

Gramm - Rudman deficit plan expected to slash federal financial aid

By Kim Lee

With the recent increase in tuition and fees at Clinch Valley College, many students are wondering where they will find the money to meet these increased financial obligations. Unfortunately, federal financial aid may not be the answer it has been in the past.

The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit-reduction plan was passed in December of 1985 and set new standards for receiving federal financial aid. The proposed cuts resulted in two million fewer aid awards and this may make it harder for lower-and middle-income students to continue their college education.

The cuts in financial aid are expected to affect the many federally funded programs. According to a February 12 article in Education Week the Pell Grant Program will be reduced from $3.6 billion to $3 billion. The supplemental grants program and the college work study program will be combined and will be reduced from $1 billion to $400 million. The guaranteed student loan program will also be cut from $3.3 billion to $2.3 billion.

There are also other proposals still in the works. Some of these include: requiring greater family contributions; recipients of aid pay at least $800 per year to be eligible and limiting grants to 60 percent of these costs; and culminating the $12 million graduate and

Necessary explains goals

By Martha J. Hall

"Students are first and foremost" on the list of priorities for returning SGA President, Rusty Necessary.

Necessary was reelected to the position for the 1988-87 school year on Wednesday, April 16, 1988.

Necessary said that there are several qualities that he feels the SGA president should have. Experience, a willingness to listen and to "express your opinion," and a "tremendous amount of patience" are among these qualities, he said.

Necessary also added that as SGA President, one should "put (his) own ideas on the back-burner for students' ideas" and should be accessible to the students.

Necessary said that his job was "to convey the feeling of the administration to the students and vice-versa." Even though he listens to both sides of an issue, the SGA president has to put the students first, he said.

Necessary hopes that the SGA will work with CVC's administration next year on the Student Entertainment Series, which will sponsor concerts and possibly provide student transportation to a UVA football game and to some Freedom Hall concerts.

H.C. Editor selected

By Allan K. Lovelace

Andrea Gonzalez has several fresh ideas for improving the student newspaper. She also has the necessary experience to back up her goals as the Editor of the Highland Cavalier for 1988-87.

Gonzalez said she has "worked in every capacity for the paper," referring to her positions as Business Manager in 1984-85, and as Assistant Editor this year. Gonzalez has 3 years' experience working with the Highland Cavalier.

Keeping the student newspaper "interesting...up to the standards set in the past" are among Gonzalez' goals for next year. She said she believes her role as Editor will be to both inform and entertain the newspaper's readers.

Outpost Editor plans

By Martha J. Hall

Chris Fields, 1988-87 Editor of the Outpost, hopes to make next year's annual better representative at CVC.

As Outpost Editor, Fields

hopes to make several changes concerning yearbook staff, and the yearbook itself.

Fields said that he wants the annual to be run "more like a business" and less like an "organization." He said that he hopes that the Outpost will be less dependent on advertising next year. He would also like to keep the annual out of debt.

Fields said that he hopes that the 1988-87 Outpost will better represent campus organizations. To accomplish this, he said that each campus organization or group picture will be accompanied by a short narrative describing the

Letter to the Editor Chancellor welcomes parents

Dear Parents:

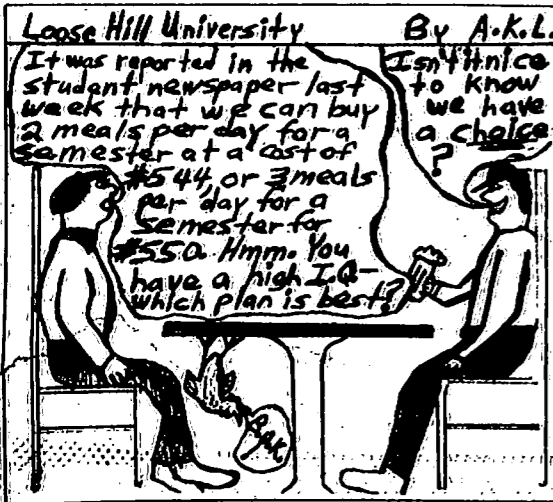

Signs of Spring are all around us here at the College, and those signs remind us that the end of another academic year is upon us. We are sure that you are excited and pleased to have a student who will be graduating from college this year. We want to take this opportunity to tell you about plans for Founders Day and graduation exercises with the hope that you can attend both.

