Student Orientation Leaders (S.O.L.s) have been named for the 1982-83 academic year. The S.O.L.s were recently honored with a buffet breakfast to begin their service. The S.O.L.s show the new students around campus and help them register for classes, check in the dorm, make friends, and develop good habits.

Of the returning S.O.L.s, four are 3-year veterans. Sam Chapman is a junior majoring in Business and Public Administration and is a Resident Assistant, Business Manager of the Highland Cavalier, Junior Representative to the SGA and Circle K President. Renette Huff is a junior major in Elementary Education and is a member of Circle K. Terry Kilgore is a junior majoring in Business and Public Administration and is SGA President, Merit Society Members, a member of Wesley Foundation, and a member of the Tennis Team. Jerry Kilgore is also a senior majoring in Business and Public Administration and is Editor of the Highland Cavalier, a member of the Honor Court, a member of Wesley Foundation, Merit Society, and the Tennis Team.

Continuing, Sherry Shipley, Keith Phillips, and Rick Whitner are second year S.O.L.s but could not be reached for a list of activities.

There are ten new S.O.L.s. The new S.O.L.s had to go through an interview and meet several requirements in order to be S.O.L.s. The ten include Greg Cole, a sophomore majoring in Business Administration and a Peer Counselor and a member of the Tennis Team; John Kilgore, a freshman majoring in Business and Public Administration and a member of the SGA, the Wesley Foundation, and the College Republicans; Jo Ann Perkins, a sophomore majoring in Biology and a member of BSU; Becki O'Quinn, a freshman majoring in History and a member of BSU; Tim Williams, a freshman majoring in Business. ## Communications Day - April 8

The theme of the second Communications Day, to be held April 8 at the Theatre Building auditorium, is "Communications in Business." This year's program is especially relevant to majors in business, especially those in management concentrations.

The day begins at 10:00 a.m. with a discussion by Jim Pavlokis on the educational programs of C&P Telephone Company and the type of skills they promote. Pavlokis is Staff Manager for Communications in C&P's Silver Springs office. At 11:00 Ted Briskey, General Supervisor of Both-Elkhorn Coal Company, will talk about communications problems in the coal industry.

The afternoon panel session, from 2:00 to 4:30, will consider two written case problems and two audio-visual case problems, analyze what could have been done to avoid the communication breakdown, and suggest how the situation could be repaired. The six-person panel includes William Clements, President, Wise County National Bank; Bonnie Elsoer, Dean of Students, Cinch Valley College; Lois Glasscock, Vice-President for Finance, United Coal Company; Julia Heise, Director of the Upward Bound Program, Cinch Valley College; William A. Thompson, President, Thompson and Litton Engineers; and Mike Quillen, President Paramount Coal Company.

The 7:00 p.m. dinner is open to all. The speaker is Frank Learning, Publisher of the Kingsport Times-News, whose presentation will consider the relationship between the business community and daily newspapers or other print media. Tickets are $7 except for special guests. Cinch Valley College students and faculty may purchase tickets at a reduced price ($3 for students, $3 faculty) by making a request to Anna Breeding at the Humanities Division Office by April 2.

Business majors and other interested persons are encouraged to attend as many of the day's activities as possible. Additional information may be obtained from Ron Heise or other members of the Communication Day Committee: Richard Peake, Bonnie Elsoer, John McNitt, Roy Ball, Jan Grude, and Sharon Daniels.

Kilgore Plans For Spring

Terry Kilgore, SGA President, has released plans for the remainder of the year. The plans, if completed, should complete Kilgore's seven point plan.

On April 15, the SGA will sponsor a second Talent Jam-boree. The last talent jamboree saw 10 entries battle for first place.

Continuing, the SGA will sponsor the CVC olympics on April 20 (weather permitting). Various activities will be held with individual awards being given. Also, Kilgore stated that a team award will be given for a team winning and placing in the most events. Team members should be turned in to the SGA along with applications for the individual events.

Next, the SGA will sponsor a Campus Clean-up in late April to push the idea of Organization Participation. All organizations are encouraged to participate according to Kilgore. The Campus Clean-up is sponsored in conjunction with the Wise Clean County Committee.

The SGA also voted to draft a letter to Congressman Wampler extending an invitation for him to visit CVC and discuss the topic of financial aid cuts for college students.

Finally, the SGA will sponsor the Spring Formal on May 8 with the theme, "Sweet Dreams" and pastel colors. The students will dance to the music of Johnny White and the Elite Band from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Kilgore stated, "For any of these events to be successful, student participation is needed. Without this participation, the activities are doomed to failure."

Opening Of Building Changed

An estimate of the opening of the Student Union Building will be determined later in this month after a preliminary inspection. The inspectors will check the building to see if it meets state requirements. Anything that does not pass will have to be changed or redone, and even move the opening date up and further.

