Roberson Elected Chairman Of Advisory Committee

James C. Roberson, a local attorney associated with the firm of Mullins, Winston, Roberson and Stout of Norton, has been elected Chairman of the Advisory Committee at Clinch Valley College, effective December 1981.

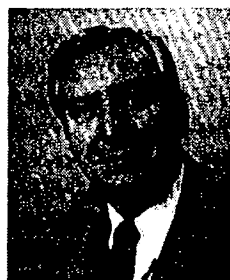

Roberson has served on the Clinch Valley Advisory Committee since 1976, and he was Vice-Chairman from 1979 to 1981. Until his resignation this past year, he had been Chairman of the Wise County School Board. Roberson is a native of Pound and graduated from Pound High School. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Virginia, then taught school for one year before entering law school at the University of Richmond where he received a law degree.

CVC Chancellor Joseph Smiddy, in marking on Roberson's election, stated, "We are pleased to have James C. Roberson as the new Chairman of our Clinch Valley College of the University of Virginia Advisory Committee. Mr. Roberson had long had a special interest in education, and I know he will continue the good work that the Advisory Committee has done for the College down through the years. I am sure that Mr. Roberson will give us the high quality of leadership that Dr. Brownie Polly has given during the period he has served as the Chairman of our Committee."

The other officers elected to serve on the Advisory Committee are Mr. Harold Jackson, Vice-

Chairman; and Margie Schoenwald, Secretary. Other members of the CVC Ad-

Student Union Building 73% Complete

By Valeri Jones

Although the new Student Union Building on the CVC campus has not opened by the date listed in the original plans, the completion of the building is expected near the end of this semester. Clayton Willis, the Business Manager of the College, made an educated guess on the opening of the building to be around the end of April or the beginning of May. At last reports, the building was 73% complete.

The construction was slowed down due to the cold weather in the past few months. The cold temperatures and weather conditions did not permit workmen to progress as rapidly as was expected. Therefore, the Spring semester of 1982 completion had to be moved ahead.

The plans for what the building will contain have not been changed from the original plans. A cafeteria, book store, and game room will be located there, as well as the student government, Honor Court, Highland Cavalier, and Outpost offices. The college also plans to operate a bar in the Student Union Building. "Definite plans have not yet been set on the hours it will be open," said Clayton Willis, CVC Business Manager, "but the hours will be regulated." The college has not yet filed for the license to operate the bar. This can only be done after the facility has been opened.

The completion of the building by May would be helpful to the college in the graduation program. The larger facility would be better to hold the banquet for the graduating seniors and their families.

A Love Letter...?

A love letter? Well, not exactly. But the Highland Cavalier will publish a special section in its February 8th edition dedicated to Valentine's Day. Anyone who wishes to dedicate a special Valentine message may do so free of charge. The message will appear in ad form and can be signed or anonymously. Of course, messages will be edited for publishing. Also, try to keep the messages rather short, in order for us to print more of them. The messages must be sent to the Highland Cavalier by Wednesday, February 3, 1982 in order to meet the deadline. Either send them to Box 1127, CVC or slide them under the Highland Cavalier office door. So get your pen in hand, let Cupid do his thing and wish the one you love a Happy Valentine's Day.

Here are some examples:

Example 1: I can't compare with Barry Gibb in body, beard, or voice; and though you're not Goldie Hawn, you're certainly my choice.

Example 2: This Valentine is as full of love as it could be, because you're my sweetheart and you mean so much to me! Happy Valentine's Day.

Example 3: Thank you for all the happiness you've brought into my life.

Example 4: Happy Valentine's Day to my favorite obsession.

Example 5: A Valentine wish for lots of fun—sure hope your day is a special one.

Highland Cavalier's Letters Policy

All letters must be typewritten, unless they are neatly printed.

