbert (Ireland); Roy and Ruth Wells, Douglas and Bonnie Exosser (China); Augusto and Daisy Portuondo, Jack and Cathy Mahony (Spain); Roy and Key Ball (Scandinavia). Among the dishes served were fondue, Cottage Pie, Sauerbraten, chicken chow mein, Quiche Lorraine, saffron rice, and stuffed pork loin.

Guests enjoyed desserts of Canada, served by Sharon Daniels, Robert Woodley, Rosemary Mercure and Joe Willard; Norway, served by Jan and Amy Grude and Phil Shelton; Israel, served by John McNitt and Marcia Barron; Latin America, served by Linda Richardson, Margie Schoenewald and Reabul Bentley; Italy, served by Peter and Valerie Genovese; England, served by Dave and Sue Bentley; Brazil, served by Clyde and Cindy Sweet; and Austria, served by Terry and Pat Newland. Desserts included cannolis, English date pudding, tropical fruits, Black Forest cherry cake, maple sugar tart, poppyseed cookies, marzipan, and rice pudding with raspberry sauce. Guests were greeted at each door by banners and flags of the host countries, and interiors reflected both Christmas decorations and flags, maps and ornaments of the respective countries, most contributed by various embassies. The walkways of all houses on the Clinch Valley campus, where the desserts were served, were lighted by luminarias, small candles in bags of sand. This Latin American custom was adapted by Cindy Sweet, one of the campus residents. A large group ended the festive evening with traditional caroling, led by CVC music professor Michael Donathan along Faculty Row and on to the main dormitories. Christmas Around the World was sponsored by the International Club of Clinch Valley College and the Student Government Association.

Christmas Time A Comin'

Warren H. Wattenbarger
Campus Minister
Wesley Foundation

All about us we see and hear the sights and sounds of Christmas. We are reminded that it will not be long until Christmas. Before we celebrate Christmas, shopping must be done, decisions made, cards mailed along with a host of other activities. In the midst of all of these activities there are final exams to be taken. We wish for each of you great success in all of your activities between now and Christmas.

As we reflect upon Christmas, let us remember that Christmas gives us a down-to-earth understanding of God. What is more commonplace than the familiar Christmas scene; a mother, a baby, and shepherds gazing into a manger bed? Here, says Christmas, God is to be found; He is near, He is accessible, and He is available to mankind. He speaks to us with in human experiences.

Christmas gives us a down-to-earth joy. Joy is the mark of Christmas. On the first Christmas day the angels proclaimed good tidings of Great Joy. In our carols we sing "Joy To The World" and "Good Tidings Of Comfort and Joy" and " 'Tis The Season To Be Jolly". Our most used Christmas greeting is "Merry Christmas". Joy and happiness are the predominant themes and moods of the Christmas season. Christmas is a time to be merry and Christians unashamedly lets that spirit invade his life.

One other aspect of faith of Christmas is the down-to-earth concern for people that the season brings. At the very heart of Christmas is the proclamation of God's love for us: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son." One of the fruits of God's great act of love is to make his followers persons who have love and concern for other people.

Merry Christmas to All!!!!

Poet Visits CVC

Post James Goode was guest lecturer at a recent Children's Literature class taught by Mrs. Lois Lowry, Assistant Professor of Education.

Goode read selection of his newest poetry not included in his book, Posts of Darkness, dealing with the life of coal miners. He also played several traditional tunes on the dulcimer.

Goode is a graduate of the University of Kentucky who teaches at Southeastern Community College of the University of Kentucky at Cumberland. He visited Clinch Valley earlier this fall to participate in a Poetry Reading, and he recently read from his works at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

Goode's wife Sandra is a student at Clinch Valley who commutes from their home in Besham, Kentucky.

By Jim Collie,

Baptist Campus Minister

Bill Bonner spoke at BSU last Wednesday. Bill is an old and good friend. He was Campus Minister during my students days at Christopher Newport College in Newport News.

Bill told us of his favorite gospel account of the Christmas story. No, it wasn't Luke's narrative of the birth in the Bethlehem stable or Matthew's account of the visit of the wise men. Instead he spoke of the special Christmas meaning that the first chapter of John holds for him and for us.

Thank you Bill Bonner for reminding us that Christmas is older than we think. For the Gospel According to John dates Christmas even before the creation, "In the beginning..."

And Christmas has always been a time of giving. In creation the giving of the gift of life and the image of God. The risk-taking giving of the gift of freedom was early given. And along with freedom came the necessity of the great gift of self-giving love fleshed out in Jesus Christ.

