New Faces On The Hill

Six persons have joined the faculty of Clinch Valley College: four in business, one in mathematics, and one in education.

This week the Highland Cavalier will focus on three of the new faculty members: Carole Almond, Guy Briggs and Dr. Charles Hegj.

Carol L. Almond is Instructor in Physical Education and Coach of the Lady Cavaliers basketball team. She majored in physical education at Appalachian State University, where she took a B.S. degree, and at James Madison University where she earned an M.S.E.D. degree. She was a player-guard with the St. Louis Steaks professional basketball team in 1979-80; was Head Coach of JMU's Women's Junior Varsity Basketball Team and Assistant Varsity coach; held positions as Assistant Softball Coach and Basketball Coach at Erwin Junior High School in North Carolina; has been counselor and instructor in several basketball camps, including a summer program in Venezuela.

Guy V. Briggs is Lecturer in Business Administration and Assistant Director of Continuing Education; he is currently teaching Introduction to Public Administration and Personnel Management. His degrees include a B.M.E. from Shenandoah College and Conservatory of Music, Masters in Music and Master of Public Administration from West Virginia University, and D.M.E. from the University of Oklahoma. At West Virginia University he was Visiting Associate Professor in Public Administration and Program - Budget Assistant, and at Glenville State College he was an Administrative Consultant. He also has been Training Center Program Manager at Western State Hospital in Staunton; Special Projects Officer at Georgia Southern College; and Intern Supervisor, Advisor, Assistant Professor and Coordinator of the Studies for the Encouragement of Adventure in Living program at Georgia Southern.

Economist Charles E. Hegj earned B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Wisconsin. He holds a Ph.D. in economics from Washington University in St. Louis. His major fields are monetary theory and econometrics. He has taught at Clemson University, Lafayette College, Purdue University and Washington University, and was a teaching assistant at the University of Wisconsin. He was awarded the Herbert V. Frochnow Fellowship in Money and Banking in 1974-75, was a discussant at meetings of the Western Economic Association and the Southwestern Economics Association, presented a paper at the 1981 Western Economic Association meeting, and was referee for the Journal of Macroeconomics.

Grand Award For Marion Girl

For the first time in the thirteen year history of the regional science fair, sponsored by CVC and The Kingsport Times, a Grand Award winner surfaced at the International Science and Engineering Fair held May 9-15 in Houston.

The fourth place honor was bestowed upon Alice Nelson, a senior at Marion Senior High School. Ms. Nelson's project titled "Would You State Your Life on an Eye Witness Account?" was one of 38 entries in the Behavioral and Social Sciences Division, and one of 425 projects in the international science fair.

Her project listed the validity of eyewitness accounts. Nelson proposed to "determine if humans are accurate records of details in events to which they are eyewitnesses, and to determine the validity of the use of eyewitness testimony alone to convict an accused criminal." The test group consisted of 340 persons ages 14 through 66. They were tested on their ability to respond to standardized tests with built-in distractions.

The conclusion reached through her experimentation was that the "public (potential jurors) need to be aware that eyewitness accounts may not be as accurate as most would assume."

The others who attended the fair were Jay Adams, a senior at Abingdon High School; Sondra Harris, a teacher at Marion High School; Mr. Hooper, a professor at CVC.

SGA — Eager To Start A New Year

The Student Government Association held their first meeting on Aug. 23 in the Administration Building.

Terry Kilgore, president, proposed the framework within which the S.G.A. will be working. Kilgore emphasized the importance of student involvement. He encouraged every member to attend all S.G.A. functions. "If we have good attendance, we will succeed in everything this year," says Kilgore.

Kilgore stated that the plans for the coming year are almost identical to last year's. However, the S.G.A. hopes to have noticeable improvements in various activities, such as concerts. The idea of hiring "big name" bands to attract larger audiences was one of the group's many suggestions. Also, thoughts of talent shows, road rallies, and treasure hunts were projected among the members.

Also on the agenda was the task of filling the vacancies of two S.G.A. junior representatives. Mr. Kilgore made two suggestions and then opened the floor for discussion. Two more names were then added to the list. After some discussion, Terri Lambert and Greg Cole were chosen by unanimous approval of the S.G.A.