Founders Day this year will be on Tuesday, May 6, beginning at 10:30 a.m. in the Greear Gymnasium. At this ceremony we will award academic honors to those students of outstanding academic achievement. Faculty and seniors will be marching in an academic procession to help make this a memorable occasion. We hope that you will be able to attend. A complimentary buffet luncheon will be served after the ceremonies.

Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises will be held on Sunday, May 18. The Baccalaureate service will begin at 11:00 a.m. The Reverend Mr. E. N. Troutman, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church in Wise will be the speaker. Mr. Troutman's daughter, Carol, is a member of the graduating class. The Commencement Exercises will begin at 2:00 p.m. The Honorable Mary Sue Terry, Attorney General of Virginia, will be the Commencement Speaker. Both services will be held in the Greear Gymnasium. Lunch will be available in the College Cafeteria that day for a modest charge.

Graduating from college is an important event in the lives of both students and parents. Both deserve great recognition for this achievement. We hope you will join us both for Founders day and for graduating exercises.

Sincerely
W. Edmund Moomaw
Chancellor

OPINION

Patriots are willing to both cheer and cry for their country; bombing Libya not an occasion to cheer

"I like Reagan's response; anytime we have a problem with someone, blow them away." This was the response of one Clinch Valley College student who supported the President after he ordered the attack against Libya April 14. This sort of response to the incident is clearly drawn from an ill-informed nationalistic perception of what America's response to terrorism should be.

Patriotic Americans are concerned with what to do about terrorist attacks directed against innocent victims. They weigh the risks involved with military responses, as well as what the results and effects will be in responding to violence with violence.

Some American and British officials have attempted to justify the attacks as actions taken in "self-defense." Few would argue that defending one's countrymen against terrorism is wrong. However, were the killing of dozens of people (including a fifteen month-old baby), and the maiming of dozens more (some of them children) acts of self-defense? To believe that they were acts of self-defense can only be explained by the line of "reasoning" that would argue that the Libyan babies and children would have grown up into terrorists themselves, and therefore it was "acceptable" to kill them too. This explanation is not compatible with patriotism. It is instead prejudicial NATIONALISM!

It is obvious that the Khadafy-supported terrorists have little respect for human life; they kill apparently with an indiscriminate lust, killing Westerners regardless of age, sex, or beliefs. It is apparent that the majority of the U.S. air attacks of April 14 were directed against strategic terrorist targets, however, several of the bombs are believed to have hit the French Embassy, as well as several residences in Tripoli, killing and wounding civilians, some of them innocent children, and other civilians. Are not the American leaders who ordered the April 14 attacks therefore guilty of indiscriminate killing similar to that of the Khadafy-financed terrorists? And are not the American taxpayers guilty of supporting the killing through their taxes in a similar fashion to that of Khadafy financing the terrorists? The blood of babies is on the hands of Moammar Khadafy. The blood of babies is now also on the hands of the American taxpayers, as stated in the Catholic Reporter.

There is a difference, of course. The terrorists kill for many reasons, including ideological differences, responses to the holding of political prisoners, and opposition to military postures and actions. Some of the terrorists also kill for the price (in money or weapons) is high enough. The U.S. attacks directed against Libya were ordered to "prove a point" to Khadafy, according to U.S. spokesmen. The point was that we will not be "passive," the President said, in the face of terrorism. Our President has chosen, after informing but not consulting the Congress, to face violence with violence. Our intent, according to the President, was different from that of the terrorists, however, the facts show that the result was the same.