Students: Know Your Educational Rights

The Registrar's Office at CVC would like to inform students of their rights concerning educational records. Due to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, and the Buckley Amendment, effective January 6, 1978, students have the right to:

1. To be provided with a list of the types of education records, as defined in the Act, which are maintained by the College and which are directly related to students;
2. To inspect and review the content of those records;
3. To obtain copies of those records upon payment of expenses;
4. To receive a response from the College to a reasonable requests for explanations of those records; and

5. To receive confidential treatment by the College of education records; neither such records, nor personally identifiable information contained therein, will be released without student permission to anyone other than those parties specifically authorized by the Act.

For more specific information on who has the right to see your educational records and where these records are kept, a student may obtain a complete copy of these regulations from any faculty secretary, the Dean of Students' Office, or any student services' office such as the Financial Aid Office or the Registrar's Office.

By Our Standards The New Federalism

In President Reagan's State of the Union address on January 28, a sense of the New Federalism was born. Reagan plans to return a lot of programs and responsibilities back to the state governments ending an era of federal control.

For some, the change is openly welcomed. However, other question the ability of state governments to handle this new responsibility. Nevertheless, it would be wrong to deny the states the chance to prove themselves. Sure, at one time the states failed! But will they again? No one knows. Why not give them a chance?

Currently, many states are having problems funding education and welfare programs because of federal earmarking. But who knows better about a region than its own people? Would you want a Californian telling Virginia how many maps, globes, and desks needs to be bought each year? Certainly not. But it's happening. The federal government earmarks funds for various uses which counties in Virginia may or may not need.

Another proposal of Reagan's is returning the excise taxes to the states. By doing this, the state will receive welcomed revenue to support the new programs and responsibilities.

However, I am not favoring complete federal withdrawal because if anything goes unchecked, corruption will soon follow. But, if a minimal amount of checking occurs, the states should accept this responsibility with efficiency. Waste should be cut and a New Federalism born.

Sincerely yours,
Jerry Kilgore

Up Against It

Warren H. Wattenbarger
Wesley Foundation
Campus Minister

Many times we come to the place of saying we are "Up Against It". We find ourselves caught up in situations and we utter the cry "all things are against me". What can we say in such circumstances to reassure ourselves. We must never yield to self pity. To it we must never give way. We are apt to brood upon our troubles and to magnify them until we can think of nothing else. Others seem to get through life so much more easily. They do not have the struggle or heartbreak that we have. We should remind ourselves that however baffling and strange our experiences may be and however we may wish to escape them, they have their place in moulding our character. They may be cheap comfort and difficult to accept at times, and yet it is true. A life that has never been tested is likely to be shadow and self centered. It does not know its own strength or weakness. It simply floats along with the current. But we have often to stand against the current, to take our stand and to endure hardships, as good soldiers. If there was no conflict, there could be no victory. If we were never tried and tested we could never achieve.

We must learn not only that adversity has its uses, but that it is also a blessing in disguise. Many times what seems to be working against us is working for us.

interpretation of life. If there be no God, we may well be filled with dismay as we meet the mystery and tragedy of life. But we believe in the God whom Christ has revealed to us, the God whom he himself trusted. In his life many things came against him. What hatred and hostility and suffering he had to endure! Yet he believed in his Father's working and guidance. In his darkest hour in Gethsemane, we hear him declare his heroic confidence:

"The cup which the Father has given me, shall I not drink it?" In this he has given us an example that we should follow in his steps.

Open House Resumes

Open houses at the CVC Observatory have resumed for the spring term. They are scheduled each Wednesday evening, weather permitting, from 9 to 10 p.m. This schedule will continue until the end of the semester except for the Wednesday during the spring break, March 12. The first scheduled observing on January 20 was cancelled because of clouds and fog. On January 27, however, a group of 20 or 25 people, including Joetta Dingus' earth science class from Kelly High School, had good viewing because of clear skies. They saw the hot white star Sirius which is the brightest star in apparent magnitude, and Betelgeuse, one shoulder of Orion which is a red giant. They also looked at the nebula in Orion's sword, the Pleiades, and two double stars in Cassiopeia. The observatory program is conducted by Dr. Phil Shelton and Dr. William Hooper. Visitors are reminded to dress for the cold since the observatory is necessarily unheated. Cloudy skies will force cancellation but cold weather does not, and some of the best observing is possible on very cold, clear winter nights.