Another matter of business was the upcoming deadline concerning student appointments to standing committees. This matter was tabled until a future meeting.

Kilgore commented that the S.G.A. should do really well this year. When asked why he allowed the junior appointments to be voted on by the whole council instead of simply using his power to appoint them, Kilgore replied, "It avoids conflicts by not trying to be pushy. I don't want to be a tyrant."

This week's meeting will be held this afternoon (Aug. 30) at 5:00 in room A100. This meeting is of particular importance as it is the annual S.G.A. budget meeting. All college organizations seeking support from the Student Activity Fund will present their budget proposals to the S.G.A. for approval. This meeting is open to the college community and all students are encouraged to attend.

CVC Dance Regulations

In order to attend CVC dances, each student must present his - her current CVC I.D. As soon as students have been given ample opportunity to have I.D.'s made, no student will be admitted without an I.D. If you do not have one, you should report to the Office of the Dean of Students between 1:00 and 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 1 or Thursday, Sept. 2. You will need your driver's license or other written proof of age.

Each student may sign for one guest only. The student and guest must each sign a form which states that the student assumes full responsibility of his - her guest.

These rules will be strictly enforced.

Letters

Highland Cavalier's Letters Policy

The Highland Cavalier encourages all persons who wish to express themselves to write a letter to the editor. All letters must be signed and typed. Names will be withheld by request and at the editor's discretion, however the original letter must be signed. In addition, the editor has the right to edit and/or reject letters that violate the guidelines as set up by the publications committee. Send all letters to Box 1127 by Thursday, 3:00 p.m. each week. All letters must be typewritten, unless they are neatly printed.

From Our Staff, To You

On the twenty-third day of August, many of you began your life as a college student. As you enter the collegiate world it is only natural to experience a certain amount of apprehension and anxiety, but we hope that the small-town atmosphere of campus will help to ease your worries.

For many, last Monday was merely the returning to Clinch Valley for yet another semester. To those of you who are already "broken-in"

we hope that this term will not only increase your book-knowledge but will also deepen your appreciation for fellow students and administration. One of the main goals of CVC is to create an environment where faculty and students aid each other in the stimulation of minds; therefore, whether you're a senior or a freshman or somewhere in-between, we welcome you to Clinch Valley College and encourage you to establish individual goals as well as curricular inspirations, always striving to attain them. We, the staff of the Highland Cavalier, wish to extend our wishes for a happy and successful year at CVC. We urge everyone to get involved in campus activities and particularly participate with the newspaper that strives to inform and entertain you. Opinions, poetry, essays and letters to the Editor along with any Commentaries are welcomed and encouraged.

Notes From The Ozone

Hello folks, this is your new weekly columnist speaking to you directly from the first edition of the Thailand-Cavalier. Welcome to the column that intends to examine some of the most irrelevant questions that one could possibly ask about the college experience. And with a little feedback from you readers, we will also examine the world about us with a scathingly critical eye. Jumping right into the midst of the abyss, let's look at some of this week's hot topics. In Search Of The Ultimate Crisp Course: Psychology 101 is still ahead of the field but Art History and Political Science 100 are gaining ground steadily. An Introduction to Philosophy seems to be mounting a threat, and if you're into crisp-at-no-cost, there's always a host of Phys. ed. classes to be considered. Leftovers From The Ice Age: Buzz Russ, the weiner king, and quarter bounce. Will The Student Union Ever open?

After talking to the architect of the project, several of the working crew and most other local experts, I can only say—we'll have to wait and see. But I can say without doubt that the kegs are in place and the taps are ready to serve the maddening crowd. The Political Arena: Hotline Conversations: Hello, Mrs. Reagan, and how are you today? You say your gold lace nylons are squeezing your vertebrae. Well how perfectly awful. Let me be the first to say I'm sorry... Yes, I know. Borz, or, Ronnie has been pretty uppity lately, but you know how he likes those blue cowboy boots that Gene Autry sent him. What's That? No—He's hired a negro to water his flowers, well how integrated. And how am I? Darling I'm fine... Just the other day I was down at Cartier's looking the alligator skin shoelaces when this pervert comes up and asks me if I can spare a dime for the poor. The Poor, I say, Oh my yes, what perfectly lovely people....