Khadafy warned prior to the U.S. attack that he would order terrorist attacks against thirty embassies around the world if the U.S. attacked his country. On April 15, the day after the attack, an American was shot at the U.S. embassy in Sudan. America cannot use the "logic" that would argue that Khadafy was warned about the attacks and as a result should have moved his children to a "safe" location - we were warned by Khadafy that he will order attacks against thirty of our embassies - are we to now withdraw the families of diplomats from every country of the world? Again, to believe one is acceptable but not the other is jingoism, not patriotism. Perhaps those Americans who believe it is acceptable to kill people who are not Americans simply because they aren't Americans should pack-up and become citizens of Libya - they would be more than welcome there (of course they would have to lie about their nationality). Patriotic Americans do not welcome, condone, or do anything except condemn this sort of prejudicial nationalism that stands against everything our country was founded on.

Did the President prove his point to Khadafy? Or, more specifically, did he offer further motives for the Moslem extremists and radicals of the Middle East to commit many more terrorist attacks, by proving to the world the U.S. is indeed guilty of killing defenseless children?

The President said that the U.S. attacks sent a message to Khadafy in the "only language" he understands. Israel sends this message often with their retaliatory air attacks directed against countries harboring terrorists.

The Israeli retaliatory attacks often kill innocent women and children. Israel believes their attacks are justified because their countrymen were killed by the terrorists. Do their retaliatory attacks decrease future terrorism directed against their country from the very terrorists they attack? By the frequency and degree of the terrorist reprisals, the answer to this crucial question is an unequivocal "No!"

The President was seen smiling and laughing on national television the day after the attacks, apparently pleased with the result. Many slow-thinking, nationalistic Americans were also pleased with their limited perception of the result. Patriotic Americans, however, did not allow their legitimate anger towards the terrorists determine their better judgment.

The only "crime" of the victims of the Khadafy-backed terrorists was that many of them were Westerners. The only "crime" of many of the victims of the U.S. air attacks was that they were Libyans. Two wrongs, no matter how much it may stroke our diseased and perverse macho-image, do not make a right!

Henson detailed local history

By Kim Lee
The first settlers, the founding of Wise County, and the first railroads in this area were among some of the subjects discussed at the latest faculty colloquium held last Wednesday in the Chapel of All Faiths here at Clinch Valley College.

"Sources of Appalachian History" was presented by professor Edward Henson, Professor of History here at CVC, and dealt mainly with the local history of Wise County as well as the surrounding area.

Professor Henson gave a detailed, humorous account of the first settlers in this area. Before the Revolutionary War, there were no settlers. Most people, white and Indian, just passed through this area on the way to some other place.

It wasn't until a French baron bought the area from St. Paul north did anyone settle here. It is said that he bought this area as a refuge for French nobility, for France was, at this time, in the middle of their own revolution. He was later killed by two poachers and the land was sold. This paved the way for settlers to enter and stay in this area.

The people who settled this area were not, as some people are led to believe, unskilled and uncivilized ruffians. Most people who settled here were decent, skilled people who brought to this area a variety of industries. Lee County was the sight of a successful linen industry and Wise County had a very successful hat industry.

The social life at this time revolved around the church. The activities were designed to liberate and civilize the settlers. Many activities included voice recitals and masquerade balls.

Henson also touched on the history of coal mining in this area. He cited John W. Embowdin as being responsible for bringing the coal industry to this area.

Embowdin bought enormous amounts of land at the going price and began to mine coal on this land. This led to an increase in the number of people coming to live in this area, and eventually allowed

Wise County to progress to what it is today. Professor Henson's presentation is part of the Faculty Colloquium lectures, of the Chapel Lecture Series, here at Clinch Valley College.

Pi Kappa Phi held Rose Ball

Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity held its 5th Annual Rose Ball this past Saturday. The yearly event serves two purposes. First, it is to honor the alumni of the fraternity who have made our chapter the fine organization it is today. Second, it is on occasion to recognize those active members and alumni who have made outstanding contributions over the previous year. The chapter's Rose Queen is also announced at the Ball.