Clayton Willis, Business Manager of the college, made an educated guess of an opening date of around June or July. The building was originally scheduled to open in January of this year, but delays have moved the date up several times. Willis estimated, "I would assume the building is around 80 percent complete now, but the preliminary inspection could lower this estimate."

The college does plan upon applying for a liquor license to sell beer in the building's lounge. State laws prohibit the application for a license until after the building is completed and an inspection of the location can be made.

Willis said, "Hopefully, by the beginning of the Fall, 1982 semester everything will be moved into the new location and ready for the students return."

Letters

Highland Cavalier's Letters Policy

The Highland Cavalier encourages all persons who wish to express themselves to write a letter to the editor. All letters must be signed to be printed. Names will be withheld by request and at the editor's discretion, however the original letter must be signed. In addition, the editor has the right to edit and/or reject letters that violate the guidelines as set up by the publications committee. Send all letters to Box 1127 by Thursday, 3:00 p.m. each week. All letters must be typewritten, unless they are neatly printed.

By Our Standards Support Spring Activities

The SGA has announced plans for several activities they will be sponsoring to end up the year. Without the support of the students, however, these events are doomed to failure.

First, the SGA will sponsor a second talent jamboree on April 15. The last talent jamboree was very successful as a packed house was entertained by ten acts. The second talent jamboree can be better. There were a lot of students who forgot to enter the last one and wished they had afterwards.

Continuing, the SGA is going to sponsor a CVC Olympics with various athletic activities. For any event of this nature to work, students must enter. If all students think they're not good enough to compete, the Olympics may see its last year.

Next, the SGA will sponsor a Campus Clean-up in conjunction with the Wise County Clean County Committee in the later part of April. All organizations are encouraged to be represented to make the college look good.

Finally, the SGA will sponsor the Spring Formal on May 8, just before the exams begin. Plan now to attend the last dance of the year.

Thus, the future of CVC activities rests in your hands. If you want them, participate in the activities.

Sincerely yours,
Jerry Kilgore, Editor

Freeloading Tenants

Dear Editor,
I feel it is my duty as an American to inform the world that there are many living in McCrory Hall that are not paying rent. One does not see these characters often except in the halls at night and other inconspicuous places. These characters sneak around the major part of the night and sleep during the day.

To be specific, I room with a whole family: Mr. Cockroach, Mrs. Cockroach, Daughter Cockroach, and the Twin Son Cockroachers, who play the Drums and Tuba.

I would appreciate some cooperation in this matter; their eviction would be nice.

Sincerely,
Room 316

Thanks For Dinner

Dear Editor:
On behalf of the men's basketball team and the athletic department, we would like to thank you for organizing the dinner for the basketball team and the cheerleaders on Sunday, March 28, 1982. We would also like to thank Mr. Smiddy for his contribution.

Space prohibits us from listing all the members of the faculty who contributed and attended, but we would like to express our sincere appreciation to each and everyone of them.

Sincerely,
Dave Bentley and Hal Clary

Petition, Yes, Letters, No

Dear Editor:
I can see it now. I see Bill Wampler seated behind his bulky desk, mulling over the gargantuan influx of letters from our own student body protesting budget cuts of all sorts. After he realizes that for each letter he received there is at least 50 others exactly like it, save for the signature, I see him flinging his political arms into the air and letting out with an authoritative, "By God! It's time to do something!" I then see him picking up a change of address

Quite honestly, a couple of hundred form letters are about as impressive as a heap of low grade mail-order catalogs and about as much fun to read. In fact, if I were a congressman I would much rather thumb through my new L.L. Bean publication than bother myself with a troop of cloned protesters.

Isn't there a thing called a petition where a great number of people can sign one letter to demonstrate a common attitude? I think I saw one once and it was far less obtuse and more than likely cost a lot less than all those sheets of paper. I am convinced that, although both ideas seem to be on or near the same tangent, the petition for better yet a collection of individual, heart-felt, hand written letters would have a bit more impact. That's just the way I see it.

Sincerely yours,
Christopher (Bucky's Boy) Henson

And a word of thanks to those who attended the April Fools Dance. We hope everyone had a great time and enjoyed our Air Band contest.

Circle K is open to all college students. Anyone who is interested in joining should see a Circle K member for information.

We would also like to extend our thanks to Anne Varner for the help she provided to our recent health projects.

Sincerely,

Cheerleaders Express Gratitude

Dear Editor:
On behalf of the 1981-82 Cavalier Cheerleading squad I would like to thank all of those persons who contributed to the lovely potluck supper held in honor of the men's basketball team and the Cheerleaders. The food was great, and it meant so much to all of us to see so many faculty and staff members attend.

We feel that this has been a successful year for the Cheerleaders, and hope that the 1982-83 Cheerleading squad will be an even greater success. We are very proud of Coach Bentley, and the basketball team, and are looking forward to another winning season next year.