"How Clinch Was My Valley?" Having survived some five years here at the valley I can say that yes, the song remains the same. The Rolling Stones are back in, and if you can believe it—Helen Bass is charging for yet another trivial menu item. Having exhausted the stockpiles of ketchup and mustard, Helen's cups of ice have become the latest victim of that ruthless apron baron. Stay tuned for more. Left Field Announces Essay Contest: A jar of creamy deluxe peanut butter, four old fig newtons, and a pack of vintage "Freak Brothers" rolling papers will be awarded to the person who can best describe student apathy in ten words or less. All entries are welcome. Next Week: Dark side of the Mooney.

The ideas and opinions contained in this article are solely those of the author and do not necessarily express those of the Highland Cavalier.

Was Jesus Ever A College Student?

By Jim Collie, Baptist Campus Minister. Ever wonder what Jesus would have been like as a college student? How about if he went to CVC? Yes, it is the beginning of a new school year. No, I haven't taken leave of my sense, not yet. But suppose, just suppose. Perhaps a clue to the kind of student Jesus would have been is found in Luke 2:52. This is the sort of stuff an admissions counselor would be interested in. Call it his high school transcript. Jesus had a record of academic progress. He was mature. He could get along with people. He was a good college prospect. And so are you! Just a little further (farther?) over in Luke's account (try chapter 4:1-13) may well be the record of Jesus' college experience. The setting is a wilderness. Now, I intend no harm to the image of CVC or any other school here. But there are times when college life is very much a wilderness experience. Perhaps it is better said that college is unfamiliar territory for most of us. At college we come face to face with the world and with ourselves as we have never before. How did Jesus do? Besides pulling a lot of all nighters (40 days and nights on one term paper, ugh) and coping with the munchies when everything is closed, he learned three things. We can, too.

First, bread alone won't do it. He took his sense of personal growth from a loving heavenly Father. Even as a freshman, he knew he was about something very important. Second, he took his own tests. He was willing to work and he did. Third, he developed a sense of priorities. For him, God came first. Thus having a first priority, he could organize the rest of his life. Do you feel that what you are involved in as a college student is really important? Are you willing to work? Can you set priorities for your life? I think these are some of the things Jesus would do as a CVC student. Welcome to a new school year and a new semester. Let's get started.

Welcome

By Warren H. Wattenbarger, Campus Minister—Wesley Foundation. We welcome you as you come to Clinch Valley College to continue your education. Whether you are coming as a freshman, transfer or a returning student, we WELCOME YOU to the campus for the fall semester. We invite you to visit with us at the United Student Center. Both Campus Ministers, Jim Collie of the Baptist Student Union and Warren Wattenbarger of the Wesley Foundation have offices in the building. The Baptist Student Union have weekly meetings each Wednesday at 5:00 p.m. and the Wesley Foundation meets on Tuesday evening at 5:00 p.m.

We invite you to come by the United Student Center and visit with the Campus Ministers. If you prefer, you may shoot a game of pool, play a game of ping-pong, watch T.V., or as a last resort, use the study room. We hope that the Fall Semester will be a great experience for you. May it be one in which you are able to clear your thinking and find direction and values for your life. Remembering that we are not here merely to pass the time but are to use each hour and each day to prepare our minds and hearts for greater things yet to be. Each day offers us a new challenge—new opportunities. It is our responsibility to reach out with faith and courage to the challenges and opportunities. Sometimes it may seem impossible, yet he/she who endures shall gain the most. Do not let discouragement defeat you, rather believe in yourself, in God and resolve that between God and yourself nothing is impossible! The future will be what you make it—make it a great one for yourself and others.

WELCOME AND HAVE A GREAT SEMESTER!

The United Student Center

What's that brick building across Coeburn Road from the campus? It's the United Student Center. The center is a ministry of the Holsten Conference and the Big Stone Gap District of the United Methodist Church.