This year's Epsilon Epsilon chapter Rose Queen is Jackie Domy, a Clinch Valley junior from St. Paul, Va. She will now be competing against 101 other chapter Rose Queens for the title of Pi Kappa Phi's National Rose Queen.

Many individuals were acknowledged for outstanding achievements.

Scott Robinson was named Brother of the Year. First Lt. Brian "Ends" Reilly was honored as Alumni of the Year. For attaining a 4.0 GPA for three consecutive semesters, Jeff Elkins was voted Student of the Year. Athlete of the Year was given to Curtis Clayborne. Steve Bonney was voted Pledge of the Year.

Also honored at this year's Rose Ball were three senior brothers who will be graduating from CVC at the end of this semester. Ron Whitten, Jeff Elkins and Curtis Clayborne will be leaving us to pursue either a career or a graduate degree from another university. They have been the finest of brothers a chapter could wish for. Epsilon Epsilon will miss their presence and honored friendship.

On another note, Pi Kappa Phi will be assisting with the Big Stone Gap Special Olympics on April 25 for their third consecutive year. Assisting with the event is part of the fraternity's commitment to other community and assistance to worthy charitable causes.

A special congratulations to our newest brothers: Clyde Witt, Tim Sturgill, and Greg Branch. Welcome aboard guys!

Celebrating Broadway coming to Wise

More than 100 years of the Broadway musical come alive on May 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the J. J. Kelly Auditorium in Wise. Celebrating Broadway will be presented by the Pro-Art Association and the Cohen Family Foundation.

From the first chorus line of plump ladies in pink tights (the scandal of 1888 New York) to the razzle-dazzle of today's musicals, Celebrating Broadway captures all the energy, excitement, drama and humor of dancing on the Broadway state in a colorful, fast-moving multi-media production.

Live narration, slides, full costumes, music and 25 show-stopping performances from musicals such as "Oklahoma," "On Your Toes," "West Side Story," "A Chorus Line," and "Cats" create a smashing evening of great dance, theatre and stage history — a real celebration of the Broadway musical.

the principal touring production of American Dance Heritage, a Massachusetts non-profit corporation. This production, now in its fifth season of performances, is an original work written and choreographed by Jane G. Osler of Wellesley, Massachusetts.

A graduation of Swarthmore College, Osler received her professional training in New York, Boston, Argentina and Panama. She has taught dance at the Boston Conservatory of Music and Boston University and has choreographed more than 40 major musicals during the past 10 years.

Admission is $8 for adults, $3 for students and CVC students free. For more information or assistance with the handicapped, call 328-2174. This program is made possible by a grant from the Virginia Commission for the Arts in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts, a Federal agency.

Outpost to sell ads

There will be a meeting April 23 at 3:00 p.m. in Cantrell 206 for all students interested in working for the Outpost next year. All of those interested, especially those who wish to sell ads and earn a 10 percent commission are urged to attend. The Outpost is also still looking for a photographer for the 1986-87 year.

Pro-Art brings Celebrating Broadway to perform at J.J. Kelly.

professional opportunity fellowship program. Requirements for receiving aid have also changed. Under the new plan, the family of the applicant cannot make over $23,000 per year in order to qualify to receive Pell Grants and the family must not make over $58,000 per year in order to receive a guaranteed loan. Although no final decisions have been made, it is estimated that approximately 91,000 students will lose their Pell Grants, this according to a January 29 article in Education Week.

Sheila Cox, director of financial aid at CVC, commented that she did not know the exact figures, but she felt there would be cuts in the financial aid program. Ms. Cox will be attending a seminar before the end of the school year, at which time she will have more details.

A follow-up article is planned when more details are available.