Sincerely,
Martha McDaniel, Sponsor

Detour

by: Warren H. Wattenbarger
Campus Minister
Weasley Foundation

No one enjoys meeting up with this sign. It causes inconveniences. Sometimes you have to go several miles out of your way to arrive at your destination. Almost every detour requires that you reduce your speed. Some detours do not allow any passing because they are only one lane in heavy traffic. Some detours cause traffic jams -- and delay you when you did not expect it.

Why detours? Widening the road, fixing the potholes, repairing the surface, building a new bridge, straightening out a sharp curve and sometimes there are temporary detours because of a big accident -- an overturned truck on a slippery road; several cars in a pile up. No matter what the cause, you are inconvenienced. You are delayed in arriving at the place you want to go.

One sure thing about life there will be delays and detours. They will come sooner or later. It would be marvelous if all detours could be avoided but this is not reality. The secret is learning how to react when you suddenly come on a "Detour" sign. Whether it is along a highway or in any other situation of life. The way you react shows how mature or immature you are. Your positive reaction makes you the victor.

Learning to accept change-able circumstances. Learning to change with the circumstances. Learning how to react to disappointments. Learning that delays often come unexpectedly. It is all part of becoming a genuine adult person.

Maybe one of the best characteristics to develop is one that does not come easy for most people...patience. This is one of the fruits of the Spirit. Patience is hard to come by. Yet is one of the greatest characteristics of a mature person.

Yes, when a big "Detour" sign comes up unexpectedly, you have an inner resource which will help you travel in peace. No matter what comes, God not only planned it all, but he gives you inner power to come out on top. Detours can become ways by which you can get a whole new outlook on life. And there might be a lot of smooth going ahead. Look for it

Past Tense, Future Tense

by: Jim Collie,
Baptist Campus Minister

Two very special celebrations in the lives of those who are a part of the Judeo-Christian heritage will take place this week: Passover and Easter. Passover will begin at sundown on Wednesday, Easter at sunrise on Sunday. Each event speaks in both past and future tenses of God's involvement in the lives of his people.

If you've had a course in philosophy, you may be familiar with some of the arguments put forth for the existence of God. Alongside the proofs supplied by reason is the argument from personal experience. Such is the substance of Passover and Easter. They are celebrations of

Schweighardt To Speak At CVC

Dr. Frank K. Schweighardt will visit Clinch Valley College on Wednesday, April 7. He is a research associate with Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. and is involved in the analytical characterization of coal-derived materials.

Schweighardt will speak to a freshman chemistry class at 9:40 a.m. in the Science Lecture Hall. His subject will be "What Color is Coal? The Chemistry of Coal Liquefaction." The history of the production of liquids for coal and the geochemical history of the formation of coal will be discussed.

At 12:40 p.m., Dr. Schweighardt will have as his topic, "Coal-Derived Liquids: A Challenge to the Separation Specialist," also to be in the Science Lecture Hall. He will discuss the need to characterize the systematic changes which occur during the transformation of coal into an upgraded solid or liquid product. The challenge of separation and characterization of coal-derived products, both solids and liquids, is an immense undertaking for the liquid chromatographer.

The public, especially students and faculty from area high schools and community colleges, are cordially invited to either or both talks.

Dr. Schweighardt is visiting Clinch Valley College as Air Products' representative in the IRI Visiting Scientist Program. He holds a B.S. degree in Chemistry from Seton Hall University and the Ph.D. in Physical Analytical Chemistry from Duquesne University. In addition to his tenure with Air Products, he has worked as a research chemist with the U.S. Department of Energy's Pittsburgh Energy Technology Center. There he specialized in applying advanced analytical techniques to the characterization and process control of coal liquefaction products. He also was a National Research Council Post Doctoral Fellow with the U.S. Bureau of Mines, where he studied characterization of coal liquids by nuclear magnetic resonance.

Schweighardt is a member of the American Chemical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Sciences, American Astronautical Society, Spectroscopy Society, Carbon Society, and Sigma Xi. He has authored 35 publications.

On Intramurals.....

by Barry Bellamy
The Elements finished the season at 18-0 to take the CVC regular season basketball crown. The Elements will be heavy favorites to win the tournament also. This team has everything. A do-everything-great player in Johnny Carnette, a tough rebounder and inside scorer in Doug Anderson, a long-range bomber in David Webb, a superior point guard in Jeff "Tank" Smith, while Alex Modabari supplies the spark that makes the team. Their bench is strong also, when they show up. James Greer could start for almost any other team. Rumor has it that Barry Hamler will be with the team come tourney time. Come on Elements, give all the other teams a break! Possibly all that prevents the GM SOTS from being the team to beat is their lack of player of superstar caliber such as Carnette. But from top to bottom the SOTS have the most solid team and will give the Elements all they can handle in the tournament. At least, that's my prediction.