Allied Health Club

by Maurice Nida

On February 1 at 4:30, an organizational meeting will be held for anyone interested in joining the Allied Health Club. This organization, co-sponsored by Beatrice Hutzler and Roy Wells, will give an opportunity for students to participate in community activities, such as blood drives, sponsoring handicapped children's camp, and blood pressure screening. The club will also be an excellent way for students to express their interest in the medical fields, gaining worthwhile experiences which are favored by professional schools. It will be of special interest to incoming students that are interested in a medical career. The new students will be able to talk to upper-classmen concerning the program of study that they should follow to achieve their goals.

The club plans to become a recognized organization at Clinch Valley College. They will elect a chairman Pro-Tem who will select a committee which will draw up the by-laws of the organization. The group will plan many social activities, including dances, bake sales, speakers, in addition to the academic ones. Everyone in Medical Technology, Nursing, Pre-Med, Pre-Vet, Pre-Dentistry, or any medical field, is encouraged to attend.

Blessings And Blahs

by Jim Collie, Baptist Campus Minister

"I just feel blah!" Sounds familiar? The "blahs" are almost epidemic this time of the year. The few rays of sunshine that come to dispel the clouds almost seem to be teasing us. The beautiful transformation worked by the snow on an otherwise drab landscape becomes after a while tedious. The exhilarating early morning (and often all day and into the night) chill soon gives way to numbness. Blah!

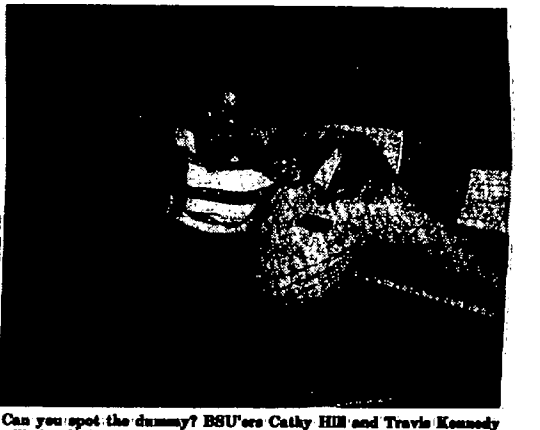

And what about the excitement of study? Where's the thrill of gaining new knowledge? Huh? Duh? More blahs! Perhaps stripped of its mystic, the brain is after all like the heart. It is only a muscle.

Is there no end to the blahs? Kitty Griffith, author and friend of students, wrote a book some time ago titled "Blessings for Blah Days." Her main thesis is that blessings and blahs grow up together. It's like the wheat and tares of Jesus' parable. Some-

Singing Valentines

What to serenade your true love? Can't sing a note? Too embarrassed? Let the Baptist Student Union's talented troubadours deliver your Valentine greetings this year. For $1.50 your friendly local neighborhood BSU will sing to your Valentine and present him or her with an attractive Valentine card to remember the occasion. Are you a talented poet with stage fright? For $2.50 the BSU will sing a greeting of your composing. (Please be reasonable and...

decent!) Greetings will be sung and delivered on campus on the Friday preceding Valentines Day. Dorm residents may request Sunday delivery, if the Serenade will be in residence that day.

Send those cards and letters and money to P.O. Box 1083 CVC. All money raised will go to BSU Summer Missions. This summer CVC students Joe Baker and Marianne Laws will be representing our campus as Summer Missionaries.

The Teaching Profession

by Anne Morris
The Teaching Profession
 Teachers are responsible for classroom instruction. They are also responsible for reports, parent conferences, and community relationships. Teachers may specialize in a range of fields and age levels. Some areas of specialization include reading, vocational education, elementary, kindergarten, secondary, and special education. Teachers must be dedicated to their work, must enjoy and care about the education and development of children and young adults.

Education and Certification Requirements
 The educational and experience requirements vary according to the specific area of teaching. Requirements include college degrees and many teachers hold advanced degrees. Specific course and experience are required for each occupation.
 At CVC, a student may pursue a curricula leading to either a Bachelor of Arts, or Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education. For the specific courses required, you should refer to the CVC college catalog.