Gonzalez outlines plans for '86 - '87

One of Gonzalez' plans will be to improve the uniformity of the Highland Cavalier. Creating a "more streamlined" newspaper by giving "a new look...a facelift," are also among her plans for next year's student newspaper.

Gonzalez said she wants to widen the content of the Highland Cavalier by printing "guest editorials by the professors...and more features." She added that she plans to provide coverage of the 1986-87 Student Entertainment Series.

"I want more input from the student community. I would like to see the students submit ideas and articles to the newspaper, because if it is interesting to them it may be interesting to the other students," Gonzalez explained.

Student-requested courses will be offered

Three English courses, one in the second summer term and two this fall, are being offered in response to student requests. The summer course, English 306: The Western Literary Tradition II, is a world literature, western tradition course which treats foreign authors in translation from 1660 to the present. The course deals with all genres, but primary emphasis is in drama and the short story. The authors studied in the course read like a roll call of famous names in literature: from France, Moliere, Racine, Voltaire, Rousseau, Balzac, Zola, Sarre, and Camus; from Russia, Lenmontov, Tolstoy, Chekhov; from Germany, Goethe, Mann, and Kafka; from Scandinavia, Ibsen, and Strindberg.

The fall offerings are

212/312 courses: World literature, non-English speaking offerings at the lower and upper division level. The Russian novel treats 19th and 20th century authors in translation from Turgenev to Solzhenitsin. The last book in the class will be selected individually by each student from a list of Russian novelists not covered in the class, including Gogol, Nabokov, Gouzenko, Pasternak, and others.

The second 212/312 course is the Vampire in Literature and Film. For the uninitiated not vampires but students unfamiliar with the offering, the course sounds kinky and macabre. However, the initiated soon come to know a body of literature. That includes some popular fiction, Dracula, The Hunger,

Pet Semetary, among others, but the course is not confined to recent popular fiction; indeed, the material studied includes and antedates Homer and literature itself. Before literature, there was folklore; before folklore was the fire and beyond the fire it lived on the souls, the blood, the life force of those who didn't heed the warnings that "something evil this way comes."

Vincentian Priest to conduct Mass

Father Daniel Renaldo, C.M., a Vincentian Priest from Allentown, Pa., will celebrate a special Mass Saturday, April 26, 5:30 p.m. at CVC's Chapel of All Faiths, according to Father Joseph D'Aurora, Catholic Campus Minister.

Catholic Community April 20-28 inclusive. Sessions will be held at 7:30 p.m. nightly at St. Anthony's Church, 1009 Virginia Avenue, Norton.

Fr. Renaldo is a specialist in the area of retreat and renewal and travels the Eastern United States. Among his accomplishments as an immigrant son in the small community of Roseto, Pa., was a stellar athletic career culminating in an invitation to play baseball with the legendary Connie Mack and the Philadelphia Athletics.

He chose the Catholic Priesthood and for many years ministered to the Church of Central America, especially in the Panama Canal Zone. He also taught at St. John's University, New York. His homilies will be lively and interesting because of his varied background.

A potluck dinner and outdoor picnic, weather permitting, will be held at 6:00 p.m., Monday, April 28, on the parish grounds in Norton, prior to the grand closing of the retreat.

Father Dan will be visiting CVC because of his continued interest in college students. He once served as a Campus Minister for several years. Renaldo is giving a "Renewal" to the local Norton-Wise-Coeburn

Make the Lord's footprints your's

By Father Joseph D'Aurora
Catholic Campus Minister

Most college students have returned from mid-term or spring breaks. Many will have fond, pleasant memories of the beautiful Florida beaches, warmer weather, wind-burnt faces and sun-tanned skin. Some will remember, with regret, the tragedies that befell a few college or high school students — automobile wrecks, fatal injuries. In essence, regardless of the outcome, time was spent with people we wanted to be with — "friends."

