Students feel AIDS could affect CVC students’ lifestyle

By Bob Sloan
HC Staff Writer

In a recent survey conducted by The Highland Cavalier, 82 percent of those students responding felt that AIDS might have an affect on the Clinical Valley College community.

The survey, which consisted of a questionnaire sent to 59 randomly selected students, received varied responses. One hundred percent of the 25 men questioned felt that AIDS could possibly have some affect on student lifestyles at CVC, as compared to 67 percent of the female respondents. Thirty-three percent of the females felt that AIDS most definitely had some impact at CVC.

AIDS, which is an acronym for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, is a sexually transmitted disease which many believe is approaching an epidemic proportion. It is projected that over 30,000 Americans are carriers of the AIDS virus.

Fourteen cases have been reported in the Kingsport, Bristol, Johnson City area alone.

How does AIDS affect the student lifestyle at CVC? Exactly half of those questioned in the recent survey felt that the outbreak of AIDS had changed their lifestyles. While only half of the women respondents said that AIDS had changed their lifestyles, 67 percent of the men felt the disease definitely had changed their lifestyles.

Only eight percent of the total respondents said AIDS had not changed their lifestyle.

Pizza party planned for CVC

To help close out the last week of school, a cabaret show and pizza party is being thrown for all students on Wednesday, April 29.

Larry Goldstein, mime/vaudevillian and practitioner of anti arts, will bring his show “Solo Cabaret” to Cantrell Cafeteria at 8 p.m. on Wednesday. It is sponsored by the Student Entertainment Series, Pro-Art Association, and American Food Service.

And it’s free to all students with an I.D. card.

“Solo Cabaret” is a comic revue combining stand-up and sit-down comedy, physical comedy, song, sophistication, and a rare moment of silliness.

The show has delighted audiences from Maine to the Virgin Islands. Since 1983, Virginia tax dollars have helped the Virginia Commission for the Arts deliver this performer to children and adults of all ages throughout the state. This is your chance to see for yourself what tax dollars pay for.

Goldstein, in his fifth year of the touring program, is a student of American mime-founder Tony Montalano and of the University of Virginia. Recent collaborations include shows with Michael Parent, one of America’s foremost storytellers, and former Ballet Russe dancer Nora Shattuck.

“Solo Cabaret” will delight and curiously challenge the audience with silent stories, physical comedy, improvisation and much more.

It’s a way to celebrate the end of the semester.

Admission for those other than students is $5 at the door.

Come celebrate!

ALA president to visit CVC

The president-elect of the 47,000 member American Library Association will spend three days in May at Clinical Valley College and Lonesome Pine Regional Library.

Margaret Chisholm, Director and Professor in the Graduate School of Library and Information Science at the University of Virginia, will lecture at Clinch Valley College on May 1, focusing on federal funding for libraries. The meeting begins at 6:30 p.m. in the Chapel of All Faiths on the Campus at Wise.

Chisholm has been selected to head the American Library Association which oversees some 37,000 libraries in Canada and the United States, including the Library of Congress.

Prior to her current appointment, Chisholm was Vice-President for University Relations and Development at the University of Washington. She has also been Dean of the College of Library and Information Services at the University of Maryland, and has taught at the University of New Mexico and the University of Oregon.

Chisholm has published a number of books and articles on library media, censorship, public relations, media management.

Student Government in 1962, in a statement about philosophy I feel that the "we will replace power by love rooted in love, in compassion, reason, and creativity. As a social system we seek the opportunity to organize the student participation, governed by the need for education, that the individual share in these social decisions determining the quality of our own decisions. In this light the SGA needs to be organized to allow the students to participate and provide the media for expressing their needs and demands.

All students have the right to participate in the Student Government. Participation and Unity of the student body is the key to success. The only rent in becoming a part of the SGA is to attend SGA meetings. In this way you can learn what's going on.

With rationality, dedication, and creativity the student body can control its Government. Participation in this way will be the answer to most questions.

For you who may be asthmatic, and do not want to breathe any smoke, ask your elected officials are going to have these meetings. It's not too late to be forewarned. Democracy requires participation. For all those who try to plan anything in the future, this can be one of the realities involved. One day I am not sure exactly when.

CVC tennis team closes season with 2-11 record

The CVC men's tennis team dropped three matches last week to finish their regular season at 2-11.

On Saturday, April 15, the Cavaliers hosted Cumberland College and Berea College, both conference rivals. In the first contest CVC came up one game short as the Tigers of Cumberland defeated the Cavaliers 6-4.

In the afternoon match-up, the Cavaliers again came up short as Berea knocked off CVC by the same score, 6-4.