As this first semester comes to a close, even the most casual of backward glances shows that none of us accomplished much on our own. So many followed God's example, willingly or unknowingly, to give of themselves so that learning and self-discovery and growth took place on this campus. A most appropriate way of celebrating this old, new Christmas would be to say personally a word of thanks to the individuals who have contributed to your life this semester. And another way of celebrating this Christmas is to follow the example of our God and give of yourself. Merry old and new Christmas.

Registration Information

Students who have not completed English 101-102 are required to enroll in the appropriate course in that sequence unless they are not prepared to enroll in English 101. Then they must see Dr. Peake and be assigned to the appropriate courses in the English 091-095 sequence. Students should be advised that they cannot withdraw from these English courses later in the semester.

Each student should have an advisor from his - her major discipline if he - she has elected one and must choose an advisor from his - her discipline by the time he - she has earned 75 hours of credit toward graduation.

Normally students with a GPA of less than 3.00 may not take an overload except when there is particular justification for it in which case written justification from the advisor along with a recommendation for the overload must accompany the request for approval of the overload.

In the last two years several policies have been established on independent study courses. They include:

1. The primary purpose of independent study courses is to provide better than average students an opportunity to take a course or courses in subject matter appropriate for their education program that would not be available at the College otherwise.

2. Independent study courses cannot be used to satisfy general education requirements.

3. To be eligible to take an independent study course a student must have at least a 3.00 GPA.

4. A course cannot be taken on an independent study basis in a semester in which it is being offered on a regular basis.

5. Part-time faculty do not offer independent study courses.

6. A full-time faculty member should offer no more than two independent study courses a semester if he or she is teaching a regular load and none if he or she has an overload such as an extra class.

A request to add an independent study course should be accompanied by a course outline and a schedule of the activities for the semester.

G.M. S.O.T.s Take Volleyball Championship

The G.M. S.O.T.s swept the volleyball intramural championship by sweeping all matches in two games. The S.O.T.s began their quest for the championship by demolishing an ill-equipped Barbarian team. The S.O.T.s handily won 16-6, 16-4.

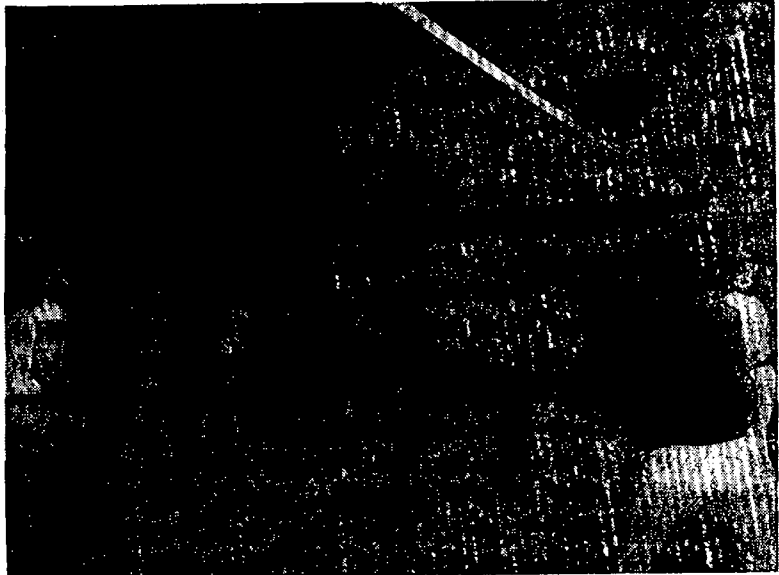

Continuing, the S.O.T.s played what turned out to be game of the year with the Foreigners. The S.O.T.s came from behind with rallying surges late in the game. The S.O.T.s trailed in the second game 14-11 before taking the Foreigners into a tie-breaker to win 17-16.

Next, the S.O.T.s played the Unknowns which, for this year, will remain unknown. In the championship bout on December 10, the G.M. S.O.T.s defeated the Phi Sigs in a hard fought battle. The S.O.T.s narrowly won the first game (15-12) but pulled away in the second game to claim the intramural volleyball championship.

Members of the team include Lawrence Jarvis, Bruce Gibson, David Thomas, Tim Howard, Mark Bledsoe, Terry Kilgore, Jerry Kilgore (Captain), John Kilgore, Ken Kroesker, and Lynn Rhoton.