Lent and Easter came and went all too quickly; we were either here on campus or traveled home to be with loved ones for the early spring holiday. Whether we are Christian or not, most got into the celebration that "Christ is truly Risen in our lives!" April and May is said to be the "home-stretch" — term papers, computer reports, regular tests, pop quizzes, the anticipation of final exams. The weather see-saws from spring back into winter in southwest Virginia. Baseball, tennis, golf, many other intramurals encompass our college community. We have deadlines to meet, elections for next year's campus leadership — will we survive it all?

Internationally, the United States and Libya are the talk of the world. Morally, we recognize the Fifth Commandment, "You Shall Not Kill," but, ethically, we understand the reality of the theology of "just retaliation to promote justice and peace."

Perhaps our springtime prayer should be synonymous with the story of an unknown author:

FOOTPRINTS

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonging to him, and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."

The Lord replied, "My precious, precious child, I love you and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

Over the next few weeks of this Semester's end, let us not fear academic pressure or global anxiety. Rather, let us recognize the Lord as our friend; let us make our footprints His footprints.

Phi Sigma Kappa congratulates Little Sisters

Congratulations to the following young ladies on becoming Associate Little Sisters of Phi Sigma Kappa: Lisa Bartley, Sharon Baker, Jill Gibson, Beth Hamilton, Tobie Rose, Greta Trivett and Teresa West. We look forward to the end of the semester when we can welcome them as Little Sisters.

Springfest has come and gone and it was a success. We would like to thank those students and faculty that came out for the evening. It would not be Springfest without you.

Those that crawled into your suitcases and "zoomed" home, missed one of the best times you could have had this semester. However, if you survive this semester, look to the future — Octoberfest will be back this fall.

As this semester comes to a rapid end, we would like to congratulate Coach Spinella and the baseball team on a fine season. Folks, get out there and support them. They play a "mean" game of hardball. We wish them luck, as well as, the golf and tennis teams, in the remainder of the season. GOCVA5!!!!

Mullins fires Cavs over Emory, 3-2

By Bob Sloan

Freshman Author "Aut" Mullins turned in his finest pitching performance of the season Monday, April 14, as the Cavaliers slid past the Wasps of Emory and Henry College, 3-2, in the first game of a double header. Clinch Valley dropped the nightcap of the twinbill by the score 12-1.

Mullins got off to a bad start in the first game as the Wasps stung CVC and Mullins for a double and two singles to produce a 2-0 lead. CVC eventually tied the score 2-2 in the fifth on four walks and a bunt single by centerfielder, Bobby Tiller.

With the score still knotted at 2-2 going into the bottom of the seventh, Roy Laster opened the CVC side with a lead-off single. Following a sacrifice bunt by catcher, Ron Whitton and a walk to Curtis Clayborne, Roger Austin slashed a line drive double into the right centerfield gap to score Laster and give CVC the victory. Austin led the Cavalier attack by going two-for-three and collecting a double and a single.

Mullins went the distance on the mound for the Cavs, holding Emory and Henry hitless for the final five innings. He scattered five hits and collected three strikeouts, while allowing only one walk.

The Cavs did not fair as well in the second game. After CVC jumped out to a quick 1-0 lead, Cav starter, Charlie Gibbons was rocked by Emory and Henry for five runs in the third. Reliever, Roger Austin took over for Gibbons and allowed the Wasps seven more runs in the remainder of the game.

In their 12-1 victory over CVC, Emory and Henry was lead by centerfielder Mike Lindsay who had two homeruns in the effort. Overall, Lindsay went 4-4, scoring.

CVC golfers begin competition

By Bob Sloan

The Clinch Valley College men's golf team will tee off their schedule Monday, April 28 in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Conference Tournament. Coach Barney Hall's team hopes to fair better than last year's team.

The five-man roster, which includes Mike Wright, Joe Perry, Gary Parsons, Dale Johnson, and David Ackers, will also be playing in the District 32 Tournament on April 29, following the KIAC Tourney. Last year's team finished last in both tournaments.
