The sex game has new rules at Antioch U.

Karen Neudstat
College Press Service

At Antioch University you better believe it if someone says they don't want to kiss you. Or hug you. Or go to bed with you. It could mean your college career.

The small liberal arts school, in Yellow Springs, Ohio, has a sexual offense policy that requires students to give and receive verbal consent for every act of affection, from touching to kissing to sexual intercourse.

In addition, if an Antioch student - male or female - fails to disclose having a sexually-transmitted disease and has intercourse with another student, it could mean a suspension of three months or more.

"Some say we are too stringent," said

Marian Jensen, dean of students at the college. "But all we are asking for is that students use respect and common sense. We are trying to teach college students to talk reasonably and sensibly about intimacy. Those of us who know college students know that people get assaulted, get taken advantage of, or wake up in the morning feeling very uncomfortable about what happened the night before."

The policy spells out what the school considers appropriate sexual behavior. "Asking 'Do you want to have sex with me?' is not enough. The request must be specific to each act."

Students eventually accept the policy, said Jensen, though male students sometimes balk at it. The Antioch campus is small and a person who is taking liberties with others can disrupt it.

All are required to attend a workshop about sexual offense, consent and behavior every year. In addition, a one-credit self defense workshop is offered each quarter, and the school offers support groups for survivors of sexual offenses.

Jensen said she has invited male students into her office when she hears of questionable sexual behavior.

"I'll say to a young man, 'You're not in trouble yet, but you could be if you keep putting your hand where they don't belong,'" she said. "I tell them that maybe they think it's cool to feel some girl up, but maybe she was afraid to tell you she didn't like it."

Jensen hopes her chats will educate young men who do not realize that their behavior is inappropriate.

Antioch has had one sexual offense hearing since the policy was put in place three years ago, but Jensen is concerned that the low number may mean that there is still reticence about reporting sexual improprieties.

If a rape is reported on the Antioch campus, the alleged perpetrator is removed from the campus immediately. Jensen cited a case at the University of California at Santa Cruz where a rape was reported, and the victim had to face the perpetrator every day for months before a hearing was held.

"It is a fair procedure, though we know it is clearly stacked in favor of the victim. But we are trying to even the power balance."

Student rights, needs outlined

There are several things students need to be aware of in order to graduate and transfer properly. Students also need to know their rights as far as the privacy of information is concerned and the rights concerning educational records. The registrar's office has outlined these things.

1) Fourth-year students expecting to complete degree requirements during the 1993-94 academic year must complete a degree application form and return it to the registrar's office.

2) Third-year students - when a degree-track student has completed 54 semester hours and is a junior, he or she must declare a major from the majors offered by the college and have a faculty advisor in that department. A student may declare or change his or her major by completing the appropriate form in the office of the registrar.

3) Clinch Valley College students who wish to take classes at another school for transfer credit to CVC must complete the necessary request form. Forms are available in the registrar's office.

4) PRIVACY OF INFORMATION NOTICE: This is to inform students that CVC intends to comply fully with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. CVC has adopted a local policy that explains in detail the procedures for compliance with the provisions of the Act. Copies of the policy are available in the registrar's office.

In accordance with the Act, CVC hereby designates the following as directory information: name, home and school address, home and school phone, date and place of birth, age, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, dates of attendance, degrees, honors, scholarships and awards received, most recent previous educational agency or institution attended, name of student's parents or guardian, and weight and height if member of athletic teams.

Directory information may be disclosed by the institution at its discretion. If the student does not request that the information be withheld, Requests to withhold information must be received in the registrar's office no later than two calendar weeks after the first class meeting.

5) EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS NOTICE - The registrar's office at CVC would like to inform students of their rights concerning educational records. Due to the 1974 Act, and the Buckley Amendments, effective January 6, 1974, students have the right A) to be provided with a list of the types of educational records, as defined in the Act, which are maintained by the college and directly related to students; B) to inspect and review the contents of those records; C) to obtain copies of those records upon payment of expenses; D) to receive a response from the college to reasonable requests for explanations of those records; and E) to receive confidential treatment by the college of education records; neither such records, nor personally identifiable information contained therein, will be released without student permission to anyone other than those parties specifically authorized by the Act.

