Press Release

A weekend of fun awaits you and your family at the 15th Annual Wise County Fall Fling held in downtown Wise, October 9 & 10.

Festivities begin on Thursday evening, October 7, at 7:30 p.m. with the play, "The Second Hanging of Red Fox." October is the 100th anniversary of the hanging of Red Fox. The play will be held on the Wise County Courthouse Lawn (the place of the original hanging). Tickets are $8 in advance with only 400 available. Tickets may be purchased at Lawson Water Conditioning in Wise, 328-6591.

Saturday, October 9, beginning at 9 a.m. artists, craftsman, and vendors from all over will be displaying their talents. This year a wide variety of original items will be available including custom handmade dollhouses, crocketed items, handmade baskets, ceramics, wood items, quilts, dolls, jewelry, handmade floral designs, Christmas ornaments, wreaths, Christmas sleighs, covered baskets, and much more.

A wide variety of entertainers will take main stage beginning at 9 a.m. with the singing of the National Anthem. The impressive line-up includes the Smith Family, Storyteller Kathy Coileman, Angel Mathews, Gary Staders, Rainbow Gymnasts, Wise School of Dance, Virginia Highlands Pipes and Drums, Mariachi, "Los Viajero", Lee Sexton, and the Bricky Brothers.

At 4:30 p.m. the Silverado Dancers will instruct beginners on line dancing. Paradise of Dance, Virginia Highlands Pipes and Drums, Mariachi, "Los Viajero", Lee Sexton, and the Bricky Brothers. The sex game has new rules at Antioch U.

Karen Neudat
College Press Service

At Antioch University you better believe it if someone says they don't want to kiss you. Or hug you. Or go to bed with you. It could mean your college career.

The small liberal arts school, in Yellow Springs, Ohio, has a sexual offense policy that requires students to give and receive verbal consent for every act of affection, from touching to kissing to sexual intercourse.

In addition, if an Antioch student - male or female - fails to disclose having a sexually-transmitted disease and has intercourse with another student, it could mean a suspension of three months or more.

"Some say we are too stringent," said Marian Jensen, dean of students at the college. "But all we are asking for is that students use respect and common sense. We are trying to teach college students to talk reasonably and sensibly about intimacy. Those of us who know college students know that people get assaulted, get taken advantage of, or wake up in the morning feeling very uncomfortable about what happened the night before.

The policy spells out what the school considers appropriate sexual behavior. "Asking 'Do you want to have sex with me?' is not enough. The request must be specific to each act."

Students eventually accept the policy, said Jensen, although male students sometimes balk at it. The Antioch campus is small and a person who is taking liberties with others can disrupt it.

All are required to attend a workshop about sexual offense, consent and behavior every year. In addition, a one-credit self defense workshop is offered each quarter, and the school offers support groups for survivors of sexual offenses.

Jensen said she has invited male students into her office when she hears of questionable sexual behavior. "I'll say to a young man, 'You're not in trouble yet, but you could be if you keep putting your hand where they don't belong,'" she said. "I tell them that maybe they think it's cool to feel some girl up, but maybe she was afraid to tell you she didn't like it."

Jensen hopes her chats will educate young men who do not realize that their behavior is inappropriate.

Antioch has had one sexual offense hearing since the policy was put in place three years ago, but Jensen is concerned that the low number may mean that there is still reticence about reporting sexual improprieties.

If a rape is reported on the Antioch campus, the alleged perpetrator is removed from the campus immediately. Jensen cited a case at the University of California at Santa Cruz where a rape was reported, and the victim had to face the perpetrator every day for months before a hearing was held.

"It is a fair procedure, though we know it is clearly stacked in favor of the victim. But we are trying to even the power balance."
Students rights, needs outlined

There are several student needs that must be taken into account in order to graduate and transfer properly. Students also need to know their rights as the presence of information is considered the right concerning educational record. The registrar's office has outlined these things:

1) Full-time students expecting to complete degree requirements during the 1993-1994 academic year must complete the degree requirements during the 1993-1994 academic year or must appeal the registrar's decision to the faculty. If no appeal is made to the faculty, the student will be dropped.

2) Third-year students - when a degree, major, and is a junior, he or she must declare a major.

3) CVC has adopted a policy that explains the procedures for compliance with the provisions of the Act. Copies of the policy are available in the registrar's office.

4) Especially important is the FERPA: 1974 Education Amendments. This is to inform students that CVC will not release any information to unauthorized persons.

5) Educational Rights Notice - this is to inform students of their rights concerning educational records. Due to the 1974; Act, and specifically authorized by the Act.

6) Student may declare or change her or his major in the registrar's office.

7) Necessary request from: forms are available in the registrar's office. Credit to CVC must complete the Spring Registration Dates.

8) Clinch Valley Commerce who graduate from another college and wish to transfer credit to CVC must complete the Spring Registration Dates.

9) Third-year students - when a degree, major, and is a junior, he or she must declare a major.

10) Educational Rights Notice - this is to inform students of their rights concerning educational records. Due to the 1974; Act, and specifically authorized by the Act.

11) Student may declare or change her or his major in the registrar's office.

12) Necessary request from forms are available in the registrar's office.

Spring Registration Dates
Pre-registration for Spring semester of 1994 begins on November 12, 1993. The priority processing system sets aside the following dates:

Fall, Nov. 12
Mon., Nov. 15
Wed., Nov. 17
Fri., Nov. 19
Mon., Nov. 22

The Registrar's Office will be open from 8:15 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. and from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. beginning Monday, November 14, 1993. Those students who plan to register for both Fall 1 and Fall 2 semesters before December 10 may sign-up during Monday, January 17, 1994.

Women's Volleyball gets tough; incorporates "iron man" play

CVC Cross Country team very much improved over last season

The mainland volleyball team has improved greatly, they still need the support of our fans. With several games left in the season, there is plenty of time to go out and show support for the girls. The next two games are away at Bluefield on October 23 and at Cumberland on October 27 followed by home games on October 30 and November 5 against King College and Galaxy.

Applications for justices must be returned to the Services Center by Friday.

Goldwater Scholarship Applications are due. Clinch Valley College is eligible to nominate up to four current junior or senior students for Barry M. Goldwater Scholarships. The scholarships are awarded annually to approximately 250 students planning careers in mathematics, science, and certain fields of engineering.

The value of the scholarship is based on the cost of attending the recipients’ college, but will not exceed $7,000 per year. The scholarships are not need-based. Any Clinch Valley College student wishing to be considered for nomination should contact Van W. Daniel, III in the Science Building Room 208 before November 1, 1993.

Observatory opens Weekly viewing sessions, open to the public, are held at the observatory when the weather is clear.

Students, faculty, staff, and the public are welcome to tour professor Bob VanGundy at 9 p.m. Wednesdays. The observatory is closed when college is not in session.

The observatory is located on top of the Science Building. Signs in the lobby will direct visitors to the second floor where directions to the roof are posted.

Joseph M. Scoulieck, Jr., professor of political science at CVC, recently edited a textbook with James E. Winkates and J. Richard Walsh entitled U.S. Foreign Policy in Transition.

The work covers foreign policy during the Bush Administration when the Cold War ended and a new, confusing era of international politics began.

The book, which was published by Nelson-Hall, Inc., currently is in use for a senior-level course at CVC on current issues in American foreign policy.