The student center has a recreation/fellowship hall with a pool table, ping-pong table and kitchen. There is a library/study room for burning the midnight oil or cranking out that paper. The study room has a collection of Christian books to browse in or borrow. There are two battered but servicable typewriters for your use, too. Completing the center offerings is the TV lounge with comfortable chairs and sofas and a color TV (blue and green).

Wesley Foundation and Baptist Student Union hold regular weekly meetings at the center. Both meetings include a meal. Wesley meets on Tuesdays at 5:00 and BSU meets on Wednesdays at 5:00. Students, staff, and faculty are always welcome.

The United Student Center is a great place to study or just relax. For more information about the center or to schedule the use of the center for a meeting, contact Rev. Warren Wattenbarger, Wesley Foundation Director at 328-6828. Center hours are 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. on weekdays.

Dinner at the United Student Center.

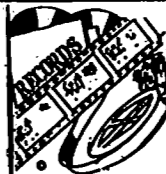

WELCOME

CVC Film Series

The CVC Film Series is an activity supported by the SGA and administered by the Film/Lecture Committee, to provide entertaining, thought-provoking and interesting films, on a regular basis, to the CVC milieu. A poster, with film selections, descriptions, time and dates, is available all around campus—get one and post it, it will be your key to enjoyment from Zappa to Garbo, Nureyev to Truffault. We have recent block busters, international films, silent and classics, documentaries, science fiction, and rock 'n roll films. Hopefully, there is something for everyone. So, come join us at the movies every Wednesday and Sunday, 7:00 p.m. and 9:15 p.m., in the Science Lecture Hall. You have my warmest welcome to CVC and my wish that you have a happy and productive fall semester.

Sight AND Sounds

by Jerry Skeen

The summer of 1982 has gone down in the books as the best for the Movie World ever. A little Extraterrestrial is the main reason. While Hollywood had the hits it also has its share of bombs. Here are some short reviews of the worst and best of Hollywood's summer.

Grades:
A—don't miss it
B—worth a look
C—Not bad but could be better
D—Not too good
F—a flop

"Blade Runner"
Harrison Ford stars in this film similar to the films of the 40's "Blade" is a techno-masterpiece but drags in parts. Rutger Hauer (Nighthawks) gives an outstanding performance that outshines Ford's.

Rated R B+
"Visiting Hours"
All I can say for this slasher movie is the T.V. advertisement was great.

Rated R D-
"The Thing"

John (Halloween) Carpenter's remake of the 40's classic falls short of the first film by miles, but I enjoyed every moment of this film. Carpenter and actor Kurt Russell (Escape from New York) have a great chemistry going. The only thing I didn't like was all the gory special effects. Not that the effects were bad, but Carpenter is much better at the scare than at the gore.

Rated R A
"The Road Warrior"
This is a sequel to a little seen film from 1978 called "Mad Max". Like that film, "The Road Warrior" has enough power for 7 or 8 flicks. "Warrior" is a most original film, even though it retells an ancient story. Australian film director George Miller has given the U.S. one good movie.

Rated R A-
"Pottergeist"
This is a fine chiller about ghosts in suburbia. Director Tobe Hooper plays on the fears of children's nightmares. While the special effects sometimes go a little overboard, JoBeth Williams and Craig T. Nelson, as the parents, do a fine job.

Rated PG B+
"Best Little Whorehouse in Texas"

Burt and Dolly have teamed up and have given us a movie of mixed action and mixed reactions. It "Whorehouse" had given us more of Burt and Dolly together this would have been an excellent film. Dom DeLuise is a crack-up as the T.V. Crusader Melvin P. Thorpe. While this is not a bad flick, it could have been better—after all look what it had to offer.

Rated R B-
Some other films in current release:
Conan—D+
Star Trek II—A-
Annie—F
Firefox—C+
Tron—A
Coming soon to theaters everywhere:
Jekyll and Hyde... Together Again...
The Soldier
Jinxed
Pink Floyd—The Wall
Fast Times at Ridgemont High Ratings:
A—Must see
B—Recommend
C—Appeals to different tastes
D—Not worth much
F—Stay home

Interested In The Yearbook

The Outpost Staff is now organizing for the 1982-83 school year. We need interested students to work with us. No experience is needed and workshops will be held to familiarize the staff with proper layout procedure. This first workshop will be held Thursday, September 23 at 4:00 in the library. If you are interested in working with the Outpost Staff see Bruce Gibson, Vickie Johnson, or Vicki Scarberry. There are also positions of ad salesmen available. If interested, contact Lisa Wilson or Bruce Gibson. All ad salesmen receive a commission that is dependent upon dollar amount of sales.