CVC has adopted a local policy which explains the procedures for compliance with the provisions of the Act. Students may obtain copies of these regulations from any faculty secretary, the office of the Dean of Students or the registrar's office.

Bear's family thanks CVC for our concern

Dear Friends at CVC, Please accept our sincere appreciation for the concern and support you have shown for our son, Bear, during his illness. We are grateful for the love and care you have shown him, and for the love and care you have shown us. We will miss you, but we will always remember you.

There is a lot we would like to say about Bear, but it is all being said by the family. Instead, we are sending a photo of Bear and a letter written by my granddaughter.

Thank you,
Becky Osborne,
Christy Osborne,
All of Bear's Family

Dear Friends at CVC, We really appreciate your love for Bear and your support for his family. We know how much Bear loved being with you, and how much he missed you. I would like to thank the people who helped Bear during his illness, and to thank the people who helped him during his last days. We will miss you, but we will always remember you.

Bear was a registered Great Pyrenees, under the name Nadar Rorschach Bear, known to many as Bear. He lived in on Rock Bar Road in Wise. His past times were the following: sleeping, herding cattle, being loved, giving love, and just being an all-around friend. We will all miss him!

Thank you for caring for him,
Abbey Lee Starnes

We will miss you!

Women's Volleyball gets tough; incorporates "iron man" play

Christy Lawson
Staff Writer

When you hear the term "iron man" in sports, you usually think of a small football team with players playing both offense and defense. This year "iron man" refers to our women's volleyball team, which has seen many changes since last year.

Our "iron man" volleyball team which once had eleven players is now down to seven. Lost are a freshman and a transfer student due to ineligibility. Also out is Heather Pregraves, one of the key players on the team. "Heather not being able to play because she was one class short of eligibility was the biggest letdown", says Coach Blakely. Even though Heather maybe ineligible, she still practices with the team and keeps stats. Due to an injury sustained last week Crystal Collins will be out for at least 10 days, and her absence may hurt the team. Even though the team has suffered some losses, it has been helped by the additions of freshman Shilah Bell from Virginia Beach and Bethany Adler who transferred from Avery. Shilah is the most improved player, using her strength to pound out serves in leading the team in acccuracy. Bethany is the most versatile player, she could be put anywhere on the court and do well.

The volleyball team has greatly improved since last year. They have won many games but not entire matches. Coach Angela Blakely feels very strongly about this year's team. "They have enormous talent. They are very different from last year, they work well together and stick by one another. Last year we were plagued by a lot of problems within the team but this year we don't have that-it's like we are a family", said Coach Blakely. Blakely also said, "the one thing our team is missing is a win-the girls need to know what it takes to win and especially how it feels to win. If they can experience that then everything will come together for them."

Even though the women's volleyball team has improved greatly, they still need the support of our fans. With several games left in the season, there is plenty of time to go out and show support for the girls. The next two games are away at Bluesfield on October 5 and at Cumberland on October 7 followed by the home games with King College and Montreat-Anderson the 12th and 14th.

CVC Cross Country team very much improved over last season

Jim Collie
Cross Country coach

The Emory & Henry "Lady Wasps" visited Clinch Valley for an uncontested team victory on the Lady Cavaliers home course Wednesday, September 29. Penny Jones of E. & H. finished first with a time of 23:27. Rylie Bane, Kathleen Langhi, Holly Dannelly, and Cindy Reichel round out Coach Joy Scrogg's squad.

Runners found the CVC course much improved over last season. Clinch Valley Athletic Director Carroll Dale was instrumental in having the course upgraded to improve both the safety and speed of the runners. Visiting runners consistently give the Cavalier's track high marks. Both the 5K and 5 mile runs have been measured for accuracy. CVC's course is the site of the annual Coal Appreciation Days "Run for the Coal" race in September of each year.