After receiving your degree, you must apply to the Virginia Teacher Education and Certification Board for your certificate to teach.
Employment Outlook
 On the national level the projected employment outlook for teachers and other educational occupations indicates that the number of trained personnel will be greater than the jobs. Thus, the competition for jobs in education is expected to be great through the middle 1980's. Because of declining enrollments and other reasons, little growth for these occupations is expected in most areas of the state. There will be a limited number of openings to replace teachers who retire or change occupations. Some teaching fields, such as certain vocational education programs, have had a shortage of teachers in recent years and may continue to have shortages.

Earnings
 In Virginia the beginning salary scale for public school teachers (with undergraduate degrees) ranged from around $8,600 to $12,700. Salaries of experienced teachers ranged from $11,200 to $22,200.

Salaries for individuals with advanced degrees were higher. Salaries varied according to the location of employment.
Training Programs in Virginia
 The training programs in Virginia for education are numerous. Over twenty five (25) Virginia colleges offer degrees in general elementary education, around eight (8) schools offer degrees in general secondary education, and over ten (10) schools offer some type of program in special education.

Pix Of The Week

Doctor? I wanted to talk to you about this face lift!

Rush Never Sleeps

by Mark Broadwell
 The Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity held Rush Week January 25 through January 30. Rush consists of getting individuals interested in the fraternity and more familiar with it. After Rush week, a smoker is held to let prospective members become better acquainted with the brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa. While Rush week is the primary time for determining prospects, Rush never stops for the Sigs.

 The qualifications for becoming a member are a 2.0 average, showing signs of good character, and the ability to add to the brotherhood of the fraternity. Also, every member must help the fraternity in some way.
 After an individual is accepted, he becomes a pledge. The pledge then goes through a semester to see how he functions in the fraternity.

The fraternity serves as a social institution, also, especially on campuses the size of Clinch Valley. There are also advantages in later life in the form of business contacts.
 Although the pledge must go through an initiation ceremony and has certain duties to perform, hazing is not a part of the fraternity's activities.
 Fraternities offer a variety of advantages and activities for many people. However, if one pledges, he must be willing to pull his weight and add to the idea of brotherhood.

3D Comes To CVC

By Valeri Jones
 On January 27, 1982, the CVC Film Series presented Clinch Valley College's first 3D film, "The Creature from the Black Lagoon". The movie opened its 7:00 p.m. showing to a full house. To look around the room was highly amusing. The special 3D glasses which were given out before the performance were quite comical. Seeing people such as the Dean of Students in cardboard rimmed glasses with a left blue lens and a right red lens, was an experience!
 The movie itself was not exciting. The creatures did seem to leap off the screen, but nothing heart-stopping occurred. The audience seemed dull. The greatest responses occurred when the movie projector's bulb blew and when the sound was momentarily lost. For me, the greatest difficulty was keeping my glasses on.

 But, the event itself was an experience. It's really great that CVC offered a different and out of the ordinary movie. For many people, this was a first experience with 3D movies. "The Creature from the Black Lagoon" didn't give us a cultural experience, but maybe it broadened our minds somewhat.

CVC Film Series-By Peter Gouverson, Wednesday, February 3rd, Stanley Kubrick's "A Clockwork Orange" with Malcolm McDowell, Patrick Magee, Adrienne Corri. (Color, 137 minutes.)

The future, nihilism, the destruction of free will, violence, drugs, newspeak, all make "A Clockwork Orange", a remarkable multi-level film, touching social, moral and theological issues. It is a troubling movie and a memorable one. It hits an audience at a deeper level of consciousness than mere curiosity. It's lighting, editing, photography and especially its music—sound reaching deep into the unconscious (done by Walter Carlos)—are all combined with events both bizarre and frightening. So unclasp your "idlocks", accept, explore and enjoy the violent and sensual experience of this movie which was winner of the New York Critics' Award for Best Picture and Best Director. Based on the Anthony Burgess novel.

