Lemons accepts five-year term; hopes to engage students and faculty in academic life at CVC

John L. Ross
Staff Writer

After a year of interimship, newly-installed Chancellor Jay Lemons begins the academic year with hopes to "bring about a stronger sense of community."

"There is a need to develop more along the lines of student life," Lemons said.

"There is a need to develop more along the lines of student life," Lemons said. "There needs to be more opportunities for students to get involved."

Lemons also said CVC needs more ways for engaging the faculty and students in academic life. One example of this, according to Lemons, would be to have a "rich and robust" lecture series with wide faculty and student involvement.

"The realities of this are like asking 'which comes first, the chicken or the egg,' Lemons said. "Virginia is in a financial crunch with expenses."

He has been asked if there are plans for cuts. "It has been a dilemma" because while trying to get ahead, CVC is asked to cut back.

programs at CVC seem to be maintaining their financial support at this time.

Dealing with the pleasure and hardships of administration is nothing new for Lemons. Lemons began his journey to CVC from Nebraska Wesleyan University, where he earned his undergraduate degree. He re-years under his belt in administration with Texas A&M University. He also served as assistant to the president at UVA. He then came to CVC as interim chancellor, replacing Jay Knight in 1992. The Board of Visitors offered Lemons the job in June, making Lemons the new chancellor.

"Every five years there is an assessment on the progress of the chancellor, and I plan to stay," Lemons said.

Lemons is also a family man. He and his wife, Marsha, reside in the chancellor's home on campus. Their newest arrival is nine-month-old Olivia. Lemons, however, says he really has three children.

"We also have two dogs, who have been our children most of these years," he said.

He said, however, that the psychology department has received more monies. Lemons attributes this to student interest. Other

Clinch Valley College has experienced many changes in enrollment and housing policies since the Spring semester of 1993

The decline in freshman enrollment is due to the changes in Clinch Valley's admissions process. CVC made its high school class rank and SAT score requirements stricter this year because the faculty decided that CVC was not equipped to handle the steadily increasing freshman class that college ss

Bentley: summer fun lies in the boob tube

Jared Bentley
Staff Writer

There wasn't much to do here in Wise County over the summerX Thai's a surprise, I knmv), so I spent a lot of time doing things that kept me busy withoiH forcing me to exert much effort. I did a lot of that mowing the lawn thing, following Big Dave Bentley's request to do io, and I had my job at the TV station; but I also watched a lot of television at hmie, for iack of a better thing to do.

I saw a buDchofcrap on lhe tube this summer , but there was also a good bit of quality entertainment to be found: Most of the best things on TV this summer were reruns, like Cheers in syndication, or the lather's Day marathba of*Kids In The Hall* on Comedy Central, and, of course, the late night" offerings of bale Night with David Letterman after be bolted for CBS.

But what are the best shows on TV today? And what are the worst? (Is it juslme.

or has this article already seemedio have lost its purpose in the first two paragraphs, oidy to attempt to retaliate with some sort of "Top Ten" list in its latter stages? ) These, in my opinion, are the best shows going:

1. Sportscenter on ESPN: hi all due fairness to the hardworking guys over at RaBen Communication's 5;wrttiva/ci, Ibis is the best show on TV. Can't beat Keith Olberman on Flays of the Week, and Phi Sig alum Dan Patrick has come into his ownaa a key figure in the brash sports roundup every evening at 7p.m. Chris Bennan's nicknames may be old hat, but he makes vp foi it these days with knmvledge and enthusiasm. If I were doiiiig the five stars'lhing, I'd give il two lhmbs up on a scale of one to ten.

2. The Larry Sanders Shmy oniHBO: Garry Shandling, RipTom, Jeffrey Tambor, and KathrynHarrotd equal the best cast on TV. He has the best guest Stan on the air, the best dialogue, and Jeanine Garafalo.

3. Kids in ilkHall renms onCoroedy Central: Lets me know that while the rest of the world has become predictable, at least

Looking for a good job? Donate your sperm

DAVIS, Calif. - "Alex" never thought he'd be augmenting his college funding in such a fruitful way.

But after seeing a student on 'JXmahue' who was putting himself through college by donating sperm, Alex said he remembers thinking it sounded like an appealing idea.

The $25 or $50 Alex receives for a cupful of his sperm at University of California-Davis isn't exactly gmng to s<dve a student's financial.wonies, but it is a pretty simple way to a buck.

Alex is one of the many students whose participation as a sperm donor helps supply semen for various on going research and fertility programs operating out of the UCD Medical Center.

The university regularly buys sperm for purposes of artitcidly inseminating women who cannot otherwise cmiceive a child, according to Dr. James Overstreet, a professor in the division of reproductive biology and medicine.

Faiiicipants in this program receive $50 for producing a sample of their sperm. And because the dooor (UK) his speim samide are put dmugh a critical screening process, it can be effective method of detennining the healdi and potency of the donor's sperm.

"That's another great thing about this program," Alex said. I found out that I have, good stuff. You know, good testosterone level;"

Candidates must first'undergo'an exhaustive screeuing'process which evaluateslhem genetically and traces three generations of their family genealogy before the program accepts them, Overstreet said.

Overstreet added that a caiididale's physical mdceup can also be a factor in his eligibility.