Raydell Mullins Promoted

Clinch Valley College has announced the promotion of Raydell Mullins Cross from Receptionist to Fiscal and Accounting Technician. Mrs. Cross has been employed at the College since January 1981.

High School and prior to her employment at Wise had worked 16 years as supervisor of the payroll section for the Department of Accounts, Commonwealth of Virginia. Mrs. Cross, her husband Bobby and their son Greg live in Laurel Hills, Wise.

New Data Process Program

A new concentration in Data Processing has been added to the business curriculum at CVC, along with established concentrations in accounting, management, finance, marketing, administrative management, business education, public administration, political science, and economics.

Students who choose Data Processing will study basic business subjects and business applications of computers. At least two business-oriented computer languages must be mastered.

Graduates of this program will be prepared for a variety of entry-level positions within the business and computer industry.

Further information is available from Peter S. Yun (room 204, Administration Building) or Colby McLemore (room 233, Administration Building).

Know Your Rights

One of the big questions on campus as we begin a new semester is "When will the Student Union Building open?" Pending state inspection and acceptance, both the Student Union Building and the All-Faiths Chapel will open in early October. Although, the Student Union Building was originally scheduled to open several months ago, numerous factors have contributed to the delay - problems in receiving materials being the major one.

However, when the building does open it will relocate many present facilities as well as provide several new ones. On the first floor of the Student Union Building will be the post office, bookstore, game room, manager's office, a student lounge with an adjacent exhibiting area, Student Health Services, the Student Government office and two other student offices. On the second floor will be the cafeteria, a grill and a classroom.

The areas left open in the Zehmer Building will then be renovated. The renovation plans have recently received approval. The renovations will include a computer programming lab, an art classroom, a classroom for the handicapped, and a student lounge.

The Registrar's Office at CVC would like to inform students of their rights concerning educational records. Due to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, and the Buckley Amendments, effective January 8, 1976, students have the right to:

1. To be provided with a list of the types of education records, as defined in the Act, which are maintained by the College and which are directly related to students;
2. To inspect and review the content of those records;
3. To obtain copies of those records upon payment of expenses;
4. To receive a response from the College to reasonable requests for explanations of those records; and
5. To receive confidential treatment by the College of education records; neither such records, nor personally identifiable information contained therein, will be released without student permission to anyone other than those parties specifically authorized by the Act.

For more specific information on who has the right to see your educational records and where these records are kept, a student may obtain a complete copy of these regulations from any faculty secretary, the Dean of Students' Office, or any student services' offices such as the Financial Aid Office or the Registrar's Office.

Shipley New Receptionist

Sherry Shipley of Norton was recently employed as the Receptionist for Clinch Valley College.

She graduated from John I. Burton High School in Norton, then accepted employment at Wise County National Bank where she worked for eleven years in positions from teller to loan officer trainee. She continues to work part-time as a teller at the bank.

In addition to her full-time position at the College, Sherry plans to continue her studies at Clinch Valley College where she enrolled as a full-time student in the fall of 1980. She will eventually major in business.

She is the daughter of Sam and Wilma Shipley of Highland Avenue in Norton.

CAVALIER BASKETBALL UPDATE

Men's Team Begins Training

Tennis Swings Into Play

The CVC men's tennis team is getting in the swing of things, starting with an intersquad double elimination tournament among the prospective players. There have been twelve who have shown interest in playing this year; among these, returning members Greg Cole, Allen Wallace, and the Terry and Jerry Kilgore duo.

Coach Van Daniel's outlook is centered around hard work and practice. Although there will be no fall season, there will be fall practice and possibly a few scrimmages.

