Delegate Ford Quillen speaks for students

By Peter Van Winkle
HC Staff Writer

Ford Quillen, member of the house of delegates from the 9th district which includes Wise, visited Clinch Valley last Wednesday to discuss "CVC and the Legislative Process."

Mr. Quillen has served in the state legislature since 1979. He is currently a member of the House of Appropriations Committee and Vice-Chairman of the subcommittee on Higher Education.

Mr. Quillen said "This is the first time I've gone to the legislature with five items to be approved and walked away with all five items funded."

The Institute of Government was one project that received funding. The Institute is designed to aid public officials in fulfilling their roles in the community.

It will also be used to study problems and recommend solutions in the thirteen counties of Southwest Virginia. The project received an initial budget of $75,000.

Mr. Quillen was also successful in acquiring $50,000 for the planning of a fine arts building on the CVC campus. He expressed an interest in seeing the Institute of Government placed in the same building.

Money was also made available to the school to purchase two pieces of property adjacent to the school. Mr. Quillen would not elaborate since the purchase is still being negotiated.

$120,000 was appropriated for the purchase of a new mainframe computer.

Once more the faculty received a warranted increase in salary. Mr. Quillen was pleased with this.

Point Blank — 55 saves: Speed limit of 65 will only increase fatalities

By Rob Black

A recent study has shown that the speed limit of 66 will only increase fatalities on our highways. It is estimated that the increase in speed limit will lead to a significant rise in accidents and fatalities on our roads. This is a dangerous precedent that we cannot afford to take.

The 55 mph speed limit has been shown to be effective in reducing traffic accidents and fatalities. It is important that we continue to enforce this speed limit and not increase it to 65 mph. We need to prioritize the safety of our drivers and passengers and not compromise on this.

Student feels cafeteria cheats students

By Pamela Herman

There is a perception among many students that the cafeteria staff is not诚信 If you take the time to look at the cafeteria and examine the operations, you will see that there are a few things that need to be addressed.

Firstly, there is a lack of proper oversight and accountability. It seems that the staff members are not being held accountable for their actions. This can lead to a lack of discipline and professionalism in the workplace.

Secondly, there is a lack of transparency and communication. Students are not being kept up-to-date on what is happening in the cafeteria. This can lead to a lack of trust and confidence in the cafeteria staff.

Lastly, there is a lack of support and resources. The cafeteria staff is not being provided with the necessary tools and resources to do their jobs effectively. This can lead to a lack of efficiency and effectiveness.

CVC's Dance Ensemble a breakthrough in the arts

By Kimberly Lee

CVC's Dance Ensemble has been holding its own for many years. The group was formed as a result of a seminar presented by the Utah Opera Company on the art of dance. Since then, the group has been growing in popularity, and it is now ready to make its debut performance.

The new Humanities requirement is smaller and more limited version of the current Humanities requirement. The Social Science requirement remains essentially the same, although they are somewhat stricter, and the student may choose from a smaller selection of courses.

The main points presented were those dealing with the causes of contamination, its main sources, regulations involved in the control of water quality, and solutions that could be implemented to reduce the amount of contamination.

CVC's Dance Ensemble presents its debut performance on April 23rd, 25th, and 28th in the College Theatre. The group hopes to attract a large audience to the performance, and it is the story of an eccentric group of students who come together to form a dance company.

The future of Clinch Valley is uncertain. The area one more asset with which to attract potential industry. The group is looking to attract businesses interested in the natural resources of the area, as well as those interested in the education offered by the school.

The group has been working with local businesses and organizations to create a positive image of the area, and it is hoped that this will attract new industries to the region.

Water quality in this area, with bacteria levels often exceeding levels set by the Environmental Protection Agency, has been a concern for residents.

The group is looking to support the propagation of native plants and animals, as well as to increase awareness of the importance of water conservation.

The group is also looking to support the development of community schools and teach. The group hopes to support the development of community schools and teach.

Leonard vs. Hagler:

A "Superfight" or "Superflop"

By Ray Russell
HC Staff Writer

"And now, our main event of the evening. In the red corner, returning to the ring after a two year absence, 'Marvelous' Marvin Hagler. And in the blue corner, making a comeback after a five-year retirement, 'Sugar' Ray Leonard."

These will be the famous opening lines spoken of April 6 at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas when a champion and a former-champion meet in the ring to settle a dispute over who is the better fighter. Are these guys really serious about fighting one another after their extended vacations from the ring? Instead of stools in the ring corners, they should have rocking chairs. Get rid of the mouthpieces and just let them take our their false teeth and go at it.

Okay, maybe I am going a little bit overboard, but both Hagler and Leonard are in their thirties and should seriously be considering hanging up their gloves permanently, without giving way to the old boxing tradition of making a comeback after comeback.

My main concern is for Leonard. Does he actually feel that he can come out of retirement after five years and give Hagler a run for his money? Leonard is moving up to the middleweight class from the welterweight division for this fight and will fall victim because of this transition.

Leonard did make a comeback in 1984 against Kevin Howard. Although he won, his performance was somewhat shaky and lacked the polished look of his previous championship form. If Leonard gives Hagler the advantage of going up against a shaky fighter, Hagler will rip him apart and feed him to the odds that are already in favor of Hagler.

As for Leonard's eye, he feels that it will pose no danger. Nevertheless, the danger is always present and a good blow to the Leonard's left eye could do serious damage.

If you compare the two fighters' records, you will find that Hagler's 63-2-2 record comes one fight shy of doubling Leonard's 33-1 record. With more fights comes more experience. In addition to his record, Hagler is undefeated over the past six years.

A major factor influencing this fight seems to be the incredibly large amount of money each fighter stands to make. After trying to talk to Hagler about increasing the fight's purse, Hagler replied in an Ebony magazine interview, "Look, I'm getting 12 million and you're getting 6 million, and as far as I'm concerned, that's enough." Both fighters have-dangled that they are fighting only for the money, but it looks to me that money was a huge factor in getting these two in the ring.

When these two men meet in the ring on April 6, only one will walk out of the arena with the satisfaction of victory. I only hope that both are able to walk out of the ring.