Later in the week, the Cavaliers traveled to Milligan College only to come back with their third consecutive loss. The Cavaliers will travel to Georgetown, Ky., to compete in the KIAC tournament on April 23-24.

Cumberland sweeps CVC

The Clinch Valley Cavaliers dropped two heartbreakers to KIAC-leading Cumberland College on Monday, April 20. The Cavaliers fell short by one run in both contests, 9-8 and 8-7.

In the afternoon match-up, the Cavaliers once again came up short as Cumberland swept CVC, 16-4 and 17-2.

Two more players sign with Lady Cavaliers

Two Kentucky players signed letters of intent April 13 to play their collegiate basketball for Debbie Kamsinske at Clinch Valley College.

Kaminske signed Pam D. Saylor and Pam K. Saylor of Baxter, Kentucky. Both girls helped their Harlan High School team to the Sweet Sixteen in Kentucky this past season.

Pam D. Saylor is a 5'4" point guard who averaged seventeen points, three rebounds, and five assists per game her senior year. She was named to the All-District Team in 1984-85 and 1986-87, All-County Team in 1985-86, 1986-87, and All SEKC Team in 1984-85, 1985-86, and 1986-87. She was a Team Captain during the 1986-87 season. She is one of three players at Harlan who has scored over 1000 points in her career.

"We are looking for a player with Pam's ball handling abilities, but we also got a super, all-around player who is far from one dimensional,” states Coach Kamsinske.

Pam K. Saylor is a 5'9" forward who averaged ten points, ten rebounds, and one assist per game. Pam was named to the All-District Team in 1984-85 and 1986-87, All-County Team in 1985-86, and Team Captain in 1984-85 and 1986-87.

"Pam's determination and desire to rebound in a crowd makes her play like a six footer on the boards, and that will make her a force to contend with around the basket,” states Coach Kamsinske.

Both girls are active within the school, being members of the French Club, Bible Club, and the Fellowship, for Christian Athletes. Pam K. is also President of the Pep Club.

Pam D. Saylor is the daughter of Glen and Ann Saylor of Baxter, Kentucky, while Pam K. Saylor is the daughter of Hubert and Janie Saylor, also of Baxter, Kentucky.

Cavaliers for 87-88

Burton standout

The Clinch Valley College men's basketball team signed their first recruit for next season last week. The new player donning a Cavalier uniform was Bob Burton.

Thompson, a 6-5 forward, is from Norton, Va., and played high school ball at J.I. Burton. After missing most of his senior year with the Black Raiders because of an ankle injury, Thompson came on strong in his final year to grab All-Lonesome Pine District honors.

Averaging about 15 points a game, Thompson lead his team in rebounding and guided them into the regional tournament. He was credited with leading the Black Raiders on the court and exhibited a fine touch around the basket.

Hall said Thompson is the kind of player who could step into the program and have an immediate impact as a freshman.

Thompson indicated Clinch Valley College was the only school he had seriously considered attending. "I think it's a pretty good opportunity to play basketball and get a college education," he said.

CVC coach Barney Hall hopes to move Thompson to a swing-forward position, and his experience in the post should benefit the Cavaliers inside game as well.

Hall will look for Thompson to do quite a bit of scoring from the perimeter. "He's a pretty decent shooter, and with a little work he could get even better," stated Hall.

For me," he said, adding that he likes the school's academics.

Thompson is Hall's first signee of the year but several more players are on the verge of committing.

Erving retires as 'one of a kind'

"Dr. J."

Sixteen years, four MVP trophies, an NBA championship and 30,000 points later, "Dr. J. Erving is " one of a kind." Erving.

Not enough words can be used to describe what this one man has done for basketball. What we all now know as the slam-dunk, in-your-face style of basketball that Erving popularized by a man wearing a no. 6 clad Philadelphia 76er's uniform is "Dr. J."

This is 'The Doctor's' last season in basketball. He's calling it quits. In every arena he and his teammates now visit, the man we know as 'Dr. J.' is being shown appreciation from fans everywhere who will love and long remember what he has done for the sport.

It was Julius Erving I went to see play at the Hampton Coliseum when I was growing up, not the Virginia Squires. Not a team, but a player. It didn't matter whether the team had won a game or not. I wanted to see this great player that everyone called 'The Doctor.'

I got my money's worth, just as every fan who has paid to see him play has.

There will never be another Julius Erving. There will always be a Dominique Wilkins or a Michael Jordan, but there will never be another 'Doctor.' He is one of a kind. No player could match his dedication and affection for the game of basketball.

"The Doctor" says he is lucky to have played the game. I think we were the lucky ones.