"We try to match the physical characteristics of a donor with those of the infertile couple," he said. "We want a variety iof physical characteristics in the donors."

The aitifidal insemination program maintains the anonymity of both the donor and the redpienls.

"hi law, (the donor) is not the natural father of the child," Overstreet said.

Alex, however, said he realized that the notion of even indirectly impregnating a

Collins predicts NFL forerunners in 1993-94 season

Gary L. Collins
Sports Editor

As each owner in the National Football League has' visions of Super Bowl rings dancing in their heads, only two will reach the promised land: the Georgia Dome in Atlanta, the site of Super Bowl XXVIII in January 19W.

Last year,the Dallas Cowboysdestroy'ed the Buffalo Bills, 52-17, in Super Bowl XXVII for the Bills' third straight loss in the title game.

It's the usualproceduie for die champioa of the precedii^ season to be the favorite to repeat in the upcoming year.

Each division in the American Conference seems to be a two-team mce. hi the AFG West, the San Diego Chargers are the class of the division; yes, even though the Chiefs acquired QB Joe Montana from the San Francisco 49 ers and free agent running back Marcus Allen from the L.A. Raiders.

The Chargers are led by Stan Humphries, one of the league's most efficient quarterbacks toward the end of last year, who is destined for a big season in '93. Marion Butts will carry the rushing load while Ronnie Harmon will again be the league's best third down running back.

With Pro-Bowlers Leslie O'Neal (defensive end) and Jimior Sean, arguaUy the game's premier linebacker, anchoring the defense, the Chargers will make a serious run toward Super Bowl glory.

Barring a defensive letdown, Kansas City could challenge for the division title. Montana could siqply the spark to push the Chiefs over the top.

The supporting cast of Kansas City is not that of San Diego. The Chai'gers will win the title while the Chiefs will earn a wild-card spot. The rest of the division is mediocre at best."The Seahawks will learn that a rich quarterback cannot twin. Welcome to the NFL. Rick!

In the AFC Central, we have a two-team

race and maybe a Cinderella. The Steelers and Oilers are far and away the diamonds in this rough. Pittsburgh's QB Neil O'Dom dl will lead his team to the title if RB Barry Foster does not suffer from the effects of summer training camp hold-out syndrome. If he does, the Oilers could squeak by them. Pittsburgh and Houston |day in Week 14, a huge game to say the least.

In the last game of the year, Pittsburgh plays Cleveland. If the Browns have not folded by then, they could claim a wild card spot.

The Cincinnati Bengals are trying to nun QB David Klingler into a drop-back passer. At the University of Houston, the fonner Heisman Trophy winner led the Cougar n u and shoot. Big mistake in the jiiugle!

I'm afraid a fourth consecutive trip to the Super Boivl is not in the Buffalo BiUs' future. The Miami Dolphins will dominate die east-ern division of die American League with die New York Jets, very much improved over last year's team, should come in a close second.

With Marino diiowing to Keith Jackson and lo free agents Irving Fryor and Mark bigram, die Dolphins wjU not miss die Maik Brothers (Qayton and Duper). The Jets picked up QB Boomer Esiasoi and RB Johnny Johnson for their offense while the defense got stronger adding tackle Leonard Marshall and free safety Ronnie Lott.

Three straight Super Bowl losses will take its toll on the defending AFC champs.

CVC cheerleaders: Elite athletic team

Gni7 Collins

Hard work, along with determination and perseverance, will get you far in life. Only a select fe^v woriv with die intensity to become one of the greatest athletes of our time: a cheerleader!

The 1993 Highland Cavalier football cheerleaders have been hard at work in preparation for die ul|coming season.

The team, sponsored by Karen Hopkins and student sponsors Brigitte Carter and Stacey DePriest, slatted oiganizing last spring by having extensive tryouts.

The involvement of CVC faculty, staff and local high school cheerleader sponsors was utilized in the task forming an elite squad filled with college spirit, as well as athletic lalenL

The 'fun' then began as one-two hours a day, two-three days a week of grueling practice started. Although this does not sound like 'fun' to me, Senior Christy Lawson realizes the benefit of hard work.

"The teams' goal is to work toward an opportunity to compete on a national level." J dnu^ Lawson on the '93 squad are captain Tina Boggs, co-captain Kristi Hubbard, Cynthia Johnson, Wendi Caldwell, Jenny Fleenor, Vanejsa Cooney , Natalie McConnell, Kim Powers, and Hetde Childress. Hopkins, who works in die CVC bookstore, is very endiusiastic about this year's team.

"I really look forward to the coming season. They're a great bunch of girls and I feel dieis will be one of the best squads we've ever had here at CVC."

Like all athletic teams, the cheerleadera need support. Hopkins and the rest of the team would like to thank Bill Ramseyer, head coach of the Cavaliers, his staff and die football team for their constani support and for making the girls feel like a part of the 'family'.

We all need to realize that our cheerlead-ers are an athletic team, just like our football team, and they work just as hard; sometimes haider!

The girls promote school sphit, become positive role models in the college community and since a 2.0 OPA is required, beii^ a member of the team helps to keep your grades up.

So, if any of you guys think you have what it lakes to be a 1993 Highlmd Cavalier football cheerleader, conlaci Karen He^kins in the botdcstore.