Sunday, February 7th—Olivier's "Hamlet" (B&W, 152 min.) From the future, we journey back into the past, from mass indoctrination to aristocratic in-fighting. This film won five academy awards and numerous other honors around the world. As director and leading character, Olivier is at the height of his talent—he brings this classic drama, without pretensions, making it accessible to general audiences and Shakespearean elitists alike. It is a film faithful to Shakespeare's purpose and an unforgettable experience.

From sublime to humorous—the 3rd chapter of Flash Gordon Conquers the Universe will be shown after the first show, due to the length of Hamlet the first show will begin at 6:45 p.m.

Honor Court Election-There will be an election for four positions on the Honor Court on February 10, 1982. Students interested should file a declaration of candidacy in the Dean of Students' office. Elements Picked To Win Intramural Championship

Greetings! It's that time of year again. Time for everyone who thinks he can shoot a ball to get on an intramural team. And that's the way it looks for the 1982 Intramural Season. Eleven squads are ready to go and some, perhaps, will be ready to leave after the first week. Action starts tonight at Greear Gymnasium but prior to tipoff, you are forced to take your medicine. The Kilgore Computer has been fed data on every team and surprisingly enough, the final intramural poll follows:

1. The Elements--No, we're not talking about air or water, but we're talking about thunder and lightning. With Johnny Carnelle in the middle, the boards will be crashed like thunder. The lightning comes in with David Webb and Jeff Smith. The team should go 20-0, but we'll settle for 19-1.

2. The Assassins--As symbolized by their name, this is a team of shooters. With State Smith, Vince Lambert, and Benny Ratliff, this team could easily shoot into the championship game. Defense for them may not be needed. Look for a 17-3 season.

3. Just a Team--What an under-estimation! The majority of this team has played on the last two championship teams. Look at their roster--Ziggy Powers, Eddie Combs, Sam Dixon, Ken Crowder. Look for a 16-4 season and a good game in the semi-finals.

4. G.M. SOTS--Too many times and too many losers they've come away losers. They've been in championship before and they've never won it. If they hustle and play defense, they may compete with the Big Three. Look for a 15-5 season with one win over one of the three big teams.

5. Pi Kappas--I don't why I picked them fifth, but it's just a hunch. They've got pride and prides goes a long way in the close ones. Fran Hunt and Terry Raines will lead the team to a 13-7 season.

6. Hot Shots--Last year these team members played for the Barbarians. With Greg Cole and Jimmy Rogers, they'll win the majority of games but two big wins will come against the Barbarians. Look for this team to go 11-9.

7. Barbarians--They say they're going out on the court for fun, but they have too much pride to give up in any game. They may pull a big upset at the end of the season. They'll finish at .500 (10-10).

8. P.O.W.--This team may as well have stayed a prisoner and off the basketball court. One bright spot is Robin Dotson who would start at guard for any team. Look for this team to finish 8-12.

9. Phi Sigs--The Phi Sigs' sport is football or any other contact sport. Fouls, fouls, and more fouls will keep the Phi Sigs out of serious competition. They'll finish 8-14.

10. Kings--This team better send an order out for the serfs to play. Otherwise, their chances of winning is about the same as Clinch Valley beating UVA. They'll be lucky to finish 3-17 with one bright spot (Roger Keith) leading the way.

11. Dragon files--If they'd unite with the Kings we could film a medieval movie. Still, they'd both finish 4-17. So, look for them to finish 1-19 with one glorious moment (probably a forfeit!).

Lady Cavs Win First Game

The Lady Cavaliers picked up their first win of the season with a 52-48 homecoming win over Randolph-Macon-Ashland. The game also marked the first conference game for the Lady Cavs and the ladies were off on a good foot in conference play.

The Lady Cavs moved out to a 24-16 halftime lead. However, the game wasn't over! Randolph Macon pressed the Lady Cavs and eventually took a short-lived lead. The Lady Cavs came back and clinched the game when Kay Hartgrove sank two free throws with 0:20 seconds remaining in the game.