All in all, the team looks to be stronger this year with the returning players and the new talent, hopefully laying the grounds for a good season to come. With lots of hard work, and perhaps a little luck, CVC could improve on last year's 9-7 record and push defending champ Thomas Moore to defend their title.

PLEASE SUPPORT OUR ONE-PITCH TOURNEY

The dream of every high school and college basketball coach is to be blessed with a championship calibre team. Give the coach the same team for a second consecutive year and he's in coaches' heaven.

No doubt Clinch Valley's mens' basketball coach Dave Bentley has had moments of ecstasy lately as he's viewed and reviewed his 1982-83 battle plans. In fact, most coaches in Bentley's shoes would probably be basket cases by now if faced with the possibilities that may lie ahead. What is the reason for such excitement?

CVC's Cavalier preseason basketball training got underway today as the returning players and new hopefuls began the rigorous training of a Dave Bentley preseason fitness camp. Of last year's championship calibre team, not three, not four, but all five starters return to see action. The top three backup men also return. Add to those players a whole list of talented recruits and you have a team with potential...REAL potential.

Now let's set the record straight--last year's team brought winning basketball to CVC for the first time in the history of the four-year institution. Last year's team came within one point and a referee's whistle of defeating the team that eventually won the District championship and went to the national tournament (CVC beat that team during the regular season); That same CVC squad was among the top team's in the nation in shooting percentage, and one team member (Terry Edwards) finished among the top ten elite free-throw shooters in the nation. Yes, we are definitely dealing with real potential.

Returning with Edwards are frontcourt men, Mike Hoskins and Reggie Bryant. Fennie Bates also returns to add power under the boards. Sharpshooter Tony Kolb, along with playmakers Ernie Smith and Steve Dowdy return to rotate playing time in the backcourt. George Walton will be back with his usual supply of instant offense.

Among the severals' and new playland a spot on this year's squad are Ed Whitaker (6'5" Fleming-Neon High School, Fleming-Neon, Ky.), Jim Miracle (6'8" Thomas Walker-Ewing, Va.), Danny Ryan (6'5" Central High, Woodstock, Va.), Dwayne Taylor (6'6" Miller High, Pikeville, Ky.), Chris Justus (6'2" Hurley High- Hurley, Va.), Bruce Smith (6'2" Fauquier High-Warrenton, Va.), Jeff Johnson (6'1", Western Albemarle, Crozet, Va.) and Chuck McBreen (6'11", North Bergen High- North Bergen, NJ). Definitely a talented crew.

While Coach Bentley may have every reason to have high hopes for this year, his strong sense of team and individual discipline has limited himself to a "cautious optimism." What it all boils down to is how badly the team and the fans want to win. Says Coach Bentley, "We're looking forward to even more support from our fans and hope we prove worthy of their enthusiastic support." Come November Clinch Valley should get a good taste of what actually is to come.

Intramural: Action To Get Underway

With the resumption of classes here at CVC, everyone seems to be trying to avoid hitting the books. Here, then, is the latest work on the easiest way to evade them: intramurals.

According to Director of Housing and Intramurals, Charles Engle, there will be a fall softball season. This report is contrary to the many rumors circulating about the campus these days. Rosters are due on Friday, September 3, and action is slated to begin on Wednesday, Sept. 8. According to Mr. Engle, the field is in need of much repair and must be fixed this week in order for the season to open on schedule. Also tentatively scheduled is a women's one-pitch softball tournament that will be held only if at least three teams enter.

Football is scheduled to start right after the softball tournament. This, of course, is dependent upon the practice sessions of the baseball team. Mr. Engle is hopeful the football season can begin and end before the start of cold weather.

Of special note for all intramural captains. Both softball and football games will be played on Sunday afternoons, so keep this in mind when recruiting your players. If all students get involved, CVC can look forward to an exciting fall of intramural sports.

Athletes, Scholars, Or...?

College Athletes are technically school employees, and therefore entitled to workman's compensation when injured on the playing field, an Indiana court ruled recently. A former Indiana State U. football player, who was paralyzed by a practice drill injury, was really working for the school in exchange for his scholarship, the court said. ISU will appeal the ruling, which could drastically change college athletics if upheld.