CVC desperately needs runners to fill out the team roster before the October 15 NAIA deadline. Please call Coach Collie at 328-5133 if you are interested in participating in cross country. You may also sign up with Coach Bowden or with athletic department secretary Shirley Wolfe in Greear Gym. Practices are Monday through Friday at 4:30 pm at the gym. Other arrangements will be made if a student has a conflicting schedule.

Subscriptions prices begin at $35 for an individual. Other tickets are available for couples, families, senior citizens and students.

On October 12, Pro-Art opens their season with the Roanoke Symphony Orchestra at 7:30 p.m. in the Coeburn Middle School auditorium.

For information call Pro-Art Association at (703) 328-2174.

Betty M. Johnson, Professor and Chair of Nursing, has been appointed to the Review Panel for Nursing and Health Care, the official journal of the National League for Nursing.

Library Gallery news - Jeff Chapman Crane will lecture and present a slide show of his work Oct. 9 at 10 a.m.

Crane, a Juror for the first Juried Art Competition, will dispense awards. The winning selections will be displayed at the Library Gallery during October.

Richard H. Peake, of the CVC English Department is among 115 writers represented in a unique anthology entitled A Gathering at the Forks: Fifteen Years of the Hindman's Settlement School Appalachian Writers Workshop.

Two of Peake's selections from his first volume of poetry Wings Across... were chosen for the anthology.

Peake, as have hundreds of writers in the past 15 years, spent a week in Hindman, Kentucky, at the Settlement School Workshop. Writers come from as far away as England and as close as Knott County early in August to the campus on the forks of Troublesome Creek. The Hindman Writers threatening, non-competitive atmosphere and this makes for one of the best workshops in the world.

The anthology will be available at the Wise Fall Fling on October 9.

Chi Delta Rho sorority would like to remind anyone who bought someone at the auction Sept. 15, and has not paid, to get in touch with Alison Duggins, treasurer, IMMEDIATELY, at CVC box 6134. The sorority thanks all who attended the Tea Sept. 22, and looks forward to the pledge period. The sorority would also like to wish Leslie Mullins a happy, belated 21st birthday. The sisters would also like to welcome the Pledge class for fall 1993:

Ashley Harmonds, Christine Hoosier, Kyla Roberts, Christy Thompson, and Julia Tinker.

Goldwater Scholarship Applications sought - Clinch Valley College is eligible to nominate up to four current junior or senior students for Barry M. Goldwater Scholarships. The scholarships are awarded annually to approximately 250 students planning careers in mathematics, science, and certain fields of engineering.

The value of the scholarship is based on the cost of attending the recipients' college, but will not exceed $7,000 per year. The scholarships are not need based.

Any Clinch Valley College student wishing to be considered for nomination should contact Van W. Daniel, III in the Science Building Room 208 before November 1, 1993.

Observatory opens - Weekly viewing sessions, opens to the public, are held at Clinch Valley College Observatory when the weather is clear.

Students, faculty, staff and the public are welcome to join professor Bob VanGundy at 9 p.m. Wednesdays. The observatory is closed when college is not in session.

The observatory is located on top of the Science Building. Signs in the lobby will direct visitors to the second floor where directions to the roof are posted.

Individuals need no reservation, however groups are asked to call VanGundy at (703) 328-0201, a few days in advance.

The brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa would like to thank the Skeen family for their hospitality and use of their property.

The Residence Hall Judicial Board is looking for freshman and sophomore justices. Members must: 1) Be a campus resident; 2) Possess a 2.0 GPA; and, 3) Support a sincere commitment to campus life. If anyone is interested, please contact Mary Eubanks, director of Student Services in the lower level of Cantrell Hall, or call 328-0216. Applications for justices must be returned to the Services Center by Friday.

Joseph M. Scolnick, Jr., professor of political science at CVC, recently edited a textbook with James E. Winkates and J. Richard Walsh entitled U.S. Foreign Policy in Transition.

The work covers foreign policy during the Bush Administration when the Cold War ended and a new, confusing era of international politics began.

The book, which was published by Nelson-Hall, Inc., currently is in use for a senior-level course at CVC on current issues in American foreign policy.