Sharon Morris led the team in scoring with 22 points. She was followed by Susan Hamilton and Pat Scott with 11 points. Morris pulled down 17 rebounds in the win.

The Ladies' next five games are on the road. They return to Greear Gymnasium on Feb. 10 to play a conference game with rival Emory and Henry.

In Homecoming

Cavs Beat Cumberland

Homecoming 1982! The Cavs were glad to be back at Greear Gymnasium on January 23 because an earlier loss to Cumberland College was avenged. The Cavaliers won, 74-66, but failed to clinch the game until the last three minutes when they went up by eleven.

At first, the game seemed as though neither team was ready to put the ball through the basket as the score with 16:00 minutes remaining in the first half was Cumberland 6, CVC 4. Then things came alive. Cumberland quickly took a 14-6 lead only to see the Cavaliers cut the lead to two (14-12) with 10:00 minutes left in the first half.

But, things were back as usual when Cumberland increased their lead to nine (31-22) with just one minute remaining in the half. However, CVC went in only six points behind (31-26) with a last minute three-point play.

The Cavaliers came out in a semi-press in the second half and Cumberland knew they meant business. After several attempts at taking the lead, the Cavaliers took the lead for good with 14:00 minutes remaining in the game (42-41).

Excellent free throw shooting in the end game CVC a 74-66 KIAC win over Cumberland. From the free throw line the Cavaliers went 23 for 23 with Terry Edwards leading the way (10 for 10).

Edwards also led the Cavs in scoring as he poured an additional five baskets to boost 20 points. He was followed by Reggie Bryant, 17; Mike Hoskins, 15; and Lewis Hackett, 10.

Adrian Hughes and Gerald Weatherpoon led Cumberland on scoring with 16 and 17 points, respectively.

At halftime, Thomas Adams and Frank Hodges were crowned 1982 Homecoming Queen and King.

Edwards Leads Cavs To Win

With 0:25 seconds remaining on the clock Terry Edwards sank two free throws to give the Cavaliers a 63-62 come-from-behind win over Alice Lloyd.

However, earlier in the contest the winning pass out of Pippa Passes, Ky, looked closed. The cold Cavaliers saw host Alice Lloyd take a 36-27 halftime lead and a win seemed impossible.

Edwards and Mike Hoskins got things rolling, though, in the second half for the Cavs. Edwards poured in 22 second half points to lead the Cavs in scoring with 28. Hoskins poured in 12 second half points and finished with 17.

B. King and K. Baxter led Alice Lloyd in scoring as each poured in 18 points.

With the win, the Cavaliers up the season record to 10-8 overall.

Cavalier Statistics Announced

There are several interesting statistics for the Cavalier Basketball team which were compiled after the Alice Lloyd game.

Terry Edwards leads the team in free throw shooting by hitting 90.8 percent of the time. He also leads the team in offensive rebounding and boasts a 17.5 points per game average.

Tony Kolb leads the team in field goal shooting by connection on 59.3 percent of his shots (120 for 202). He also has a 14.6

points per game average.

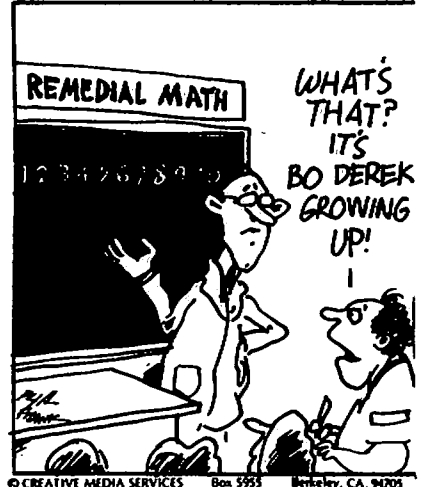

Mike Hoskins leads the team in defensive rebounding and steals. Hoskins is carrying a 15.7 points per game average.

Finally, Ernie Smith leads the team in assists with 88.

Cavalier Coach Dave Bentley walks back to his seat in disgust after what appeared to be a bad call in a recent Cavalier game.
